WALL STREET, MONDAY, June 10—6 P. M.

The return of Mr. Vanderbilt clearly expressed his value as a stimulator, particularly of the properties with which his name is identified, for of the whole list this morning these stocks were the strongest. The idea seemed to be to regard Mr. Vanderbilt in the light of a policy of insurance covering a marine risk which was satisfactorily cancelled the moment he placed his foot on dry ground. So, out of the assurance of his safe arrival, there was evolved a plausible reason for advancing his stocks, and the same was executed to the improvement of Western Union, Lake Shore, Michigan Central and Central and Hudson. This took place in the early part of the day; later on things began to look squally in the granger quarter, and Mr. Vanderbilt's specialties were forced to shorten sail with the rest of the list. Taking advantage of the strong market the chief holders of the Wisconsin shares, particularly of Northwest, offered their stocks freely, influenced by a liberal disposition to give outsiders a chance at a good thing. Like republics, however, outsiders are apt to be ungrateful, and the generosity of Mr. Gould and his following was but faintly appreciated, although the offer cost them a fall of about 1½ per cent in the price of the stocks. Before the end of the day, however, a rally occurred, which was participated in by the rest of the market, and prices closed fractionally better. Some new life was shown in Ohios, considerable purchases being made for Baltimore account; progress is being made toward getting the reconstruction scheme into working shape, and the road is said to be doing unexpectedly well. Other stocks than those mentioned simply vibrated in price with the favorites, there being no special influence in the market to sway them one way or the other. At the very end prices were all better, simply because it was thought well to make them so.

THE FOREIGN MARKET.

To-day being Whit Monday was a holiday upon the London Stock Exchange, and there are consequently no quotations.

STATE BONDS.

State bonds were dull, except for District of Columbia 3-65's, which advanced to 85 on the news that the Senate had agreed to the bill as reported. This makes these bonds government securities, and at the present value of such bonds they ought to be worth about 92½ a 93. Missouri sixes sold at 106½ and Louisiana consols at 70½.

RAILROAD BONDS.

Railroad bonds continue strong, and the following were the changes:—An advance of ⅜ in Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern firsts, ⅛ in Wabash firsts (St. Louis division ex matured coupon), ¼ in Northwest gold sevens and ⅛ in Canada Southern debentures and Hannibal and St. Joseph eighths convertibles.
