The Ex-Confederate Emigration Schemes—Lieutenant Maury Leaves Mexico by "Special Request."

&c. &c. &c.

The steamer Manhattan, Captain Deaken, from Vera Cruz on the 9th inst., arrived at this port yesterday. We are indebted to Mr. Austin, purser of the Manhattan, for the prompt delivery of our files and despatches.

By this arrival we have interesting news from Mexico, which will be found in the letters of our Vera Cruz correspondent below.

Our Vera Cruz Correspondence.

VERA CRUZ, March 9, 1866.

THE SITUATION.

While the world at large is engaged in the attempt to discover the sentiments of Napoleon on the subject of Mexican affairs, to discern, as it were, plainly the face proper of France beneath that wonderfully ambiguous disguise of verbiage which he lately addressed to the Corps Legislatif, the leaders and others of or among the liberal masses, natives of Mexico, deem it appropriate to make the latest acts of the French officials in this country serve as the correct interpretation of that address. This, then, being the adopted course of proceeding, it has been found that, since the reception of the address here, there has not been any very marked or openly manifested indication that the French are preparing to remain in Mexico until driven out by Yankee bayonets; but, in contradistinction to this surface part, we are favored with the details of several semi-secret transactions, tending to show that they do not intend to leave—at least immediately.

ASSASSINATION OF A BELGIAN ENVOY TO THE EMPEROR.

A diligence containing, among other passengers, the commission of three gentlemen sent out by the Belgian government to condole with the Empress Carlotta upon the death of the late King, her father, was attacked near Rio Frio, on the Vera Cruz route, by a party supposed to be guerillas, and one of the Belgian representatives was killed, two of the other passengers being wounded. No attempt was made to plunder the coach, and it is reported that the attacking party consisted of a detachment of the liberal (General Garcia's) cavalry command, who had determined to kill the Belgian officials in retaliation for the cruelties decreed by Maximilian.

IMPORTANT FROM TAMPICO.

In a despatch received here to-day by the steamer Sonora, direct from Tampico, the following occurs:—

TAMPICO, Feb. 29, 1866.

Here we are in trouble, the liberals having entered the town of Altermaria in considerable force, and having sid the place since the 22d inst. Early this morning I the troops that could be spared from this place—say bout two hundred and fifty men—under the command General La Madrid, left for the purpose of retaking termaria, and as it is only twenty miles from here we pect to learn the result at any moment. This is the ly item of interest to communicate at present.

MICHOACAN.

The latest advices received here from Michoacan are effect that Mendez (imperialist) did gain something of victory over Regules. On Mendez returning from this xpedition he was greeted with a public reception at lorelia, where he displayed, among other spolia opima, about two hundred liberal prisoners.

WHEN FRANCE WILL EVACUATE MEXICO

[illegible] the above been the Mexican Times of Feb. 26 says:—

L'Independance Belge has for some time been in the habit of intimating that France is on the eve of recalling her troops from Mexico. The truth is this:—The evacuation of Mexico by French troops will commence the moment that the government of the United States shall have recognized the Emperor Maximilian; but if, as may happen, such recognition does not take place, France may diminish the number of her forces, but cannot withdraw her flag. I will add, that, in spite of the assertions of L'Independance Belge, we are not satisfied here with the tone adopted by Mr. Seward in his speech at Auburn. The United States are spoiled children, whose pranks old Europe often smiles at; but the statesmen of America should avoid abusing the patience of France and of Eng and to a point beyond their power of endurance.

MEXICAN COTTON.

Large quantities of cotton, principally from Tlacotalpam and Alvarado, arrived at Vera Cruz during the latter part of last month. The arrivals in two days amounted to over four hundred bales. The cotton is pronounced as a superior article, and readily commands thirty-two dollars per cent.

PERSONAL.

By the steamer Manhattan, which leaves here to-day for New York, M. Salliard, the late envoy from Napoleon to Maximilian, takes his departure from Mexico en route for France. It is understood that he is the bearer of important despatches from Maximilian to the French government.

Lieutenant Maury has left here for Southampton, England. He reported that he visits England for the purpose of bringing back his family next fall; but it is rumored in official circles that the government of the United States made it known to the imperialists that Maury's residence in Mexico was not desirable.

H. W. Allen, the editor of the Mexican Times, has taken an interest in Reynolds & Co.'s circus. We have heard before of editors indulging figuratively in "ground and lofty tumbling," but this is a novel instance of a journalist entering the actual sawdust-strewn ring as a general utility performer.

The American wounded during the recent fight at Tehuantepec, while protecting the property of a friend near the scene of action, proves to be a gentleman named Webster, brother of the consul of that name appointed under the Buchanan administration. He received a severe but not dangerous wound in the side, from which he is now slowly recovering.

Before concluding it is desirable to say that, in compliance with the desire of the French Minister and the Secretary for the Home Department, a post mortem examination was had on the corpse of M. Langlais. It was found that he had died of a sudden attack on the brain. The body has been embalmed and will be sent home. M. Aimé Langlais, his son, and M. Jupeaux, Chief Quartermaster, accompanied the remains from the cathedral to the Lodge of the Niño Perdido. Suitable preparations are being made to receive his remains here.

Our Havana Correspondence.

HAVANA, March 14, 1866.

The Spanish steamer Paris, arrived at this port on the 12th, brings dates from the capital to the 1st and from Vera Cruz to the 6th inst.

The Prussian Minister, Baron Magnus, had a private audience of Maximilian and presented his credentials.

The French Vice Admiral Didelot, after a stay of five weeks, left the capital on the 28th of February for Vera Cruz.

Senor Ignacio Ramirez, former Minister of Juarez, had been seen at the last evening party of the imperial Commissary.

The Sociedad of the 25th of February positively contradicts the robbery of a conducta, with eight thousand dollars of the Imperial Railroad Company. The money arrived safely two days before the fall of Tlascala, and the wages of the railway laborers had been paid with it.

The French bark Uruguay and the Austrian brig Matilde were wrecked at the entrance of Laguna del Carmen.

The correspondent of the Era writes that a Mexican advance of Rivas' brigade had been captured by the Jutristas in the outskirts of Astillero, and that this surprise was owing to information given by parties in this city in communication with the enemy.

The Esperanza states that on the 9th of February Teocaltiche was taken possession of by a force of one thousand liberals, under Sanchez, Raman, Silvestre, Aranda and Torres, sacked and burned; but this requires confirmation.

The imperial organ of Puebla, in speaking of the affair at the mountain ridge of Zacapoaxtla, observes that that difficult campaign had at last terminated. On the 19th of February the men under Lucas commenced delivering up their arms at Molino, and those fertile regions were in the full enjoyment of peace, which hitherto appeared to have fled forever.

Advices received by the Era from Mazatlan, under date of the 6th of February, say:—Our situation has scarcely varied, and if in any way it has improved it is that we are now permitted to forward merchandise to the sea ports occupied by the liberals; and it is high time, as trade was on the brink of ruin. Even to-day a large party of the enemy attacked this town. There was a liberal exchange of smallest shot, and, on our part, some cannon shot. The fire was at times well supported. But the enemy little expected to be attacked in force, as they went next morning off land of doubt finishing us further. Novrito standing the rapidity of their fire some of our grenades, by direction of Lieutenant Martel, supported by a detachment of African sharpshooters under Captain Adam, played havoc among them. Their loss is not yet known; but it must have been ten or twelve killed and fifteen wounded. Within five weeks this is the third time the liberals have come to our very doors.

HAVANA, March 15, 1866.

The American steamer Manhattan, Deaken, master, arrived at this port yesterday, with dates from the city of Mexico to the 4th and from Vera Cruz to the 9th instant.

MEXICO.

The Era Nouvelle says that the merchants of Vera Cruz have no objection to the new customs order, providing the goods they have on the way are exempt from paying the duties at that port, as well as the merchandise previously received and stored.

General Mendez has been decorated by Napoleon with the Order of Knight of the Legion of Honor.

According to the Era, the intentions of the government to effect further and important changes in high quarters are again spoken of and likely to be consummated. On the night of the 4th, it was positively asserted that a memorandum was to appear to that effect in the official organ. These rumors seem to have more foundation than those spread before.

In Tamaulipas people spoke of the arrival of Carbajal, the annexionist, to put himself at the head of the Mendez guerillas, in the absence of Garza, and some said that he landed with some men on the coast and was threatening Tampico.

La Sombra of the 2d inst. says that Senor Payno had left Mexico for the United States, and that a great many conjectures had been formed as to the object of his voyage.

The people of San Martin, gathered together by the subprefect of Huejutla—Huarteca—had given in their adhesion to the empire.

Jamiltepec was taken possession of by the imperialists, under Acebal, on the 21st of February. The liberals had abandoned the place previously, and were on the south side about thirty miles distant.

PUEBLA.

From Puebla on the 28th of February there is the following:—Yesterday a large convoy of the Imperial Railroad passed this city with about twenty cars with rails, parts of wagons and machinery. It is presumed that the road between Mexico and Puebla will soon be open to the public.

COAHUILA.

Communications between San Luis and Monterey must have been intercepted, no letters or papers having arrived from Monterey and Saltillo.

General Douai remained with part of his force at Matehuala.

It is known from good sources that the imperialist Espinosa and the population of Apaczingan had to fly on the approach of the guerilla Soto. On entering the town he burned the inn abandoned by Espinosa and committed many depredations; but the latter, finding that Soto's force only amounted to one hundred men, attacked and routed them. Soto, being taken prisoner, was immediately shot.

GUANAJUATO.

The despatch dated the 20th February, received from Gen. Mendez at Urupan, announced that his brigade had fought all the bands of the Southern District, united by Rivas Placido, Regules, Valdes and others; that it was a hard-won victory; that his losses had been severe, both in officers and men, but those of the enemy were greater; that the enemy commenced the battle, relying on the superiority of their numbers, &c.; that the field being literally strewn with the dead of both sides, corroborated the valor of his troops and the desperation of the enemy, who still remained with a large force of cavalry, of which two hundred men marched towards Reyes. The liberals between Ario and Tacambaro were still supposed to have a force of two thousand men.

MICHOACAN.

Letters from Morelia state that General Mendez arrived there on the 25th of February with his prisoners, amounting to two hundred and two men and eight officers, besides the arms taken from the enemy. He was received with enthusiastic demonstrations from the people, and took up his quarters at the Hotel Yturbide. On his way hither he left a small garrison at Patzcuaro. The battle is described as a most sanguinary one, his own loss being not less than four hundred men killed and wounded, while the enemy had four hundred killed, including forty officers.

The Pajaro Verde says that this important victory and the certainty of Mendez's brigade following up the campaign in Michoacan as soon as reinforced, before the rainy weather sets in, has given renewed hopes to the explorers of those rich gold regions.

Ronda and Regules were quartered in Ario with about eight hundred men.

NEWS FROM CUBA.

The Cargo of Captured Negroes—The Slave Depot at Cape San Antonio—Horrible Condition of the Negroes—Reported Resignation of Captain General Dulce, &c., &c.

HAVANA, March 15, 1866.

I announced in my last letter the arrival here of the steamer Neptune, with the schooner Matilde, with three hundred and seventy-five negroes captured from a slave expedition, and that it was reported that one thousand five hundred and seventy-two in all had been captured. The facts are as follows:—His Excellency Don Francisco Marty, since November last, has received three successive lots of negroes, amounting to one thousand two hundred, who were landed near Cape San Antonio, most of whom were sold. Of those on the Matilde only two hundred and seventy-five are considered by the government legal captures; for one hundred were sold to a wealthy planter here, and were on their way to this port with legal papers and permits, signed by Señor Mendinina, the Lieutenant Governor of the department of Pinar del Rio, the partner of Arguelles. Much indignation is expressed here about these one hundred negroes, who are considered as part and parcel of the illegal cargoes; but, according to the Spanish laws, they have been decided to be slaves, and delivered over to their owner, the said Marty. The son of the Admiral of the Neptune, who saw these negroes at Cape San Antonio, says the living were in a horrible condition, and the dead were lying unburied on the shore. He counted more than eighty of the latter, who were left as food for the crows.

The Colonial Minister at Madrid sent out in October last a royal decree ordaining that all emancipados, or negroes captured from slave expeditions, now hired out by the government to private individuals, should be returned to the government and sent to the island of Fernando Po. This decree was received at a time when hands were needed, and General Dulce was prevailed upon to refrain from immediately putting it in force. Senor Navasquez called the attention of the Spanish government to the fact, in consequence of which a threatening despatch was sent to General Dulce, which caused the issue of the famous decree of March 2. But on the 19th instant a counter decree rendered that of the 2d null and void. The upshot of all this is that General Dulce sends by the steamer to Cadiz to-morrow his formal resignation, and he has declared that whether it is accepted or not he shall leave the island. I have this from the best authority.

Proceedings have been commenced in the Supreme Court against the Military Intendant, Señor Galvez, on account of an affair with a negress belonging to Señor Zuaznabar. Señor Acran, the District Attorney, is implicated in the affair, which creates no little curiosity on the part of the public.

The commission which is to go to Madrid to give information as to proposed reforms here is composed, in part, of the following members:—Don Manuel de Armas and Don Manuel Calvo, a slave dealer of Havana; the Marquis Montero, of Batanzas; Don Moralez Lersuz, of Lagua; Don Nicolas Ascarate, of Guinez. The other commissioners have not yet been chosen.

There have lately been an unusual number of fires throughout the island. The Diario de la Marina, the organ of slavery, charges them to the negroes.

Strenuous exertions are being made to revive the slave trade here, which has been declining for some years past, while on the other hand there is a strong movement in favor of the total abolition of slavery in Cuba and Porto Rico.

The steamer Morning Star arrived yesterday from New Orleans, and leaves to-morrow for New York. The Cuba sailed yesterday for New Orleans.

A train on the Havana and Matanzas Railroad was thrown off the track on the 11th, and two persons were killed and eight wounded.

On the next day another accident occurred on the same road, near San Felipe, by which five persons lost their lives and fifteen were wounded.

On the 10th the warehouses of Messrs. Acevedo, Carrera & Co. and Peña, Rodriguez & Co., at Cardenas, were destroyed by fire, supposed to be incendiary.

By an arrival from Santiago de Cuba we learn of the arrival of the French steamer Caraibe, from St. Thomas; also that an American man-of-war, flying the pennant of an admiral, was there—probably the Rhode Island, with Commodore Palmer on board.

At Cape Haytien were the Haytien war steamer Galatea, the British steamers Aurora and Lily, and the United States gunboat De Soto.

At this port sixty insurgents were under trial, and it was supposed that twenty of them would be convicted.

The French bark Verena Collet arrived here on the 11th, with two hundred and twenty-five coolies from Macao. Several other cargoes are to follow.

The British corvette Carmen arrived here on the 12th.

It is reported that the slave dealers formed a plot to burn down the office of the Siglo newspaper last Monday night. Precautions were taken by Governor Dulce, by which the building was probably saved from destruction.

News from the Pacific Coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19, 1866.

The steamer Golden Age sailed to-day, taking $573,303 in treasure, of which $710,753 goes for New York.

The steamer Moses Taylor, from Nicaragua, with passengers from New York, 20th of February, has arrived.

The funeral of Hon. S. H. Parker was yesterday attended by several thousand citizens.

A despatch from Portland to-day says George Badue, a noted gambler, was shot dead yesterday morning, it is supposed by Michael Gallagher, who is now under arrest.

The Oregon Herald, a new democratic daily, has just appeared.

A vigilance committee is organizing in Montana. It numbers one thousand six hundred members and is increasing. A perfect police system is maintained.

Mining stocks are a little stronger. Ophir $640, Belcher $295, Alpha $310, Yellow Jacket $755, Empire $700, Chollar Potosi $385, Savage $1,020, Hale & Norcross $955.

The Steamer U. S. Grant Sunk.

OMAHA, March 19, 1866.

The steamer U. S. Grant, from St. Louis for the Upper Missouri, sunk in an ice gorge at the mouth of the Platte yesterday. Loss estimated at $150,000. The passengers and crew were all saved.

THE RENT AGITATION.—The committee appointed at a recent mass meeting of tenants and the delegates of the district organizations recently organized for the purpose of agitating the "rent question," held a meeting last night at No. 42 avenue A to discuss further measures in reference to this matter. Ex-Senator Cozans, who appears to take much interest in the movement, was present to give an account of a conference with members of the Legislature on the subject, and gave a sketch of a bill introduced in the Legislature to regulate the relations between tenant and landlord. This bill provides, among others, that all agreements must be made in writing, and that in all cases, where it is not agreed otherwise, the renting shall be binding for one year. It further prohibits summary proceedings by landlords against tenants. By some of the speakers it was held that a more stringent law against extortion by landlords would be required. A petition which was recently adopted, it was announced, has been forwarded to the Legislature, and arrangements were made to call another mass meeting of tenants, to be held at an early day on a public square.

Perfumery.—The "Night Blooming Cereus," distilled by PHALON & SON, from the rare flower of that name, is the most elegant perfume that can be placed upon the toilet table. Nature and art have rivalled each other in its production, and its fragrance is more potent in asserting the gentility of those who use it than are rich brocades and unmistakable kids.

An Article of True Merit.—"Brown's BRONCHIAL TROCHES" are the most popular article in this country or Europe for throat diseases and coughs, and this popularity is based upon real merit, which cannot be said of many other preparations in the market, which are really but weak imitations of the genuine Troches.

A Boon.—Ward's Ladies' Paper Collars and Cuffs. Also Gents', wholesale and retail. A wholesale price list, with drawings of different styles, sent free to the trade. S. W. H. WARD, 397 Broadway, N. Y.
