A NEW AND HIGHLY IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.—J. M. CLARK, of Pennsylvania, is the inventor, patentee and owner of a new and very important invention, which he proposes to exhibit in the city of New York, and offers to a good influential business man perhaps the greatest inducement ever offered in this city to realize a fortune by engaging with him in the sale of the Patent Right for the United States. He is stopping at the St. Nicholas Hotel, Broadway, room 101, where he can be consulted, and is prepared to give the best evidence as to its great worth. The great value of the invention will readily be appreciated from the fact that it is a complete merchant flouring mill, occupying a space of only 20 feet long, 4 feet wide and 3 feet high, and within this limited space converts the grain into extra family flour, extra fine, superfine flour, fine flour, middlings, shorts, shipstuff and bran, at one operation, at the astonishing rapidity of two to three barrels of flour per hour; and is adapted to all kinds of power, either large or small, and to all localities; can be placed in any building having a few feet of spare room, thus furnishing every locality, either in the country, city or town, with a complete Merchant Flouring Mill, for a few hundred dollars, which under the old mode of mills would cost as many thousands as this does hundreds. Call and see him.
