Racegoers Make Most of Unseasonable Weather at Hewlett Bay---Home Golfer Again Wins Atlantic City Tourney

EAST WIND BLOWS A FAVORITE HOME

Archdale Wins Feature on Flat in Windup of Rockaway Hunt Meet.

ELLISTOWN BOY IS FIRST

Shows Way in Long Steeplechase; Wretched Weather at Hewlett Bay Park.

BY DANIEL.

Horses which would not run right and weather were very prevalent at the closing half of the annual race meeting of the Rockaway Hunting Club at Hewlett Bay Park on Long Island yesterday afternoon. Climatic conditions were sufficiently unsatisfactory when the call to boots and saddles first sounded, but when some of the animals began to act contrary to general expectations gobs of solidified atmosphere spread themselves over the already too well irrigated landscape. Some of the thousand-odd onlookers bethought themselves of home and fireside and sounded the retreat. As an occasion appropriate for racing it was an afternoon eminently fitted for stoking up the family furnace.

Though the wind came off and cold from the east all afternoon, it blew one good thing home. That happened in the fourth race, for the Hazard Plate, the feature named for William L. Hazard, secretary of the Polo Association. Archdale, the favorite, under a splendid ride by Harry Tucker, led the field of four over one mile and an eighth over the flat. Carrying 160 pounds, Morton L. Schwartz's gelding showed the way to nearly every beacon and won by three lengths over Nicholas L. Tilney's Toynbee, with Little Nearer third and Silent Pilot last.

Those who handled friendly wagers paid 11 for 10 on Archdale. Little Nearer, at 8 to 5, was second choice, but Mr. Ahlers's horse, though well handled by Bell, never exerted any virile efforts. For three-quarters, Toynbee was more than a formidable contender, but then began to tire perceptibly and allow the veteran Archdale to prove he was the class of the race.

All Keep to Course.

It was hard to believe that the course measured even a mile. Unofficial clockers got Archdale in pretty close to 1:45, which under the conditions precluded the possibility of the field having covered nine furlongs. At any rate the horses did not, as was the frequent occasion the week before, get lost in the woods or wander off in the general direction of Valley Stream and way stations. None of the starters in the six races strayed from the proper path. Not one of the riders came a cropper, a circumstance quite remarkable on the slimy and treacherous turf.

The best outfit and the biggest field of the day made the sixth race, a six furlong dash quite an event even though the favorite did fail to finish one, two. Lady Edwina, an imported mare owned by Oscar Lewisohn, which had won the week before in her first start in this country, was established the popular choice at 6 to 5. Most of the money went that way, but a coterie of those in the know made the most of Cabaret's winning at 7 to 2.

Cabaret was off in front and put up a splendid racing under Williams. Second by a length came Mr. Speers, ridden by Johnny Tucker and second choice at 3 or 2. Lady Edwina was beaten only half a length for the place. Pay Streak, Santa Fe and Flotsam II., an imported colt by Meddler, finished out of the money in the order named.

Tipperary Comes Home.

Those who go to things Celtic got a profitable play in the first race in which the winner was Tipperary. It was not a long way to Tipperary or the other starters for the distance was only five furlongs. Tipperary broke first from the barrier and never was headed. Johnny Tucker's Solar Star, favorite at 7 to 10, finished second by a length, with Pay Streak four more behind and Vera Kessler a poor last.

Then came the Woodsburgh Handicap, three and a half miles over posts and rails. Nicholas L. Tilney's Ellistown Boy, ridden by the owner, won by fifteen lengths, with Union second and Chestnuts far behind. Ellistown Boy was the favorite, at 9 to 20. It was a long race and a hard one and the horses came home looking much the worse for wear. If Union had not jumped like a hobby horse Ellistown Boy might have had to accept second money.

In between the second and third races one of the features of the day was staged beside the grandstand. Frozen to the marrow by the salt water from the bay close at hand a coterie of society bulls decided to keep step with the band. Hawaiian, martial and other varieties of music were accompanied by a series of dancing steps that not only kept the performers warm but were decidedly pleasant to look at.

Sand Hog Refuses.

The Long Island Handicap, at two and a half miles over the brush, was a match between M. D. Bamberger's Conqueror and Thomas Madden's Sand Hog. After leading for two circuits Sand Hog got the bends and refused to clear the jump right in front of the grandstand. Conqueror finished alone.

Another Gaelic entry scored in the fifth race. Bridget O'Connor ran against Alan Bain, and Alan was second by fifteen lengths over two miles of the brush course.

Everything considered the meet was a success. Compared with the first half the session yesterday, despite the weather, was a howling triumph. It was a pity that one of the most picturesque courses should have drawn such wretched conditions for the windup of the meeting. Mars Cassidy did some admirable starting, and the work of the patrol judges was a great improvement over the week previous.

Next Saturday the hunt meet circuit scene will shift to Belmont Park Terminal, where the United Hunts will hold forth.

STEVENS IS BEATEN BY CARLISLE TWELVE

Indian Lacrosse Team Too Fast for Engineers.

The Carlisle Indians descended on Hoboken, N. J., yesterday and scalped the Stevens Engineers at lacrosse to a score of 9 to 2.

The game was fast and featured with excitement in spite of the mud which covered the Castle Point Field. The heavy Stevens defence in the first half was outmaneuvered by its lighter opponents, who only skidded half as far around the muddy turf.

The Indians displayed more speed than the Engineers and for the first half had things almost entirely their own way, rolling up five goals in this session, of which Miles collected three.

In the second half the New Jersey men found themselves and the playing was close. The visitors were the first to score in this half when Miles slipped one in after 15 minutes of play. The Engineers came right back, however, and Ford rolled one in a moment later. Each team collected two more and the honors for the half looked even until White drove one through with but one second to play.

Dowling and Strong Win Inwood Red Cross Match

Local Pair Defeat Nichols and Barnes in Benefit Golf Event, Which Is Marred by Cold Wind—Fair Crowd Attends.

Cold weather and a high wind militated against good golf, but did not detract any interest from the four ball best ball professional match staged at Inwood yesterday for the benefit of the Far Rockaway Red Cross unit. A larger crowd than was expected under the circumstances followed Jack Dowling of Scarsdale, Herbert Strong of Inwood, Gil Nichols of Great Neck and Jim Barnes of Whitemarsh around the eighteen holes and saw the first two win the match on the home green from the other pair by 1 up.

The participants were bothered considerable by the cold and complained that they could not feel the grip of their clubs, but they all played exceptionally well, weather conditions considered. Nichols and Dowling each had approximate rounds of 73. Barnes covered the journey in 76 and Strong was around in 83.

It was Dowling's playing that won the match. With the affair all square at the sixteenth, Dowling got a fine drive on the long seventeenth, but landed in a trap on his second shot. He pitched perfectly 130 yards to the green and was down in 4 to win that hole and give him as well as his partner Strong a lead.

Dowling Again Saves Day.

At the last hole Nichols played brilliantly and perfectly and was down in par 4. Dowling refused to allow the match to go farther and holed out an eight foot putt for a half in 4, after making a fine recovery over a water hazard.

Each of the players picked up continually, which made it impossible to keep individual scores. Dowling played the best for his side and Nichols saved Barnes from utter rout. At the second hole, one of the long ones of the course, Nichols was on the green in 2 and sank twenty foot putt for a 3. At the twelfth Nichols was in a bunker on his tee shot, but laid a long approach shot dead to the pin and was down in 3.

The high wind bothered Barnes in driving and even putting. He had no great confidence on any shot. Strong, whose home course is Inwood, was equally bothered by the wind and did not perform up to expectations.

Dowling's efforts at the short sixth netted a 2. A well placed drive left the ball dead to the cup and the putt was only a matter of a tap.

Course Straight to Barnes.

The best ball of the winners only netted 76, while that of the losers was 77. Barnes played over the course for the first time, which did not help his game any. The men tossed for partners and when it was found that Nichols, the metropolitan champion, and Barnes, the Professional Golfers Association champion, were paired it looked like a walkover, but little Jack Dowling refused to be daunted.

Following the match a dinner and dance was held at the clubhouse, from which the proceeds also were turned over to the war relief fund. The match was to have marked the formal opening of Inwood for the season, but the weather prevented any great amount of pleasure. The best ball of the two teams follows:

Jack Dowling and Herbert Strong.

She won by only a fair margin.

The plunge for distance also went to Miss Doerfner, with Rita Greenfield of New York second. Elizabeth Decker of Philadelphia won the fancy diving handicap with a 12 point help. This event brought out some excellent performances. Josephine Bartlett of New York, the champion woman diver, finished second from scratch. The summaries:

RISLEY IS SUPREME AT ATLANTIC CITY

Home Golfer in Match Over Rain Soaked Links Beats Corkran by 1 Up.

LEADS FOR THIRD TIME

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 5.—Maurice Risley, Atlantic City's foremost golfer, won his third chief cup here in five years when he defeated P. Clarke Corkran of Baltimore 1 up in the final round of the spring tournament at the Country Club of Atlantic City to-day. Risley practically won the match at the outset by capturing the first four holes. As it turned out he needed the advantage to stand off Corkran's strong uphill fight.

The half a gale wind and driving mist seemed not to bother Risley, who began with a 3 at the first hole. This is 315 yards long, but a good drive and a pitch left him a putt of not more than six feet. Corkran could have had a par 4.

At the next two holes Corkran had no end of trouble. He was in the water at both and took 6s, whereas Risley played safely and was content to win with 5s. The short fourth should have been a half in 3, but Corkran missed a short putt. They halved everything thereafter up to the ninth, which Corkran won when his opponent sliced his second shot into a trap. That left Risley 3 up at the turn. He went out in 40 to Corkran's 43.

Corkran Catches Up.

The Atlantic City man lost the twelfth on the thirteenth, thanks to a fine brassie shot over the bunker, but then lost the next three holes, when Corkran did the fifteenth and sixteenth in 3s. They halved the last two holes in 4s. Risley made the round in 80 to his opponent's 81, as follows:

Risley, out	3	4	3	5	4	4	4	3	4—40
Risley, in	3	4	4	3	4	4	3	3	4—40	80
Corkran, out	4	5	4	6	5	4	4	4	4—43
Corkran, in	4	4	3	5	4	3	3	3	4—38	81

In the first beaten eight James C. Parris, Jr., of the National Links, derived some satisfaction by defeating P. S. P. Randolph, Jr., of Lakewood, finalist in the recent Lakewood tourney, by 2 and 1. Randolph experienced a lot of trouble with the wind.

Risley Steady in Morning.

Early in the day Risley proved too steady for T. P. Endicott, a clubmate, and gained a place in the finals by a margin of 5 and 4. After the first few holes Risley drew away from Endicott. Neither man was able in the high wind to keep his drives under control, though in this respect Risley had the better success.

Risley got into difficulties going to third and picked up, but he won the short fourth with a neat 2. By the time the ninth was played and the journey toward home begun Risley was 5 up and confident.

Endicott won the tenth when Risley drove into a trap, but reversed condition prevailed at the eleventh. They halved the long twelfth in 7, both approaching weakly. Endicott's final bid for victory came at the thirteenth, where he had an approach close up and sank the putt for a 3. He was 4 down then and the match ended at the fourteenth, when Risley got a 4 to Endicott's 5.

Cold Bothers Corkran.

Throughout his semi-final round with H. J. Westney of Atlantic City Corkran felt the cold, which numbed his hands. Westney was better prepared. He wore a headgear apparently made for Arctic exploration and he moved along unconcerned by wind or cold. Westney played his irons with confidence and putted well, but his wooden club shots were uncertain.

They were all square at the turn when Corkran took the ninth with a long putt for a 3. Corkran was trapped at the eleventh and lost the twelfth by a poor approach which made him 2 down. He won the fourteenth, fifteenth and sixteenth and was dormie going to the home hole, which he halved to win the right to be beaten by Risley later on.

Under ordinary conditions there would have been a big field in the handicap, but few cared to brave the elements. B. Warren Corkran, an older brother of the runner up, won with a card of 81—9, 72.

New Moon Lacrosse Team Beats Swarthmore, 9 to 2.

Rain stopped all the sports except lacrosse and golf at the Bay Ridge grounds of the Crescent Athletic Club yesterday. The New Moon ball tossers were to have played Seton Hall College. The ground was so wet that it was impossible to play the game. For the same reason no attempt was made to play either of the games in the recently formed Metropolitan Intercholastic Lacrosse League at either the Crescent grounds or Prospect Park yesterday morning.

In the afternoon the regular team of the New Moon club defeated the Swarthmore lacrosse club by a 9 to 2 score. The contest was a one sided one from the start. The Swarthmore team is composed of former Swarthmore college players. The lineup:

FALL RIVER ROVERS WIN SOCCER TITLE

Rhode Islanders Wrest National Championship From the Bethlehem Team.

CENTRALVILLE, R. I., May 5.—The Rovers of Fall River won the national championship in soccer by defeating the Bethlehem, Pa., eleven in the final round of the National Challenge cup series this afternoon by a score of 1 to 0. The field was a sea of mud, rain falling heavily throughout the night and morning. A crowd of about 2,500 sat through a game that was continuous during the play.

Victory came to the Massachusetts team after sixty seconds of play, claiming possession of the ball after the kickoff, the Rovers dribbled for a half minute and then started down the field. Landy headed the ball to Sawyer, who caught it on the end of his toe and booted it into the net. Duncan, at goal, made a desperate lunge to block the ball but never touched the ball.

From that point to the finish the Rovers went on defense and fended off a desperate attack of the Pennsylvanians, the brilliant work of the Burns brothers being mainly responsible for breaking up the assault.
