THE VERY LATEST.

Arrival of Prisoners from Chattanooga at Louisville.

BRAGG'S MAIN FORCE BEYOND DALTON.

&c., &c., &c.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 1, 1863.

Bragg's main force is reported beyond Dalton.

Rebel guerillas were coming into the Union lines.

Henry Andrews, of the One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Ohio, has been sentenced to be shot on January 8, for desertion.

Fifteen hundred Chattanooga prisoners arrived at Louisville last night.

Guerillas are very troublesome on the Cumberland river. Boats are fired into, houses and citizens robbed, and property carried off or destroyed.

CHATTANOOGA, Dec. 1, 1863.

Generals Hooker and Palmer evacuated Ringgold this morning, after burning the mills, depots, public buildings and railroad bridges.

The cavalry reconnoissance, twenty-three miles southward discovered no enemy; but they were found in force at Tunnel Hill.

The railroad from Ringold to Chicamauga was destroyed by General Hooker.

Colonel Grass' brigade was left on the old battlefield in Chicamauga, burying our dead, a large number of which were left by the rebels uncovered since September 20.

A despatch from General Burnside, dated November 25, says:—The enemy on the 25th moved up three brigades and attacked his brigade in a strong position on the south of the river, three miles from Knoxville. A hard fight ensued. The enemy was repulsed with a loss of one hundred and fifty killed. The position was strengthened, and though the enemy moved down a large force with the intention of renewing the attack Burnside believed it could be held, he has been able by using the roads left open to keep a supply of provisions, and forage, reinforcements are on the way to him.

Our Washington Despatches.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1, 1863.

It is the opinion here that, on account of the character of the country south of Chattanooga and between that place and Atlanta and Rome, the campaign in that direction is ended for the winter.

REBEL ACCOUNTS.

Telegrams to the Richmond Whig.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 27, 1863.

The city is full of conflicting rumors of the battle of Chicamauga. We have lost many prisoners—estimated at five thousand and upwards.

All our dead and seriously wounded are in the hands of the enemy.

In the attack on Lookout Mountain the enemy's loss was comparatively greater than ours. They drove us back by force of numbers. Skirmishing commenced on Saturday, and there was intense firing on Sunday and Monday. The enemy charged on Lookout Mountain forty thousand strong, at the same time occupying the attention of our right wing at the foot of Mission Ridge. The corps of Gen. Breckinridge met the shock with unflinching courage and determination. In the afternoon the enemy increased in numbers, and by repeated attacks succeeded in making an impression on our lines. At four o'clock in the afternoon the left of the centre gave way, the enemy pouring the valley like a flood. Our troops seeing themselves cut off got confused and retreated in disorder.

After repeated charges, we evacuated Mission Ridge on Wednesday. Our army is now at Chickamauga.

We have six hundred prisoners.

The Washington and Cobb's batteries lost all their guns.

General Waltham was wounded. Our wounded are arriving here and being cared for.

General Bragg's headquarters are now at Ringgold.
