FINANCIAL NEWS AND COMMENT

Foreign Selling and Alarming Crop Reports Aid Bears in Lowering Prices.

INVESTORS ARE ACTIVE

More Foreign Loans, Which Are Expected, Are Likely to Get Ready Market.

In the greater part of yesterday's session in the Stock Exchange prices moved toward lower levels under the influence of pressure from the professional element. Sentiment among traders again was extremely bearish, but their operations were not heavy and their efforts to bring out stock met with little response, the chief selling for outside account being in some of the over "bulled" war issues of other days and in a few of rails, in which weak accounts recently were accumulated on the theory that an active upward movement was about to develop in them.

Liquidation in the rails was absorbed by strong interests, who appeared anxious to get stocks of this group at concessions. It was the same sort of buying that has been reported on every recent bear attack upon the railroad shares—the sort of buying that will make itself felt when the day comes for the inevitable squeezing of the shorts. At times in the course of the trading rallies were reported, but they were feeble and half hearted, representing nothing beyond covering operations.

Strength in the grain markets on adverse crop rumors contributed to the bearishness of the trading element, but the chief reason for the pressure against the market from this source was the same as on preceding days of the week, that is, absence of buying power, absence of bull leadership and some foreign selling.

It is worth noting that although traders on the floor of the exchange in the main are bearish and are talking about a forthcoming big drop in prices before the current sagging tendency runs its course stocks are being steadily absorbed by substantial Wall Street interests, while the prominent commission houses have orders on their books from the so-called bargain hunters for most of the high grade issues on a scale down. Stocks are not being thrown into the discard. They are going into strong hands, and if, as some people believe, liquidation has not yet been completed, the decline that will accompany that selling merely will serve to bring in more buyers who always have the ready cash for bargain sales.

It was stated yesterday in banking quarters that the current investment demand was far heavier than shown in the operations in the Stock Exchange, and that, as a matter of fact, it was unusually active for a mid-summer period. High class bonds and other securities which are not numbered on the Stock Exchange list are being taken by representative institutions and individuals. There is a fair inquiry for municipal, State and county bonds, while there is a most excellent demand for the new French loan issue and for the Anglo-French 5s.

Investment houses are convinced there will be no difficulty in finding a good market here for further loans to foreign countries. In this connection it is reported in well informed quarters that it is wholly reasonable to look for further financing in this market for the account of the British Government, probably on the same basis as that recently completed for the French Government. The idea of an American corporation issuing its own notes against the collateral provided by foreign Governments has taken well in investment quarters in this country. And the prejudice against foreign offerings, which was so pronounced in many quarters at the time of the Anglo-French financing last fall, is disappearing.

Missionary work by bankers has brought to the public mind the fact that it is quite necessary and profitable for this country not only to extend banking credit to the Allies, but to take back our securities from them and to buy their own Government issues.
