INSURANCE CONVENTION.

THIRD DAY'S PROCEEDINGS—FINAL ADJOURNMENT.

At the opening of the Insurance Convention yesterday Mr. Murray, of the German-American Company of New York, presented a resolution, which was passed, giving the thanks of the Board to the Automatic Signal Telegraph Company and recommending the Executive Committee to earnestly consider the value of the instruments, with a view to some action.

A communication was read by the President from the New York Stock Exchange, in which it was stated that the Governing Committee of that body had decided that an adjournment from July 1 to July 5 should take place, in order that the Centennial might be properly celebrated, and recommending the National Board of Fire Underwriters to do the same thing. A resolution to the effect that as far as practicable this should be done was adopted, and a recommendation to the local boards throughout the country was made of the same tenor.

The following gentlemen were announced by the President as the Advisory Committee of fifteen for the ensuing year:—H. H. Lampert, chairman; L. J. Hendee, S. P. Blagden, S. Crowell, T. J. Chard, G. T. Cram, W. H. Ross, D. W. C. Skilton, W. S. Denny, J. W. Davenport, H. H. Hall, H. A. Howe, R. J. Smith and E. C. Rouse.

A resolution was then passed that the mayors of cities and towns throughout the United States should be addressed by the Board in regard to the use of fireworks on the coming celebration of the Centennial of our national independence, and recommending the issuance of proclamations of warning and the making of extra provisions for the suppression of fires.

A communication from Alfred G. Baker, President of the Franklin Fire Insurance Company of Philadelphia, was read and ordered to be placed on the minutes. An invitation, causing much amusement among the members, was read from a firm of photographers, offering to take the pictures of the members, singly or in groups, and suggesting as the place "Terrace Garden or some other place of proper elevation."

Mr. WALCOTT introduced a resolution which caused considerable discussion, and in which some personal feeling was evoked, declaring that the Secretary of the Board should be ex-officio a member of the Executive Committee. Many members spoke to this resolution, and Mr. E. Alliger, the Secretary of the Board, begged its withdrawal, but gave notice he should move a resolution that after this year such officer should be a member of said committee. Motion withdrawn.

On an important resolution was introduced by Mr. HALL, as follows:—

Resolved, That any company represented in this Board violating its laws in regard to the rates of premium, and which continues to do so in spite of the remonstrances of the Executive Committee, shall receive two weeks' notice of disciplinary action, but no final expulsion shall take place unless by authority of the whole Board. Adopted.

Mr. ARNOLD, of Providence, offered a resolution that the Treasurer of the Board should be ex-officio member of the Executive Committee. Adopted.

Mr. CROWELL said the rate of commission, which by a law of the National Board is fixed at 15 per cent, was not maintained or respected in some of the companies in the large cities. The law is flagrantly violated, and he therefore moved that the matter be specially referred to the Executive Committee, who should report at the next meeting of the Board. Adopted.

Mr. CHARD, of the Fireman's Fund, of San Francisco, complained that investigations of abuses, under rating, &c., in various companies were not promptly investigated by special agents, and moved that any deviations from the proper tariff be promptly looked into by the Advisory Committee of Fifteen, and especially that the bureaus at New York, Cincinnati and Chicago be urged to increased promptitude and vigilance. Adopted.

Mr. DAVIS, of Philadelphia, introduced a resolution that the Executive Committee be instructed to add to the Advisory Committee two members during the year, at their discretion, with the sole proviso that one should be from the West and one from the South.

A resolution of thanks to English companies was then passed by the Board for courtesies extended to President Oakley during his recent visit to Great Britain.

The following resolutions were presented by Mr. D. A. Heald, of the Home, New York:—

Resolved, That the maintenance of uniform rates, wisely adjusted to hazards, should be reaffirmed throughout the country, and the unswerving allegiance of this Board to these rates declared.

Resolved, That while recognizing the services of general and special agents throughout the Union we desire a closer bond between them and the Executive Committee of this body; we again give them our thanks and pledge them our co-operation.

Resolved, That the thanks of this Board are due to local boards and co-operative companies for the noble manner in which they have sustained the efforts of this body to maintain a uniform tariff.

All of which were adopted.

The report of the tellers of the result of the election of officers was here received, and it was found that the entire list published in the HERALD yesterday was elected.

The new President, Mr. George L. Chase, of Hartford, was conducted to the chair by Mr. Hope, and made the following address:—

GENTLEMEN OF THE NATIONAL BOARD—I beg to convey my heartfelt thanks for this conspicuous honor of election as presiding officer. It shall be my constant aim to fill this chair so as to merit your approval. The responsibilities of the position I feel very sensibly, and were it not that I am assured of the hearty co-operation of members I should be overwhelmed. It shall be my pleasure and duty to maintain and perpetuate, so far as in me lies, an organization you have done so much to elevate and dignify. An old proverb says "a chain is no stronger than its weakest link." When a strain comes on the National Board then it behooves every member to think of his own shortcomings and set about a reform.

Mr. S. B. BLAGDEN, the late secretary, here entered the hall and addressed the Board on the subject which had elicited such warm expressions from members earlier in the day, viz.—that of the Secretary's seat as ex-officio member in the Executive Committee. Mr. Blagden explained the misunderstanding among some members in regard to the matter, and in a very handsome manner moved that the subject should be reconsidered and the present Secretary, Mr. E. Alliger, made such member of the committee. Adopted unanimously.

Mr. GEORGE T. HOPE, President of the Continental Fire, addressed the Convention in regard to the great importance of the companies strengthening themselves, so that when the next great fire comes—and it is sure to come—they would be able to sustain themselves with honor. He said that the holders of insurance stocks were unlike any other class of investors; their faith in them was almost a matter of inheritance. We need this National Board to know and note what the changes are in the business throughout the length and breadth of the land; we need the largest aggregation of companies, so as to have the largest aggregation of experience. He paid a glowing tribute to the faithfulness of the special and general agents of the companies, and concluded by offering the following:—

Resolved, That the Advisory Committee of Fifteen call the attention of insurance companies, not members of this Board, throughout the United States to the desire of this Board for all information for the general good, and to invite their active co-operation to that end.

Adopted.

Mr. BOWKER, of Boston, who represented the first Fire Board in that city, wanted to know whether the members of the National Board intended to furnish sufficient means to continue the Boston local office another year. A member stated that this was already provided for.

The retiring President, HENRY A. OAKLEY, of the Howard of New York, made a very felicitous speech in return for a vote of thanks tendered him by the National Association.

After the announcement of the retirement of Mr. Stephen Crowell from the Executive Committee, after a service of three years, the National Board of Fire Underwriters adjourned, after a meeting of unexampled interest and the transaction of business important to every insurance company in the country.

The newly-elected Executive Committee of the National Board of Fire Underwriters met at the close of the annual convention, and organized by electing Mr. George T. Hope, of New York, chairman. The committee then adjourned, without transacting any business, until the second week in May.

ROBBING THE MAILS.

IMPORTANT ARREST OF A DEPUTY POSTMASTER.

The Post Office authorities in Washington and the officials in this city have been for some time past greatly exercised in consequence of reports addressed to them of the non-receipt of letters, some of them containing enclosures of money, and even the loss of registered letters in transition from certain parts of the State to this city. After considerable surveillance of the post offices and the mail carriers on the suspected route it was discovered that the tampering with the mail bags appeared to be at the Post Office of the village of Arkville, in Delaware county. The packages of letters arriving at New York from certain points beyond that office would appear at first intact, but on examining the letters many of them would be found rifled of their contents. Special Agent McDonald, of the Elmira district, was detailed to trace the fraud to its source. He at once covered the route from Delhi, in Delaware county, to various stations off the principal mail lines to Margaretville, some fifteen miles southwest of Arkville, on the stage route from Delhi to Arkville, at which point the stage route terminates and connects with the railroad. Mr. McDonald placed a decoy letter in the mail at Margaretville and took his post at the next station on the railroad line, the Margaretville mail having to go through Arkville, and awaited events. The next mail brought the Margaretville and Arkville letter bag, on examining which it was discovered that the decoy letter had done its mission—it was missing; but the detective was pretty certain where he could find it. He at once started for Arkville and telegraphed his success to the Special Agent of the Post Office here as follows:—

B. R. SHARRETT, Special Agent Post Office Department:—
Have arrested Deputy Postmaster at Arkville. Good case.
J. McDONALD, Special Agent.
MARGARETVILLE, N. Y., April 27, 1876.

The person arrested is the son of the Postmaster at Arkville, to whom was intrusted the management of the business of the office. Mr. McDonald immediately proceeded to Rochester with his prisoner, who was there held for examination.

POST OFFICE SUGGESTION.

Postmaster James suggests to persons who are about to change their residences that they may save themselves considerable annoyance and delay in receiving letters, after their May movings, by furnishing their new addresses to the Post Office.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

The Board of Police met yesterday, General Smith in the chair.

A communication was received from Judge Hilton, asking that two officers be detailed for duty at his residence in place of Officers Disbrow and Geary. Referred to Committee on Rules and Discipline.

Fifteen persons were appointed patrolmen and assigned to precincts. The resignation of Patrolman O'Conner, Twenty-fifth precinct, was accepted.

An application was received from Judson Jarvis, asking permission to exhibit to the Board an improved photograph case for the rogues' gallery. Referred to committee.

The Superintendent was directed to issue an order recommending patrolmen to have their clothing made at either of the following firms:—Devlin & Co., Bennett Brothers, A. Raymond & Co., or Wade & Cummings, for the purpose of securing uniformity in the style of making uniforms. The prices agreed upon for uniforms are $17 50 for a double breasted frock coat, $12 for a single breasted, $3 50 for doeskin pantaloons, $4 50 for flannel blouses and $3 20 for flannel pantaloons. The cloth in all cases must be obtained from the supply room in the Central Office.

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

Mayor Wickham, chosen as a delegate to the St. Louis Convention, dodged the reporters yesterday by giving out that he was attending the funeral of Barney Williams. President Lewis, of the Board of Aldermen, spent the entire day about the Hall, but Colonel Harrison had not notified him of the Mayor's absence, and, consequently, Mr. Lewis did not sign the warrants on the Mayor's desk.

The Ship Owners' Association are disgusted with the Committee of the Board of Aldermen in charge of the protest against the construction of the Brooklyn Bridge, and after waiting three hours yesterday left the City Hall. There were present in the interest of the real estate owners and warehousemen, who propose to stop the work, A. B. Miller, the counsel of the association; Captain Snow, of the Pilot Commission, and eight others. After they had left, Alderman Bryan Reilley, who had returned in the meantime, requested the press to announce that a hearing would take place on Tuesday next at two P. M.

STATEN ISLAND SHAD FISHERY.

The Staten Island fishermen are still making large hauls of shad, Messrs. Simmons and Wardell averaging a catch of 400 daily, the selected shad bringing from $25 to $28 per 100 in Fulton Market. The drift net fishermen are also making good hauls in the Lower Bay and Narrows.

CAST ASHORE.

The body of an unknown man was found by the military authorities lying on the beach at Fort Columbus. It was very much decomposed. The Coroner was notified and the body was removed to the Morgue.

THE DISPUTED CITY LEASES.

The following semi-official statement was issued yesterday evening:—

The motion before the Supreme Court to punish Comptroller Green for contempt in not executing the leases with Mary A. Schanck for five years from May 1, 1875, at $12,000 per annum, for premises No. 27 Chambers street, and with the New York Dispensary for five years from May 1, 1875, at $2,500 per annum, for premises northwest corner Centre and White streets, which was to have been heard yesterday, was adjourned until to-day.

The Comptroller has endeavored to resist the execution of these leases, considering that the rent agreed to be paid in each case under resolutions of the Board of Aldermen directing the leasing of the premises was exorbitant, and that a grievous wrong was being committed upon the treasury through the regular processes of law.

The Court of Appeals have finally determined that the resolutions of the Board of Aldermen must be complied with, and Comptroller Green has, therefore, been obliged to execute the leases in accordance with forms approved by the Counsel to the Corporation.

FERRY LEASE.

The lease of the ferry franchise from Grand street, New York, to Grand street, Brooklyn, which was sold at public auction on the 18th inst. to the People's Ferry Company for ten years, executed by Comptroller Green under direction of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, was tendered to the officers of the said company yesterday, at the Comptroller's office, who refused to accept the same on the ground that a clause is contained therein requiring a surrender of the property upon the demand of the Department of Docks if needed for improvements of the water front.

CORONERS' INQUESTS.

An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner Croker in the case of James Murphy, who shot himself in Twentieth street, near Sixth avenue, two weeks ago. The jury rendered a verdict of suicide by shooting, in accordance with the facts elicited.

On last Tuesday Bernard Schaffer, residing at No. 579 First avenue, shot himself in the head on being informed by Officer Lorenzo de Smalley, of the Fourth District Court, that he had a warrant charging him with having discharged a pistol at his wife a few days before. The man was sent to Bellevue Hospital, where he died soon afterward. Yesterday Coroner Croker held an inquest. The verdict of the jury read as follows:—"We find that Bernard Schaffer came to his death by suicide, by shooting himself at his residence, No. 579 First avenue, on the 25th of April, death following at Bellevue Hospital the same day."
