TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.—WHEREAS the firm of I. C. Frese & Co., of Hamburg, Germany, have registered their trade mark, used on a certain medical compound known as Hamburg Tea, according to law in the United States Patent Office, and whereas said trade mark, as I am informed, has been and is now largely counterfeited, as is also the style of package used by said I. C. Frese & Co., which said counterfeiting is done for the purpose of defrauding said firm and deceiving the public; and whereas I am the attorney of said I. C. Frese & Co., and am charged with the duty of preventing such infringements of their said trade mark and imitations of their said style of package. Now I invite all persons, firms and corporations who have thus far dealt in any but the genuine Hamburg Tea, prepared by said I. C. Frese & Co., and who have sold what is alleged to be "Hamburg Tea" in packages made in imitation of the genuine, and with fraudulent representations of the said trade mark applied thereto, to desist from all further infringements and apply to me for releases for past infringements, as I shall bring suit against all parties who fail to heed this notice.
