The Presbyterian Fair.

The young people of the Westminster Presbyterian Church had a very successful supper and fair last evening in the parlors of that church. The attendance was large, and those who patronized the fair were very liberal in their purchases. A large number of fancy articles were disposed of and numerous orders were taken from patrons exhibited. A handsome sum was realized, and will be donated to the church funds.

THE COMMISSIONERS.

Those Who Have Charge of the Safety of Property and Person.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners held yesterday afternoon Commissioners Rathbone, Ross and Withey were present, the first named presiding. Superintendent Perry appeared before the Board and made a verbal report of the affairs pertaining to his department. The following communications were received and referred to the several appropriate committees: From C. H. Chaffee, application for a position upon the police force; from Capt. and A. Q. M. L. G. Ferry, of the U. S. army, remitting an award of $30 for the capture of Fred Miller, a deserter from the army; from Marshal Lemoin, a requisition for supplies for the fire department; reports of fires December 15 and 17; recommending the repairing and painting of No. 6 hose cart, and presenting the bill of A. W. Saunders for veterinary services; from Superintendent Perry, a requisition for supplies, and report of the condition of street lights for the week ending Dec. 17; from the secretary, presenting revised copies of the rules governing the department.

The following accounts were allowed: I. Patterson, $10.00; Eaton, Lyon & Co., $7; Gardiner & Baxter, $33.63; Letellier & White, $304.51; Peck Bros., account for November, $21.25; do, October account, $29.80; Foster, Stevens & Co., $91.84; Nelson, Matter & Co., $4; M. A. True Printing Company, $12.14.

W. I. Hank, stoker of No. 8 Company, was granted the permission of a private fire alarm connection.

Certain supplies were ordered purchased for the respective departments.

The President of the Board was requested to instruct Mr. Bettingham, superintendent of fire alarms, to notify the Western Union, Telephone, District Alarm and Electric Light companies to remove such wires as were placed contrary to instructions within five days, such companies being trespassers. If such wires are not moved within the time named the superintendent will cause the same to be moved, in accordance with Secs. 2 and 3 of an ordinance relative to putting up wires, passed June 28, 1880.

ONE OF THE FINEST.

Changes The Morton will Undergo in the Near Future.

As has before been announced in the columns of THE TELEGRAM, Mr. Boyd Pantlind's lease of The Morton hotel property expired the 10th of October last, at which time the estate passed into his hands. Under the lease it was inadvisable for him to make the many changes in and about the property that were conceived and stored away in his mind. Now that no date is fixed to limit or prescribe his actions Mr. Pantlind has determined upon many valuable and needed changes, and has already begun to carry out the desires of his heart. As soon as the season and weather will permit a new story is to be added with a Mansard roof. This change will afford about thirty additional rooms. A passenger elevator will be added, and it is now thought the billiard room will give place to a large and elegant reading room. These changes, with the new marble floor, marble counters and new office fittings, will make this already popular and pleasant hotel one of the finest in the country.

AMUSEMENTS.

The "Planter's Wife" at Redmond's—Reed in "Cheek" To-Night.

A small audience sat and shivered through the four acts of the "Planter's Wife" at Redmond's Opera House last night. The company was well up to the average, while the play was common in dialogue, stale in plot, which was in two or three instances worked into a strong situation. The orchestra was noticeable for entirely ignoring the list of selections on the program, and substituted for "Iolanthe" at the end of the first act a boresome medley of negro songs and dances, music entirely unbecoming to a first-class theatre.

Roland Reed established himself as a favorite in this city three years ago. When he appeared in "Cheek" in New Orleans the Gossip of that city had the following:

Mr. Roland Reed in his new play, "Cheek," has made quite a hit here. Evening after evening this popular theater is crowded almost to overflowing by our theater goers, who receive the comedian with thundering applause. The play is rare comedy, filled with original sayings and comical situations and a very interesting plot, the scenery is magnificent and realistic and worthy of special praise. Of Mr. Reed too much can not be said. He is an actor of the first rank, and deserves great praise for his excellent interpretation of the character which he assumes, the part is an extremely funny one and affords Mr. Reed a good chance to indulge in his comical parts. His singing also elicits forth loud applause, his company is a talented one and make a splendid support for their leader.

A Suit Which Touches Him Nearer.

Mr. T. F. McGarry, of Ionia, one of the attorneys for the prosecution in the Millard trial, has been the recipient of many good wishes from his many friends in this city, not because he is a good lawyer, but for something that has precedence above all other affairs in his heart and hopes at present: namely he will wed one of Ionia's fair and respected daughters on the 23rd inst. Even if the jury in the case on trial should go against him, the verdict in the case on the docket for the 23rd inst. will be unanimously in his favor by all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance.

It Made a Good Story.

A sensational story was published in this morning's Grand Rapids Democrat concerning a Muskegon mill man and his wife. Those who are fully conversant with the facts stated that the "yarn" as published is false from beginning to end.—Muskegon Chronicle.

PROHIBITION THE THEME.

The Grand Public Cause Set Aside for Party Measures.

About one-half the sittings in the Universalist Church were occupied last evening during the lecture of Mrs. Mary T. Lathrop and Mrs. Benjamin. The time was, and not long ago, when this church would have been filled to overflowing with an eager audience to hear either of these ladies. Such would have been the case had the night been stormy and much colder. The ladies have not changed; their manners are as pleasant, their words as well chosen, their eloquence as marked. It is needless to say the main thread of the speeches was third-party Prohibition. The questions of production, labor, taxation, the tariff, license of the liquor traffic, the position occupied by the old political parties—especially the Republican party—were discussed. The grounds taken against the Republican party were clearly and emphatically put, if not well chosen, and before Mrs. Lathrop had finished every member of this party was accused of joining hands in fellowship and communion with the liquor traffic; with fostering this traffic until it is forced into the hands of the very worst element of society. The remarks of both speakers were appreciated by those people who have "conscientiously" left the Republican party, in which they have trained during its history, and are now voting the Prohibition ticket. Many good temperance people in the audience were disappointed.
