FINANCIAL.

A.—A.—COAL AND IRON PROPERTIES, QUARRIES &c., sold on commission.

Joint stock companies organized in suitable cases, and their capital and trustees procured.

Mortgage loans obtained.

Additional capital procured for merchants and manufacturers.

Parties having capital to invest are invited to call on us at their earliest convenience and examine the class of applications we have on our books.

Business men everywhere are now making their arrangements for the approaching year. Since the 1st of November our offices have been thronged daily with parties desiring to invest capital or obtain it, and the character of the applications we have taken for capital, as such as we have never before received, two of them having been taken up by the first parties we introduced to them. Among our investors are some of the first names in this city, and some of them have secured as they never before employed an agent to procure an investment.

They have said to us that they have watched our advertisements, that they knew some of our references, have called upon them, and decided to engage our services. For these evidences of the approbation and confidence of the capitalists of this city we are truly grateful, and shall aim, by thoroughly investigating every application for capital before accepting it, and by vigorously prosecuting it thereafter until filled, to merit the patronage of the two great classes whose orders we solicit, and whose success, as it is our purpose, as it is our highest interest, to promote.
