THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE.
New Discovery.
Compound Oxygen Treatment.
Dr. BROWN has located a permanent office at No. 15 West Twentieth street, New York, for the purpose of treating Throat, Lung and all diseases caused by an impure condition of the blood, by means of the inhalation of oxygen or a combination of essential gases, which chemists and scientific men have been trying to form for centuries, but without tangible results, till the recent important discovery was made. This remedial agent is entirely different in composition and effects from all other systems of treatment for diseases peculiar to the human family. It would be impossible in this limited space to enter fully into the philosophy and great advantages to be derived by this method of treatment, but suffice it to say that oxygen is the great renovator of the body and all sufficient in a healthy organism, provided it be pure and supply is sufficient. But as disease progresses and the blood becomes loaded with effete matter, inflammation, local or general, is induced, and the whole structure is in danger. To renovate the blood, the source of healthy secretions, is surely the way to repair the mischief; and as pure air is sufficient only for healthy conditions, it is incapable of promptly overcoming diseased conditions. In disease, then, the demand for a greater supply must be met by a larger supply of the life-giving agent.
The blood furnishes the elements of bone, the same blood furnishes the elements of muscle; to nerves, the elements of nerve; to skin, the elements of skin; and yet, while each of these differ somewhat in composition from the others, the constituent elements of blood, by which they are furnished, are the same. Hence the importance of a medical agent that will reach all diseased and impoverished conditions of the blood; for, now will the blood make healthy bone, muscle, nerve and skin, if in an impure and diseased condition? Oxygen is the universal tonic and blood purifier, and is now being used as a remedial agent in restoring the diseased to health. Breathed into the lungs it enters the circulation, and expels all impurities in the blood; stimulating the stomach to healthy action; causing healthy tissue to be formed; breaking up all nervous irregularities, and imparting new life and vigor to the shattered and wasted nervous system.
Dr. BROWN is a regular graduate of medicine, surgery and hygiene. Therefore in making oxygen a specialty, he does not propose to take the place of the regular practitioner, but desires to co-operate with him in alleviating human suffering. Physicians are invited to call and investigate this remedy, and use it as an auxiliary in their practice.
All inquiries by letter will be answered, and all necessary information given by calling upon
