NEW FEATURES ADDED FOR SOUTHAMPTON'S BENEFIT FAIR

Wonderful Display of Occultism by Non-Professional . Promised at Suffolk's Big Event—Women Work Hard for Masque

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y. Aug. 9.

ALL that is necessary to complete the success of the country street fair, in aid of the Southampton Hospital, to be held next Friday afternoon and evening, is fair weather. As for the masque and tableaux to be given in conjunction with it, weather would not matter so much, as this spectacle will be shown in the Garden Theatre and under cover.

A decidedly picturesque place has been chosen for the fair, Agawam Park, on the borders of the lake of that name. Mrs. A. Stewart Walker has planned the street, which will have artistic environments as well as those provided by nature. Mrs. Joseph R. Dilworth has done everything toward arranging booths, where all sorts of commodities will be sold.

In addition there will be pavilions for movies and dancing which will be open afternoon and evening and as late as any one cares to stay.

This entertainment appeals to all who live in Suffolk county, as the hospital is the only institution of its kind in a radius of many miles. Moreover, every dollar left at the entrance gate or spent at booths or for other attractions offered will go to the hospital fund, as all expenses have been guaranteed by donations of various committees and friends.

At the entrance to the park will be erected huge effigies of trained nurses made of canvas which have been painted by Mrs. Morton Breese. The booths will be placed between trees and at night will be illuminated by great lanterns covered with yellow cheesecloth They will be hung with bright colored Egyptian embroideries. The general tone of color chosen is blue and yellow and this combination will be applied to all the structures in the street. Labor and electric lighting have been given by workmen of Southampton, who have the welfare of the hospital at heart.

One of the main features of the fair will be the Italian tombola under the direction of Mrs. Harry Payne Bingham, who will have the assistance of Mrs. John M. L. Rutherford, Mrs. George G. Bourne and Morgan J. O'Brien, Jr. The latter will act as cashier. Contributions include jewelry, old lace, ancient brocades, a Liberty bond, $25 in gold, pieces of old silver, an automobile, a Chow puppy, a ticket for an airplane spin, a Sealyham pup, domestic animals, a ton of coal, wearing apparel, groceries and innumerable articles.

Mrs. Schermerhorn in Cafeteria.

Mrs. Alfred E. Schermerhorn will have in charge a cafeteria where one can obtain during the afternoon tea and light refreshments and at night a hot supper which will follow the masque. This will be arranged under a tent and the food will be served from a long buffet.

Mrs. Schermerhorn's assistants will include Mrs. Harry Pelham Robbins, Mrs. Edmund S. Twining, Mrs. Bache Brown, Mrs. E. M. Horne, Mrs. L. Beggs Sproul, Mrs. Waldron P. Belknap, Mrs. Howard C. Dickinson, Mrs. John E. Berwind, Mrs. Joseph R. Dilworth, the Misses Louise Butler, Eleanor (Mellor) Genevieve Babbitt, Lucy Patterson, Anne Townsend, Eva Stewart and Gertrude Kavanagh.

Stuart Davis has rigged up an old houseboat to be anchored on the border of the lake. It will be turned into a sort of Noah's Ark for the afternoon, when there will be for sale all sorts of toy animals. At night time the interior of the boat will be turned into a Turkish lounge, where coffee and cigarettes will be sold. Also there will be served on this boat steamed clams for the hungry sea bathers and golf players.

In a tent 40 by 60 feet will be shown, under the charge of Mrs. Caleb W. Hammill and Miss Betty Hammill, movies of local celebrities made at the beach and in Southampton streets. The placard outside the tent will read:

"Come in and see yourselves as others see you; some pleasant surprises, many illusions shattered."

In another tent quite as large there will be an opportunity to dance afternoon and evening, and this diversion will be under the personal direction of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Potter Breese. The music will be by Joseph Smith's orchestra from the Plaza Hotel.

Miss Cornelia Livingston will have a Coney Island side show, with barkers to announce the different turns, and Miss Katherine Van Ingen will do her best to interest all in the gathering in a fine automobile. For children, in place of the conventional grab bag, there will be a sand pile, which will conceal Capt. Kidd's treasure trove, for which they can dig. Mrs. Lyttleton Fox will be in charge of this attraction. Mrs. Charles E. Dadmun will have the ice cream booth.

Mystery is attached to the personality of a man who at the invitation of Mrs. Charles E. Mitchell has consented to give an exhibition of occultism. This person has remarkable talent, but does not care to have his identity disclosed for the reason that he is not a professional.

Mrs. Charles A. Dana and Mrs. Grosvenor Nicholas will be at the Punch and Judy show, where every half hour Burrows will exhibit his feats of magic and ventriloquism. Miss Mary Davis Landstreet will sell variety and fancy articles. Miss Betty Condon will be the "Balloon Girl," and Miss Florence Earle Johnson will have charge of a photograph gallery where likenesses will be taken and finished while you wait.

Admission to all that the fair offers will be but 50 cents or $1, and once inside the gates as much money as any one cares to spend will be gratefully accepted.

The artistic feature of the entertainment will be Swinburne's "Masque of the Queens and the tableaux vivants depicting the various phases of the moon, which will be shown in the Garden Theatre. The masque committee includes Mrs. William Chapman Potter and Mrs. Lawrence McKeever Miller, costumes; Mrs. J. Searle Barclay, Mrs. Edward McCauley and Mrs. Nicholas Biddle, properties; Mrs. Courtlandt D. Barnes, make-up; Mrs. J. W. Fuller Potter, New York shopping, and Mrs. John W. Cross, treasurer.

Francis Markoe has been directing the dramatic part of the masque, and he will read some of the lines as the various queens pass before King David, who will be surrounded by his court. As some of the queens that Swinburne depicted in his well known work were considered rather naughty, such have been eliminated, and none but those who figure pictorially in mythical history have been retained.

In the cast of the masque Adrian Larkin will impersonate King David. The queens will be:

Bersaba, Miss Marjorie Curtis, who will be attended by Mrs. Courtlandt Nicoll, Mrs. J. Couper Lord, Mrs. Frederick Martin Davies, Miss Mary Davis Landstreet and Miss Cornelia Livingston as court ladies.

Aholibah, Mrs. Joseph Earle Stevens, with attendant gladiators.

Cleopatra, Mrs. William H. Barnum, with Ethiopes in her train.

Abihail, Mrs. Morton Breese, attended by the Misses Charlotte Potter and Margaret Thaw as dancers.

Azubah, Mrs. W. De Lancey Kountze, with acolytes and priests.

Ahola, Miss Millicent Rogers, with fruit bearers in her train.

Ahinoam, Mrs. Lawrence McKeever Miller, who will have two deerhounds on a leash and as her attendants Miss Helen Krech and Miss Evelyn Preston.

Semiramis, Mrs. Duncan S. Ellsworth, with two horsemen.

Hestone, Miss Gladys High, who will have a torch bearer.

Chrysothemis, Mrs. Edward Van Ingen, attended by rose maidens.

Amestris, Mrs. Oren Root, with Miss Mercedes de Acosta, Miss Katherine Mackay and Miss Vouletti Proctor as peris.

Paethea, Miss Eleanor Lamson, who will be attended by a group of sailors.

Alaciel, Mrs. Albert Gallatin, with Miss Helen Potter as thurifer.

While all the personages of the masque are of biblical or mythological times, the costuming will be of the English mediæval period, the queens wearing great hennins and other huge headdresses, which with their robes of state have been faithfully copied from old colored engravings, originals of which are in the British Museum.

Reed Orchestra to Play.

The incidental music for the masque has been selected by Mrs. Henry H. Rogers and Mrs. George Barton French, and in keeping with the ancient times depicted will be played by a reed orchestra. Mrs. Charles H. Sabin has been acting as chairman of the masque and tableaux and Mrs. Peter B. Wyckoff as the general chairman.

The tableaux vivants, which will show the various phases of the moon, have been arranged by Gerome Brush, who has his studio in the Art Village. Among those to pose are Mrs. David Dows, Mrs. Joseph B. Thomas, Mrs. Marshall Russell, Mrs. Edward Van Ingen, Mrs. Charles Lindley, Miss Florence Ellsworth, Miss Roberta Mitchell and Miss Audrey Osborn. These tableaux will be novel and artistic and the eclipse period of the moon will be shown with the final dropping on them of the curtain.

Mrs. Edward Van Ingen has been attending to the sale of boxes and seats. Among the purchasers are Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, Dr. and Mrs. Peter B. Wyckoff, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallatin, Mrs. Robert Waller, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Tyng, Charles Hayden, Mrs. Charles T. Barney, Mrs. William Constable, Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso P. Villa, Mr. and Mrs. T. Morrison Carnegie, Mr. and Mrs. Kurnal R. Babbitt, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Barclay, Dr. and Mrs. P. Flewellen Chambers, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin W. Krech, Mrs. Henry Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. Fairfax Landstreet, Mr. and Mrs. De Lancey Nicoll, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan J. O'Brien, Ralph J. Preston, George W. Curtis and Mrs. Eli K. Robinson.

Among other purchasers are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mapes, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hirst, Mrs. Robert C. Black, Mr. and Mrs. Eben Byers, Mr. and Mrs. J. Denison Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stevens Ulman, Mr. and Mrs. E. du Pont Erving, Mr. and Mrs. C. Tiffany Richardson, Mrs. Hobart, Mr. and Mrs. Garret A. Hobart, Mrs. Joseph Flannery, Mr. and Mrs. J. Insley Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Sage, Mrs. Charles E. Miller, Andrew Mellon, Mrs. Hoffman Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Turnbull, Mrs. Henry W. Torney, Dr. and Mrs. Norman E. Ditman, Seelye Benedict, Col. and Mrs. Robert Means Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Goodhue Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan S. Ellsworth, Mr. and Mrs. F. Ashton de Peyster, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Olcott, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Van Rensselaer Thayer, Clarence H. Mackay and Charles H. Sabin.

GARDEN CITY, L. I.

As a result of the thousands who went Saturday to Meadow Brook to witness the polo game between the crack team of Meadow Brook and Rockaway, playing for the Nassau county championship and also the likelihood of being selected as the team to represent America at the International games in England next spring, quite a number have decided to remain here during the remainder of the summer.

As a result life at the Garden City Hotel has quickened. August finds not one available country home or cottage vacant.

Among the visitors from Manhattan at the Garden City Hotel during the week were Mrs. Van Brugh Livingston, H. B. Sargeant, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Baker, C. R. Black, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hyde, S. Ferris Lockwood, Grover C. Loening, H. W. Smith, Edward Thurston, James Charles Craft, Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Geddes, J. Bernard Miller, Richardson Morris, F. M. Gallie, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Lathrop, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Reid, Lieut. and Mrs. B. Z. Johnston and Lieut. and Mrs. H. C. Anderson.

Brooklyn: Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Erwin, Mrs. Francis Briggs, Francis T. Cooke, T. W. Downing, Mr. and Mrs. John Bene, Edmund Bene, Harold Clark McCully, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Rickey and Robert Ross.

Miss Alice French, Davenport, Iowa; Hallett Johnson, Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Hall, Old Westbury.

Activities at Narragansett Pier

NARRAGANSETT PIER, Aug. 9.

ALL Narragansett is resting after the feasting and festivity in connection with the Snow Ball given at the Casino on Friday night for a popular charity, under the direction of Talbot Hanan, who originated the decorative scheme and promoted the novel affair. Of course all the villa colony was there, and their "dear five hundred friends" and congenial groups of people made up parties and came in automobiles from New London, Watch Hill and Providence.

Three hundred or more dined in the Casino at scores of private dinner parties before the ball, the dinner tables being placed around the sides of the ballroom and in the restaurant adjoining. The ballroom was converted into a snowbound wood interior of pine and fir. In this interior were the dinner parties, the women, for the most part, in handsome gowns of white, many wearing white furs; and the men in white flannel or linen suits.

Dancing began at 10 o'clock, when hundreds who had not attended the dinner arrived. All entered the snowbound ballroom through a door in a simulated garden wall which led to the Jack Frost Garden beyond. Soon the cheerful sound of sleigh bells was heard, for jingling bells were suspended from above and these touched the heads of the dancers as they moved about. Before midnight a realistic New England snowstorm burst upon the dancers. Other features were a revel and a December gale.

The patronesses of the ball were Mrs. R. Livingston Beeckman, Mrs. John H. Hanan, Mrs. H. Anthony Dyer, Mrs. Byron S. Watson, Mrs. Barnes Newberry, Mrs. Alfred E. Norris, Mrs. Saunders P. Jones, Mrs. William E. Coffin, Mrs. Joseph Samuels, Mrs. L. Samuels, Mrs. Charles F. Thatcher, Mrs. Avice Borda, Miss Fannie Sinnickson, Mrs. August Busch, Mrs. Frank E. Richmond, Mrs. John B. Lewis, Mrs. John O. Ames, Mrs. Talbot Hanan, Mrs. James C. Potter and Mrs. Robert J. B. Sullivan.

Among the larger dinner parties at the Casino before the ball were those given by Philip S. P. Randolph and Philip Stevenson of New York, a polo dinner for twenty; Mrs. John H. Hanan, a dinner for twenty, and Mrs. B. H. Bristow Draper of Hopedale, Mass., a dinner for ten. Others who gave dinners were Alfred H. Smith, Jascha Heifetz, the violinist; Col. and Mrs. Joseph Fletcher of Providence, Mr. and Mrs. John Welsh of Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Snowden, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Kelly, Joseph T. Ryerson, Peter Porter, Jr., of New York, E. W. Woodcock of Moline, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Fay of Boston, Mrs. Albert Bond Lambert of St. Louis, Mrs. Irving H. Chase of Waterbury, Conn.

Mrs. Harold Knowlton of West Upton, Mass.; Arthur D. Cooley of New York, Mrs. Robert I. B. Sullivan and Mrs. Joseph Samuels of Providence.

Twoscore or more members of the villa colony motored down Ocean road to the Scarborough Beach Club tonight for a dance given by Mrs. Rowland Hazard of Peace Dale and Mrs. S Hinman Bird of New York. In the company were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. H. Metcalf, Mrs. Hope Shepley Hollister, Mr. and Mrs. Barnes Newberry, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. I. Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. Rush Sturges of Providence; Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Read, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Blaine, Mr. and Mrs. David E. Alexandria Bay Has Big Crowd

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The busiest week of the season—and that means the busiest week the Thousand Islands have seen for at least five years—is closing. The golf tournament at the Country Club kept the golf enthusiasts busy both morning and afternoon. The weather man at Alexandria Bay promised and delivered the best golfing weather of the summer for the tourney players.

The tennis tournament will start at the Thousands Islands Yacht Club Monday and will continue till August 16, and on that evening the tennis ball will be given. Many of the tennis entries are already in and these include Mrs. Herbert M. Shipman, Emerson McMillin, Capt. F. Rutherford, Misses Isabel and Virginia McLean, Earl H. Hayden, Ernest Rubsamen, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Boldt, Miss Dorothy Whitley, Miss Dorothy Black, Miss Eleanor Gibbons, Miss Lida Theisen, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Hobart, Mr. and Mrs. A. Graham Miles, Mrs. A. Raymond Ellis, T. Breckenridge Clemons and others. The Yacht Club tennis committee is composed of George E. McLean, chairman; W. Langdon Hayden, Edward A. Pitcairn, A. Graham Miles, Earl F. Hayden, Lockhart Wilsur, George C. Boldt, J. Sidney Hammond.

Mrs. George C. Boldt, Jr., of New York demonstrated the fact that she has no fear for thirteen at table. Mrs. Boldt gave a supper party at the Thousand Islands Yacht Club on Sunday evening and the party numbered thirteen. They included Mr. Ernest B. Rubsamen, Mrs. A. Raymond Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Englis, George C. Boldt, Paul and Phil Wiser, Dorothy Whitley, Dorothy Block, Lieut. T. Breckenridge Clemons, E. B. C. Markle and Miss Ruth Englis.

The Saturday evening dinner dance at the Thousand Islands Yacht Club was one of the gayest of the summer season. An unusually large number of dinner and supper parties were given. Mrs. E. P. Wilbur, Jr., had seven guests at dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Ewing L. Rafferty of Bonnie Castle entertained three persons; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fraser of Syracuse had ten guests at dinner; Mr. and Mrs. W. Seavor Jones's party included six; J. H. Hammond's guests comprised four, while Commodore and Mrs. C. M. Englis had a party of eight, and General and Mrs. Joseph A. Johnston of Washington, D. C., entertained seven.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Rafferty and Brendan and Kevan Rafferty, their children, arrived Friday and will spend August with Mr. and Mrs. Ewing L. Rafferty at Bonnie Castle.

Mrs. Alexander R. Peacock and Miss Irene Peacock were the hostesses at the card party given Wednesday evening by the Ladies Welcome Club at the Thousand Islands Yacht Club.

Miss Mildred Caverly, who is a golf champion, arrived at the Thousand Islands in time to participate in the golf tourney at this resort.

General W. C. Heppenheimer of Jersey City, who was the guest of Commodore Charles S .Rees ata the Thousand Islands Country Club, has returned to his home. Miss Clementine Rees of New York is at present the guest of her brother at the Country Club.

Among the recent arrivals are Mrs. Herbert M. Shipman, who arrived Thursday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edson Bradley; Emerson McMillin 3d, who was doing Red Cross work in Rome, Italy, for the past few years, and Captain Rutherford of the British army. Mr. McMillin and Captain Rutherford are guests at the Edson Bradleys.

Admiral H. T. Mayo and Mrs. Mayo were among the visitors to the Thousand Islands during the past week. Sir Charles White, a former Minister of Finance of Canada, spent last week at this resort, and G. F. Fairchild, ex-Congressman, is a guest at the Thousand Islands House.

Captain R. H. Van Deiman of Washington, who was recently in attendance at the Peace Conference in Paris, accompanied by Mrs. Van Deiman, will arrive at Alexandria Bay next week and will stop at the Thousand Islands House.

The motor boat races, which will be run next week over the Thousand Islands Yacht Club course, under the auspices of the American Power Boat Association, are scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 13, 14 and 15. The entries announced by the regatta committee include Whip-Po-Will, the hydroplane of Commodore A. L. Judson of the Lake George Racing Association; G. A. Wood's Miss Detroit III. Mrs. G. A. Wood will enter a boat that has yet to be named. Two hydroplanes are entered from the Buffalo Launch Club. One of these boats is the Arab IV., and the other has not as yet been christened. Mr. William S. Waldron of the Kingston Yacht Club will enter a hydroplane, and A. Graham Miles's P. D. Q. IV. has been entered. At least two other boats will be entered from the Thousand Islands Yacht Club, but the owners and the names of the boats have not so far been given out.

Plans for the polo tournament are maturing rapidly, and George S. Hasbrouck, the president of the Polo Club at Alexandria Bay, expects about ten teams to contest for the many different cups that are to be played for. The Black River Polo Club of Montreal has entered a team, whose players will be W. R. Miller, J. H. A. Acer, H. B. McDougall, A. E. Ogilvie and J. C. Watson. Those who will compose the Thousand Islands Country Club team are: J. F. Black of White Plains, George S. Hasbrouck, A. Graham Miles, Laroque Anderson of New York, T. Ford of Buffalo and Clarence Smith of New York. The Miami Valley Hunt Club and many other teams will arrive the latter part of next week to participate in the tourney. The date of the tournament is August 23 to September 6.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cutler and Master Samuel Cutler of Brookline, Mass., are the guests of Mrs. Cutler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Rubsamen, at Murray Hill.

Mrs. George Russell of New York will arrive Monday for a stay of several weeks with her sister, Mrs. I. H. Jenney, on the houseboat Idlea.

PAUL SMITH'S, N. Y.

PAUL SMITH'S, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Among members of the summer colony on the St. Regis chain of lakes and at Paul Smith's Hotel, with whom both are popular, there is general satisfaction that Miss Ruth Lawrence Carroll and Eben Sumner Draper, whose engagement recently was announced, have decided to be married here in the attractive little married here in the attractive little chapel of St. John's-in-the-Wilderness. Cards were issued the latter part of the week but before he left for his home in Hopedale, Mass., on Tuesday Mr. Draper said that the wedding will take place at noon August 30. The service will be performed by the Rev. Walter H. Larom of Saranac Lake.

Miss Carroll is the daughter of Mrs. William Bloodgood Trowbridge of New York and Saranac Lake. Her fiance, who is the son of a former Governor of Massachusetts, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Trowbridge at Camp Menaga.

Campers recently arrived include Mrs. Robert Hoe, at Point Rush on the Upper St. Regis; Major and Mrs. Edward B. Close of New York, Dr. Walter B. James and family of New York, at their Upper St. Regis camp; George Brewster and family, on Spitfire Lake; the Rev. and Mrs. W. B. T. Smith, at Upper St. Regis camp.

Mancheste-in-the-Mountains.

MANCHESTER-IN-THE-MOUNTAINS, Vt., Aug. 9.—It was a popular victory when Maxwell R Marston became for the third time the winner of the Isham Cup at Ekwanok Country Club last Saturday. Mr. Marston's opponent, W. W. Patten of Schenectady, had many supporters and put up a plucky fight against the powerful Marston, carrying the match to the thirty-sixth green. Mr. Marston shares the honor of thrice winning the Isham Cup with Frederick Herreshoff, who was victorious in 1908, 1910 and 1911. Mr. and Mrs. Marston started for Philadelphia on Tuesday. Mr. Marston will play in no more tournaments before the national championship tournament, which will begin August 16, at Pittsburg.

Several Ekwanok members, including A. L. Walker, Jr., intercollegiate champion; W. E. Truesdell, senior champion; Dr. Clark Burnham of Brooklyn, and A. J. McClure of Lakewood played in the Vermont State Golf Championship tournament at Old Bennington this week. A few golfers, including Presley S. Maclaughlin, went from here to Schenectady this week to compete in the annual invitation tournament of the Mohawk Golf Club.

The Equinox House was filled to overflowing August 1, and the prospects are that outside rooms will be needed this month. At Ekwanok the golfers are so numerous that it is necessary to book starting time a day in advance.

James L. Taylor entertained at dinner recently F. F. Vandephoef, J. Appleton Allen, J. D. Wolfe, W. K. Quilhot and G. B. Plante.

Plans are progressing rapidly under the direction of George H. Thacher, Edward S. Isham apd others of the summer colony for the historical week being arranged for the benefit of Burr and Burton Seminary. There will be an exhibit of historic relics, an art exhibit, a series of tea and auction bridge parties and several evening entertainments, including an old fashioned country dance, the first week in September.

Manchester's Chautauqua week will be held on the outskirts of the village, beginning August 26.

The Misses Hoyt will give their annual vaudeville entertainment at the gymnasium next Friday.

On August 25 the historical play prepared and presented under the leadership of Mrs. Dorothy Canfield Fisher two years ago will be repeated in the gymnasium.

Stockbridge Colony Greatly Interested in Annual Meeting of Laurel Hill Association To Be Held September 5.

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 9.

ALL the Stockbridge colony was interested in the announcement Tuesday by Alexander Sedgwick that the annual open air meeting of the Laurel Hill Association would be held September 5. The speakers will be William Roscoe Thayer of Boston and James Byrne. The speakers will tell of conditions in Italy since the war. Mr. and Mrs. Sedgwick will give a luncheon at the Mansion for the officers of the Laurel Hill Association and the speakers before the meeting.

The idea of the Laurel Hill Association, the first village improvement association in America, sprang from a book written by Catherine Sedgwick, first of American women novelists, herself a native of Stockbridge.

The memorial meeting for the late Frederic Crowninshield, the eminent artist, who died in Capri, Italy, last year, at the Casino Saturday afternoon will attract many prominent artists and friends of the late artist. William Roscoe Thayer of Boston, Dr. Tracy Peck of New Haven, Conn, and William Lowell Harris, all intimate friends of the late Mr. Crowninshield, will be speakers. In connection with the memorial service will be an exhibition of Mr. Crowninshield's paintings, especially those of his later days, painted at his winter home at Toarmina, Sicily, where he produced many water colors and oils, and at Rome and at Capri. There will be also a number of his Berkshire works, painted in his studio at Stockbridge, where he had been established thirty years. The memorial service and exhibition will be under the auspices of the Casino Association, of which Mr. Crowninshield was president at his death. Edward B. Owen, Daniel Chester French, Bernhard Hoffman and Newton Mackintosh of the Stockbridge colony are the committee in charge.

Stockbridge music lovers went to the Casino to-night for a recital by Jacques Gordon, violinist, and Carlos Buhler, two young artists who have lately returned from Paris.

Art Exhibition.

The committee in charge of the eleventh annual exhibition at the Casino, where Berkshire artists will exhibit paintings and sculpture, have received many entries, and it is already established that the exhibition will be the largest held in the Casino. Walter Nettleton is chairman of the jury on the exhibits.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Chester French entertained the Lenox Garden Club Monday for the monthly meeting of the club. About seventy-five members went to Chesterwood at Glendale, where Miss Alice Lounsberry of New York spoke on "The Romance of Plant Discovery." There was a view of the French gardens. A tea was given in the studio, where were Mr. French's models and his work of the season. Mrs. Arthur W. Swann and Miss Joan Whitridge assisted Mrs. French and Miss Margaret French in the service.
