Miss Anna Stauss, principal of the Harrisburg schools, was a Sunday afternoon guest at the F. C. Wiggin home.

Mrs. Judge Kennedy is home from a somewhat extended stay in Sioux City. Miss Emma Dahl accompanied her home.

B. B. O'dell of pantorium fame and a basket ball official of some repute, spent a few hours in Canton Saturday visiting.

W. J. Byrnes and family autoed down to Fairview Sunday and enjoyed a visit with the Smiths. They are so near and yet so far.

Let Geo. G. Johnson write your Fire, Tornado and Hail Insurance, and make your farm loan.

Mrs. Fannie Griswold came down from Harrisburg Sunday afternoon to bring a bunch of white carnations and have a little visit with "the best mother in all the world." She came down in the Kehm automobile, and Mr. Kehm was also on the same errand bent.

Wm. Tank and family are moving into the house recently vacated by Herbert Fitch and family. Mr. Dean has greatly improved the property inside and out and Mr. Tank is fortunate in securing so desirable a residence and Mr. Dean equally fortunate in his tenant.

The Baptist society of the district of which Canton is part, is holding a very successful and interesting convention at the Baptist church in this city. Much interest is being manifested in the work and a goodly number of delegates from the district are in attendance.

Lake Madison proved quite a drawing card for fishermen of Canton last Saturday. A. Wallace, O. L. Campbell, H. Wallace, Chas. Engle and H. Mickelson made the trip by auto and came home Sunday with a goodly amount of the hunky tribe.

Mrs. Gifford was in Sioux Falls Friday on business, connected with the Library. Two hundred new books were put on the shelves Saturday for circulation and many availed themselves of the opportunity to get a reading of some of the latest fiction as well as of more heavy literature.

The wind and hail storm Sunday night raised a little old Cain by itself. Trees were blown down, windows blown in, silos blown over and barns and out buildings scattered over the country, while nervous people prayed in every home they ever knew or heard of. But it might have been worse, and anyway Mexico still insists on being wiped off the map.

Mother's day was generally and generously observed in Canton. All churches held services specially appropriate to the occasion and carnations, the Mother's flower, emblem of sweetness, purity and grace were everywhere in evidence. It was such a little thing to do, but it was a flower one day for the memory of mother. God help and pity those who will never know a mother's love, and those too who will never more be called by the sweet name of mother.

N. Kleven of Northfield, Minnesota, teacher of religion at St. Olaf's College of that city, was unanimously chosen as pastor of the Lutheran church of this city. Mr. Kleven spoke Sunday morning at the church and made an excellent impression. His sermon will long be remembered. He also delivered the baccalaureate sermon at the Lutheran church Sunday night to the high school senior class and gave that class a well chosen and directing talk on their next step in life. Canton will gladly welcome Mr. Kleven with open arms if he will answer the call.

The storm Sunday night or early Monday morning was more severe than usually comes our way. It was just after two o'clock when it struck Canton; wind, rain, hail, thunder and lightning, all combined to make its presence most manifest. Those who were awaked with "bated breath" for it passing, but few if any realized its severity until the morning came and then all were thankful it was no worse. There were many trees broken and some uprooted, gardens washed out and a few cellars flooded but we have heard of nothing more serious within the city limits.

The Yellowstone Journal published at Miles City, Montana, contains a lengthy writeup of the restaurant of W. S. J. Ham. It will be good news to his Canton friends that he is enjoying prosperity to an unusual degree. He has thirty employees with a payroll of $100 per day. In his kitchen is a range 20 feet in length. He said just unpacked six pieces of new delft to add to his already large supply. His cold storage is of the best. He has an automatic dish washer which handles 3500 dishes an hour and handle 1000 people a day without inconvenience.

The Canton High School in order to keep up the farce comedy entitled "Canton High School Athletics 1913-14" journeyed to Rock Valley last Saturday for the purpose of giving an imitation of playing ball. They were quite successful, that is with the exception that the Rock Valley boys were unable to attend Sunday school Sunday because of stiff joints and sore muscles, caused by so much base running. The final score after darkness had settled over the ball lot was 11 to 0 in favor of Rock Valley. The Rock Valley boys were kind enough to apologize for so low a score but they were in poor condition for running and had to walk around the bases.
