MILLION DOLLAR STOCK PARADE TO CLAIM INTERSTATE FAIR EYES

Blooded Beauties of Territory to Parade Friday, September 24.

Reports now in the hands of Secretary Morton indicate that the Interstate Live Stock Fair at Sioux City will have difficulty in providing stall room and pens for the blooded horses, cattle and hogs that will compete for prize money during the period of the fair, September 20 to 25, inclusive.

Because this particular fair is staged in the heart of the greatest agricultural region in the United States, if not in the world, competition for prize awards have always been keener here than at the state fairs even and the cream of the herds and droves reached the competition barns yearly. This year the competition will take an even keener trend because of the increased awards in all departments.

On Friday of fair week the winners in all the horse and cattle classes will make the annual parade. The value of the animals has been estimated at over $1,000,000 in former parades. Many blooded animals that have not been seen at earlier fairs and expositions will be in the parade, because of the proximity of the breeding farms and the fact that owners will be running no danger of hoof and mouth disease.

The fair will continue its offer of $1,000 in prizes for winners in the fat cattle division, an offer that holds on carload shipments. Winning cattle will be sold after the prize awards and will claim the usual high prices for the year.

The fair will also maintain its sheep sales. Competition in that stock department will be keen this year and much space has already been claimed by the herders. It is estimated that over half the hogs shown on the grounds last year were sold. The sales feature of the Sioux City fair is one big reason why the farmers have continued to show and to patronize the fair as a great clearing institution for well bred horses, cattle and hogs.

THAT grain of yours—how are you going to get it to market? Use an ordinary wagon and scatter it all along the way?

Better plug up those profit-leaks. Come into our store and see

The Bain Flax-Tight Wagon

The bottom is grooved—and carefully fitted. The Bain is positively grain-tight. Smallest grains cannot work their way out.

This year—and every year—save money by using The Bain. It is, beyond all question, the best-built, longest-wearing wagon you can buy.

The Bain Wagon is fully warranted. Call and see it the next time you're in town.

Army Worms at Work in Lincoln County.

Farmers in the northern section of Lincoln county and southern portion of Lincoln county are the first to report the appearance of the army worm, a crop pest which for many years had not appeared in South Dakota. The worms first attacked oat fields, to some of which they did extensive damage. The worms cut the oats off and the kernels drop to the ground.

On the Swanson farm near Alcester the owner burned a 20 acre oat field in which the worms were working, believing that by doing this he could destroy them. But many of them must have escaped, for they have since attacked corn on the Swanson place. On the farm of Frank Cable near Hudson the worms started leaving an oat field to go into the corn and Cable promptly started to plow around the oat stubble.

When the plow made the second round the first furrow was filled on their way to an adjacent corn field. After plowing a wide strip around the oat field Cable burned the oat stubble and in this way, believes he has annihilated practically all of the worms and anticipates no more trouble with them on his farm.

On the farm of W. J. Bulow near Beresford the army worms attacked a 12 acre field of rye and badly damaged it. Army worms resemble cut worms and travel in armies and when a field is attacked it usually is the case that it is destroyed and the worms move on to the next field.

In the south the farmers who are each season bothered by army worms protect their crops by plowing a deep furrow around the field with the straight side toward the field to be protected. It is claimed the worms will crawl into the furrow, but will not crawl up the straight side to get out and are destroyed by the millions by dragging a log along the furrow.

Pioneer farmers of Union and Lincoln counties report that this is the first time the army worm has appeared in southeastern South Dakota during a period of thirty years.—Sioux City Tribune.

Takes Out the Ashes

Uremia is due to the circulation in the system of poison and waste products that should be removed from the blood by the kidneys. If the ashes are not removed the fire dies and the machinery stops. So with the waste products of the system, Foley Kidney Pills help the kidneys remove waste matter that causes rheumatism, aches and pains, stiff joints and sore muscles.
