MONEY ON CALL 2 A 3 PER CENT.

WALL STREET, MONDAY, June 24—6 P. M.

There has been a field day in Lake Shore this morning which brought participants from every speculative quarter and left but a corporal's guard to the rest of the list. Although prices were confined between 59¼ as the highest and 57¾ as the lowest, transactions were enormous, and the excitement at times commensurate with the dealings. In fact, with the career of the favorite began and finished the history of the day. In the early hours a pool of the well known "bobtail" description, formed in Exchange court and put in execution instanter, carried figures to the top notch of the session, but it soon proved to be an excrescence upon the market, and by no means an index of the real condition of things, as was shortly after apparent, when prices turned and worked steadily down to the lowest points of the day. There were no decided views expressed as to the cause of the decline, but the popular impression tended to a belief that, following the example of Union Pacific, the coming dividend would be passed, and that Mr. Vanderbilt, taking time by the forelock, was a heavy seller. It is the idiosyncrasy of the street, however, to use Mr. Vanderbilt's name as a scapegoat whenever his properties are charged with sins of omission or commission. So the impression referred to must be taken with reservation. Nevertheless it was evident enough that large blocks of long stock were being sold, as well as large blocks of short stock, and that the shorts, who were nearly the only buyers, were insufficient to hold the price with any degree of steadiness. Next to Lake Shore Western Union came into prominence, and extensive purchases were set down to Mr. Gould, who, after Mr. Vanderbilt, is made to shoulder the responsibility of mysterious transactions. In the coal stocks there was no variation of moment, though values were stiffened by the report that the meeting of the Board of Control was of a harmonious nature and that nothing was likely to occur to disturb the combination. The Michigan Central election has resulted in the supremacy of the Vanderbilt party by a vote of two to one, thereby lending considerable value to the great expectations which have been formed upon the results of that gentleman's management. Lake Shore so thoroughly engrossed public attention that the rest of the market was left to the small changes which were simply controlled by the rise or fall of the favorite.
