A.—THE WINDSOR WAGON.
The universal favor with which our Brewster Wagons,
with Windsor springs
and
vertical steel plates
have met among the driving public amply justifies us in our claim for them as the only perfect driving Wagon for all purposes.
The vertical steel plates give absolute stiffness to the running part, the wheels running plumb and following the horse in a direct line, without the serious defect of lateral motion which greatly increases the friction to be overcome by the horse, thereby detracting from his speed.
The arrangement of the Windsor springs combines great ease and steadiness of motion, without the lengthened up and down movement of the full elliptic spring, and enables us to hang wagons as low as the ordinary side bar, yet entirely free from the disagreeable vibratory action so common to that style of wagon.
