Victory of White Sox Over Yankees and Cleveland's Defeat of Boston Revive Pennant Hopes in Chicago

CULLOP'S SPLENDID PITCHING WASTED; YANKS DEFEATED

Nick Limits Sox to Four Hits in Seven Innings, but Mates' Support Is Weak.

ERRORS ALSO COSTLY; PENNANT HOPES REVIVE

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 24.—Some clever pitching by Nick Cullop was wasted here this afternoon because the Yankees were next to helpless against another southpaw, Claude Williams, and instead of getting the victory which his pitching deserved, the Chilhowie Cyclone suffered another defeat. The score was 2 to 1. Errors figured in both runs scored by the home team, but a Sox display figured in the lone run of the visitors. However, that run probably would have gone over anyway despite the error.

Pennant hopes, which were all but gone here, revived somewhat with today's victory, which put the White Sox two and one-half games behind the pace setting Red Sox. The posting of the score of the Cleveland victory brought out more cheers from the 12,000 fans at Comiskey Park than did anything that developed in the battle between the Sox and Yankees.

Donovan's men had a grand chance to pick up some runs in the first inning, and Joe Benz was being prepared to supplant Williams before his inning was completed. Joe started again in the second when the Yanks opened on Williams with a pass and a hit, but he had little chance of being called in during the remainder of the game.

Williams Stingy on Hits.

Williams steadied in the second inning with two men on bases and none out, and it was not until the eighth that another hit found its way into the Yankee box score. A pass and a hit batsman put him in slight difficulty in the seventh inning but he pulled through safely.

A great stop by McMullin in the first inning and some very accurate pegging by Lynn later helped to carry Williams over the rough spots. McMullin grabbed a drive from Peck's bat with his gloved hand in the opening frame after the Yanks had two on bases with none out. He turned it into a fast double play, and a minute later Walter Pipp crashed one along the right field line for two cushions. That play by McMullin saved the game right there, as it shut off at least two runs.

Lynn nipped aspiring base stealers in the second, eighth and ninth innings, and a slip at any time might have been turned to the advantage of the Yankees. Cullop limited the Sox to four hits, which came in as many different innings during his seven innings on the mound. He retired for a pinch hitter in the eighth, and then Russell set Rowland's boys down in order in his one inning on the rubber.

Magee Scores Yanks' Lone Run.

Magee opened the game with a single over short and raced to third when Williams missed the ball at first on Hendrix's bunt. Then came McMullin's great play on Peck, Magee being held on third while the double play was put through. Pipp's drive to right for two bases scored Magee with New York's only run.

The Sox tied it up in their half. Jack Collins lined to left for a single and advanced to third on successive bunts by McMullin and Eddie Collins, each being tossed out by Cullop. Jackson then grounded to Pipp, and the latter apparently made a clean stop. As he straightened up to go for the base the ball slipped away and Joe was safe, J. Collins scoring.

A pass to Miller and Baumann's single gave the Yanks a chance in the second but Walters fanned, Miller was thrown out stealing third and Cullop fanned.

Sox Win in Fourth.

The Sox put over the winning run in the fourth. With one out Jackson bunted safely and ran to third when Baker threw poorly after fielding Felsch's grounder. Felsch started a delayed steal, Walters threw to Pipp and as Pipp threw to Baumann Joe made a dash for the plate. Baumann saw it was useless to make a play so he ran down Felsch.

A pass and a hit batsman in the seventh furnished the Yank's last chance. One was out at the time and Baumann fanned. Then Walters grounded out. The score:

ONE ARMED PLAYER A STAR.

Does Fine Work for St. Catherine's, but All Stars Win, 3 to 1.

St. Catherine's baseball team, the champions of the Manhattan Catholic Baseball League, were defeated yesterday at the Polo Grounds, but it didn't lose its title, for the team that whipped it was made up of stars from all the other teams in the league. These all stars played a trifle better than St. Catherine's and won by a score of 3 to 1.

The All Stars received praise for their victory, but it was as nothing compared to that bestowed on J. Murphy, a one armed player, who held down centre field for St. Catherine's.

This fellow played as well as any youngster on the field. He was the hero of the game. In the fourth inning he went to bat and with a team mate on second walloped the ball over second for a single and sent in his team's only run. In the field he had 1.000 per cent. and made two difficult catches.

More than 15,000 persons saw the contest.

LINCOLN JAVELIN WINNER.

For the third time this year Jim Lincoln of the New York Athletic Club defeated George Brender, the national champion javelin thrower, yesterday afternoon at Travers Island. Lincoln hurled the spear shaped weight 184 feet 9¾ inches, while Brender's best throw measured 178 feet 4½ inches. J. Wittpenn of the New York A. C. earned third prize with a throw of 144 feet 2¾ inches. The event was the one postponed from the New York A. C. games of Saturday, when rain made the field a quagmire and stopped the contests.

Phillies' Final Campaign May Mean Dodgers' Finish

Moran, Quaker Manager, Has Plans All Set to Grab Flag Away From Robins.

SERIES WITH BROOKLYN WILL DECIDE PENNANT

By FREDERICK G. LIEB.

Philadelphia is again hanging on the heels of the desperate Dodgers, and the crazy quilt National League race still is far from being over. The Phillies have it all figured out how they will win, and they are banking heavily on the last Giant series in Brooklyn. A week ago the writer explained that this was a threatening Brooklyn peril and that it behooved the Dodgers to be out of the woods by the time that series opens.

Brooklyn plays four more games with the Cubs, and then the big Philadelphia series begins. The Phillies expect Vaughn to beat the Brooklyns again before the Cub series is over, and hope that the Bruins will break even on the six games. They are figuring on taking five straight from the Redland tailenders.

By the time the Phillies get ready to invade Brooklyn they hope to have the Dodger lead cut down to about half a game, and, having made a clean sweep of their five game series with the Dodgers when they last met, Moran's chaps are confident they can win at least two out of three in the series to come. If necessary Alexander will pitch in both the first and third of the Flatbush games.

Look for Lead in Week.

The Phillies hope to be leading before they abandon Brooklyn a week from today. The Quakers return home and finish the season with six games with the Braves, while the Giants tackle the Superbas for four games in Brooklyn. Moran asserts that the Giants should defeat the Dodgers four straight, the same as was apportioned the Phillies on the Polo Grounds. At any rate, he says, the Phillies will do more to the Braves than the Superbas will be able to do to the Giants.

Pat Moran was a fine forecaster when he last visited Harlem. He said, "Any team that will beat the Giants from now on is lucky." Evidently no fortunate team has been around here lately, as the Giants have not lost a game since Patrick made that remark. Pat can't forecast yet whether or not the Brooklyns are flirting with Dame Fortune.

The Philly plans make no hit with the Dodgers. They do not expect to lose any more games to the Cubs, though they realize fully that Tinker is plotting night and day to hack down the Flatbush lead. Neither do the Brooklyns believe the Phillies will win five straight from the Reds. Just now the Mattys look like the best team in the West, and as Alex will be saved for Brooklyn the Reds should win at least one game from the smaller fry of Moran's pitching staff.

Until the Phillies revolted and beat Brooklyn five straight in Philadelphia early in the month the Dodgers had quite a margin on the present National League champions. They beat them consistently last year and also early this year. The Dodgers believe they were in a slump in Philadelphia and that they will show their former superiority over the Phillies as soon as they get them in their own park.

It is a tough riddle whichever way you take it, but from the way we see it Will Baker has just as much right to sell world's series tickets as Charles Ebbets. In the middle of last week we felt pretty sure everything had been settled, but just now it doesn't look nearly so final.

Before dismissing the matter of the Superbas the writer will touch mildly on the Brooklyn crowds. We do not agree with Ebbets in his holdup world's series prices, and think this is a bad time to attempt to change the schedule in vogue for the last half dozen years. But we must say that Ebbets is not getting the daily crowds he is entitled to, and for a club that has been leading practically all season the Dodgers have been poorly supported.

Fans Are Unappreciative.

The Dodger fans have come out strongly for the Saturday double headers, but the midweek crowds have been poor excepting on rare occasions. Especially last week, with the team fighting tooth and nail for the pennant, the Brooklyn turnouts were most discouraging. In defending his right to charge his prices Ebbets called attention to some of his recent crowds. He says:

"The attendance for the last game of the Cincinnati series last Tuesday was under 2,000, and less than 3,000 saw the Robins defeat St. Louis last Thursday. That seems to be rather weak support from a borough with a 2,000,000 population and a team that is leading the National League."

It is to be regretted that the Giants made such a miserable showing on their last Western trip. If a few of those 1 to 0 games, booted away in St. Louis and Pittsburg, had gone on the McGraw side of the ledger the Giants would probably breeze right through to the pennant. They are unquestionably the strongest team in their league and the most efficient team in the National League since the fall of the old Cubs.

Three straight defeats administered by the tail end Reds finally dealt the Braves a knockout blow, and they are fortunate if they finish above the Giants. Stallings fought hard against insurmountable obstacles, and the mystery is how the Braves kept up as long as they did.

Red Sox Game Club.

The Boston Red Sox made short work of the American League race after they reached the crucial series stage. We frequently have called attention to the gameness of Carrigan's club and its ability to win whenever pressed. During the past two years they have been able to stall off the Tigers and White Sox whenever it was necessary. Time after time the Tigers or White Sox have cut up high jinks, filled their constituents full of pennant joy, and then the Red Sox came along and left a trail of gloom.

That is one reason why the writer expects to see Boston go into the world's series a topheavy favorite. It is a one run club—a team which wins by one run margins. It showed that in the last world's series, when after losing the first game of the series it won the next four, all by a run margin. A freak feature of the club is that it almost invariably loses the first game of an important series and then cleans up the rest. They have followed that procedure for years.

Carrigan's pitchers have again rounded to form, and with the twirlers delivering, the team had no serious worries. The staff stands in a class by itself as far as all around ability goes and has no close rivals. A fortnight before the big series the Sox are playing their best ball.

To the writer it does not look as though the series will be any longer than it did a year ago, no matter whether Brooklyn or Philadelphia represents the National League. The Phillies, with Alexander, would likely fare the best, as many of Alec's friends feel that with last year's experience behind him Grover will do much better this fall.

Chicago Rooters on Strike.

The White Sox defeat is not popular out in Chicago, and according to reports from the West Comiskey's rooters have gone on strike. The last Yankee series has drawn little at the gate. The Chicago fans feel confident that they have the best team in baseball and blame the defeat of the Sox on Rowland's poor management.

In connection with filing applications for world's series tickets in Brooklyn, fans are notified that they must send their money along with the appeal, or they will not be considered. Money must be sent in cash, money order or by certified check.

TEAM OF GIANTS WINS GAME IN NEW HAVEN

Zimmerman and Kauff Among Those Who Beat Colonials by 8 to 5.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 24.—A team of Giants, with Heinie Zimmerman and Benny Kauff included in the lineup, defeated the Colonials, a local semi-professional aggregation, to-day by 8 to 5.

The Giants hit Spencer Wilcox, former Yale star, rather freely. After the New Yorkers had accumulated a five run lead, the locals came back in the sixth and seventh innings and tied the score through hitting and fielding errors. Wilcox's wildness, aided by Dugan's error, gave the Giants three tallies in the eighth.

Donahue, who relieved Pie Way in the seventh, was invincible. Kocher's home run was the longest hit of the season, a hard clout to deep left field. The score:

HOMER WITH THREE ON BEATS RED SOX

Kavanagh, Pinch Hitting for Boehling Makes Freak Swat for the Circuit.

INDIANS VICTORS, 5 TO 3

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 24.—With the bases filled and one out in the fifth inning, Kavanagh, pinch hitting for Boehling, drove a sizzling grounder over third base, which rolled under the screen in far left field. The drive went for a home run and Cleveland checked the championship advance of the Bostons. The score was 5 to 3.

Leonard, aside from a streak of wildness, pitched great ball, as did Boehling and Bagby for Cleveland. Leonard allowed four hits, but as each was for an extra base, the Indians landed their first victory of the series.

Boston scored twice in the fourth inning on a single by Lewis and a pass to Gardner followed by singles by Scott and Carrigan. Gardner began the ninth with a single, McNally ran for him, while Henriksen, batting for Scott, walked. Thomas was hit with a pitched ball, filling the bases. Ruth then batted for Leonard, but struck out. Hooper's sacrifice fly scored McNally, and Janvrin ended the game with a fly to Graney.

Only four hits were made off Leonard, but each was for extra bases. The score:

St. Louis Pitcher Stars in Victory Over Jersey City—Hornsby Gets Homer.

Miller Huggins's St. Louis Nationals had a little workout in West Side Park, Jersey City, yesterday preparatory to invading Manhattan this afternoon. The Cardinals defeated Dave Driscoll's Jersey City Independents by a score of 5 to 0.

Steele, the St. Louis veteran, pitched remarkable ball, holding the Skeeters to only two hits, both singles by Chick Harter. Steele fanned six men. Jimmy Clinton pitched pretty well too, and struck out eight Cardinals.

Rogers Hornsby, the sensation of the National League, played third for the Huggins tribe. In his first two trips to the plate Hornsby fanned, but the third time he slammed out a home run. It was the longest hit yet seen at West Side Park. The score:

WALTER JOHNSON BOWS TO EHMKE

Syracuse Recruit Wins His Third Game for Detroit—Score Is 6 to 5.

TY COBB ON A RAMPAGE

DETROIT, Sept. 24—(American).—Howard Ehmke, the recruit from Syracuse, twirled his third victory for Detroit to-day, beating Washington 6 to 5. Walter Johnson, who was not able to win from the locals here this season, was the defeated twirler.

Jennings's men hammered Johnson's offerings without mercy, Cobb leading the attack with three whistling singles and a two bagger in four times at bat. Cobb's double in the seventh, followed by Veach's single, which Rice misjudged, scored the winning run.

With Leonard on second and two out in the ninth, Milan singled to left but Veach's throw retired Leonard at the plate. The score:

TROTTING IS RESUMED ON HARLEM SPEEDWAY

Dr. Martin Pilots Two Winners in First Fall Matinee—Victors in Straight Heats.

Dr. C. P. Martin piloted two winners at the first fall matinee of the Road Drivers Association of New York yesterday afternoon on the Harlem Speedway. He triumphed both in the 1:10 class trot and the 1:08 class trot. He won in straight heats. In the 1:10 trot, he drove his black mare Nightingale, and in the 1:08 class trot he held the reins of Bon Todd, a brown mare belonging to the stable of A. Fischer.

The 1:05 class pace furnished a surprise. J. A. Murphey, the well known horseman, introduced his new chestnut mare Mittie Bedworth. The newcomer, driven by Jesse Smith, her trainer, performed exceptionally well, defeating H. Jacobs's bay gelding Master McKerron, the Harlem Speedway cup winner, in straight heats. The second heat of this brush was traversed in the good time of 1 minute 3¼ seconds.

The special trotting race, which had four entrants, was won by J. F. O'Shea's chestnut mare Marion Toddington. The triumphant mare won in straight heats, gliding over the four furlongs in the second tilt in 1 minute 6 seconds.

Exultant, a bay gelding owned by J. Gilmore, captured the blue ribbon in the 1:11 class pace, which was the only split race of the afternoon. The summaries:

Class 1:10; trotting:

Nightingale, blk. m. (C. P. Martin)	1	1
Dinges, b. g. (C. J. Fendt)	2	2

Time—1:03½, 1:06¼.

Class 1:08; trotting:

Bon Todd, br. m. (Mr. Fischer)	1	1
Bessie Barron, br. m. (E. Carpenter)	2	2
