VALUATION OF IMPORTS.

When the commission, of which General Appraiser Meredith is chairman, closed its session on Tuesday, at the Appraiser's stores, it was given out that no meeting would be held again until to-day. At the same time notices were being circulated among the sugar men inviting them to appear at the Custom House at twelve o'clock A. M. yesterday. At that hour the commission met, in secret, as usual, and the programme arranged for the day was strictly carried out—namely, to inquire into the importation of sugars. The witnesses summoned were Messrs. Lawson N. Fuller, of the firm of Aldama & Fuller; William A. Booth, of Booth & Edgar; Robert Hewitt, Jr., of J. M. Ceballos & Co.; Mr. Solon Humphreys, of E. D. Morgan & Co., and Paul Brooks, of Brooks & Co. These gentlemen merely went over the facts elicited at the conference of the sugar interest with Secretary Sherman a few weeks ago while he was in this city, the particulars of which were fully published at the time. The same arguments were made which the importers and refiners used on that occasion. The polariscope was denounced as unreliable, and the witnesses advocated a uniform system of tare on actual tare rather than the invoice tare. The present "Dutch standard" test on inferior sugars up to No. 16 was recommended to be retained, and on all sugars above that grade it was suggested that double the amount of duty should be imposed. The latter practice was advised for the benefit and protection of refiners so as to keep fine sugars from coming in at so low a price as to interfere with the profits of the refiners.

The polariscope was exhibited by one of the witnesses, which was filled with a solution of sugar, by which it was claimed there was a variation of from one to seven degrees. This same gentleman positively averred that even in the finest balanced polariscope there existed no reliability of test. It is understood also that some of the refiners testified that great irregularities existed in exportation, and that the system of sampling refined sugars for export should be changed and made more stringent in order to prevent the possibility of substituting other matters for sugars to be exported from this country.

Mr. Phio S. Shelton, the Boston member of the commission, conducted the examination of the sugar men, being an expert in that line of business. The commission meets again to-day.

ANOTHER VOLCANIC IRRUPTION.

The "unpleasantness" between the sexton of St. Paul's Church and Mrs. Tom-Ri-Jon was renewed yesterday in the Tombs Police Court, before Judge Morgan. The deputy sexton, by name Christian Beck, said he told the lady in trousers that she must retire from the block. She declined so to do and continued selling her Volcanos and perambulating. Thereupon the deputy sexton called on Officer Corcoran and he arrested her. Judge Morgan spoke quite sharply to her after she had made her statement, which was to the effect that she was attending to her business in an orderly and respectable manner. He said that while she had a right to walk from the Battery to Harlem if she desired she had no right to parade in front of St. Paul's Church or any other building when the proprietors or occupants thereof were annoyed by the same. He cautioned her that should she again be arrested on a similar charge he would impose a fine. Mrs. Tom-Ri-Jon essayed to speak, but the Magistrate cut her short by saying that he did not propose to argue the matter with her. She was thereupon released. A peculiar feature of the case is that Judge Morgan took a somewhat opposite ground from Judge Wandell, who on the occasion of her last arrest said that she had committed no wrong and he discharged her.
