[New York Tribune, Oct. 19.]
The carriage trade has continued moderately active during the past week, and some of the dealers who have marked their stocks at figures more easily within the public at large, and who at the same time have not lowered the standard of their work, have been well patronized since the beginning of the fall trade. This remark will apply in its fullest extent to the very popular house of Demarest & Woodruff, whose business announcement, including a list of their latest prices, will be found in our advertising columns.

A GRAY ETHAN ALLEN HORSE, WITH LONG MANE and tail, 15½ hands, seven years, trots fast, warranted sound, kind and true; is safe for ladies' riding or driving; is afraid of nothing.
