WE HAD THE PLEASURE OF ATTENDING TO DAY the examination of one of our most favored Boarding Schools, B. HEILBRONN'S Educational Institute, corner Tenth avenue and Sixty-first street. The mansion was filled with the numerous friends and patrons of the establishment, among whom we noticed many prominent men, as Rev. Dr. Isaacs, Dr. Bondy, editor of the Hebrew Leader; Dr. Edinger, editor of the Jewish Times, and Dr. Kutzenberg. We have been agreeably surprised by the both healthy and intelligent appearance of the pupils, which gave a proof of the parental care bestowed upon them by their principal, Mr. Heilbronn, and his lady. The examination, comprising all the elementary and classical branches, lasted several hours, and we are pleased to state surpassed our expectations. Several pieces of music have been masterly executed by some of the pupils, giving great credit to their teacher, Miss Davis E. McCall. In short, the course of this interesting exhibition was a real success, and we left this charmingly situated building more than satisfied. Parents anxious for the wellbeing of their children may place them with confidence under the care of the able director of this institute.
