LOCAL MENTION.

Prepare fire-breaks.
Protect your hay and grain stacks.
Allen's cornerstore is being plastered.
Door and window screens at Conklin Bros.

Wait for Rees' "Acorn" cooking and heating stoves.
Vinton & Lovin have moved into their new store.

J. T. Hogan is building an addition to his flour and feed store.
Two good cows for sale-inquire at City Confectionery Store.

Frederick will keep almost everything, and sell at bottom prices.
The Herald returns thanks to S. Frye Andrews for a supply of vegetables.

Look out for bargains at Frederickson's new store. Will open Monday.
Mr. Gowdy will soon have the plasterers at work in his new residence.

Jos. Allen has placed a good plank walk in front of his Center avenue lots.
Before the cyclone strikes you get a tornado policy of W. H. Conklin, Hurley, D. T.

There are good prospects of getting a number of Minneapolis capitalists interested in Hurley.

Regular passenger trains commenced running on the "winter route" Monday, September 10th.

If you wish an extra quality of fifty cent Jap tea for thirty-five cents, call at the City Confectionery Store.

Hurley now has two church buildings in course of construction and work will be commenced on the third at once.
Jerry Manning has rented C. B. Harig's building on Center avenue and the carpenters are busy fitting it up.

Postmaster Allen received official notice yesterday that mail service would commence on the Dakota Central Oct. 1.

Fifty thousand dollars to loan on improved farms in Turner county (no commission) by Citizens Bank, Parker Dakota.

The engine, boiler and machinery are being put in position in the elevator, and next week will see everything in motion.

A Manitoba wave with frost accompanied struck this section last Friday night, causing some damage to late grain and vegetables.

The plasterers have the upper portion of the Northwestern depot nearly completed, and Agent Jones will have a fine suite of rooms in which to commence housekeeping.

Mrs. C. H. Goddard will give lessons on the organ on Friday this winter. Terms: $12 for 24 lessons. Parties wishing to take lessons will please leave their names at Daniel Dwyer's.

Mr. J. M. Gitchell, a worthy and suffering ex-soldier lately residing near Hurley, has gone to the Soldier's Home at Milwaukee, his health having become so poor that he is not able to work.

There is now no necessity of sending away for harness, or anything in that line, as Mr. Frank Miller, an experienced and thorough workman has established himself in business at Hurley. Call and examine his work and material and get prices.

There is a strong probability that there will be no fall term of court in this county. Judge Kildner's health is quite poor and he has applied for a leave of absence. The judge should be careful of his health as he will be needed when Dakota elects her first senators.

We are in receipt of a complimentary ticket to the first annual exhibition of the Southeastern Dakota Industrial Association, to be held at Yankton Sept. 25, 26, 27 and 28. As to the preparations being made, we call attention to the "announcement" in this paper. Let Turner county farmers exhibit some of their fine stock and agricultural products, and thus add to the fame of southern Dakota.

Nice, cold lemonade can be had at Jerry's.

A few choice residence lots for sale by R. Rees.
W. H. Conklin's residence is ready for the plasterers.

The big mignon has not been brought in yet but we are expecting it.

Hurley now has a first-class harness maker and he should be well patronized.
Rees has connected with Allen's sidewalk, and is in favor of incorporation.

It is claimed by knowing ones that the citizens of Bismarck made a clean $1,000,000 on the capital removal.

Don't forget the social and supper at the new Baptist chapel next Tuesday evening. Admission free.

The Mound City Paint and Color Co.'s paints at the Pioneer Drug Store are warranted and cheap. Try them.

James Hogan has taken the contract to move Chas. Frederickson's dwelling house from Swan Lake to Hurley, and will commence operations Monday.

A post of the G. A. R. was organized at Hurley last week, with C. A. Near as commander and C. M. Pier adjutant. The name taken is E. S. McCook post.

The new Baptist church at Parker was dedicated last Sunday, and the indebtedness, amounting to over $700, is now among the things of the past.

Mr. Frank Cory has been employed by Mr. Frederickson as salesman in his store and will occupy a portion of the second story of the building as a residence.

The household of Mr. Jas. Stout was increased Tuesday night by the arrival of a young blacksmith. Jim says he weighs four of a ton. Mother and child doing well.

The committee on boundary, name of state, and location of capital, of which Jos. Allen is chairman, reported in favor of Dakota as the name and Yankton for the capital.

Childswoman Chit-Chat.
People generally are making fire-breaks, plowing, haying and looking after Jack Frost. He did no damage worth mentioning but we guess the farmers on the bottom lands got a singing. However corn that was planted early will not suffer, and cattle will thrive on that which is soft.

We had a curious experience with a very gentlemanly skunk a few evenings ago. His excellency persisted in burrowing for grub in my garden, and would not confine himself to the prescribed claim of his lordship—the muling around the garden trees—but tore up things generally in his search for animal food. Concluding that discretion were the better part of valor we opened our powder his excellency not having the perfume of new mown hay. After cudgeling our brain for a while we concluded that he needed an emetic. Not having our medicine-case packages all labeled, by mistake we gave him strichnia, injected into the grubs affricated, and lo, and behold, instead of the expected effect, said skunk lay under the morning stars, in the cold embrace of death. Thus endeth the second skunk. Let all others read their epitaphs and pass by on the other side. Seriously, this is the worst country for vermin and destructive wild creatures we ever saw. Ducks, geese, chickens, pigs and cats die in every grove and gulch. We have heard of some farmers losing nearly a dozen fowls per night. The writer lost a valuable Cots-wold lamb by wolves, and immediately took vengeance by slaughtering two skunks and a badger; but the wolves are too sly. Seeing that we came off without the smell of fire on our garments we have contracted for firearms enough to settle this vexed question for while, at least so far as we are concerned.

No deaths, no marriages, and births are scarce, but there is time enough.

Geo. W. Marshall has nearly completed as fine a barn as Turner county can boast of.

This township has turned over more virgin soil this year than ever before.

The writer expects in a few days to be able to show up two of the finest young thoroughbred Short-horn cows, from one of Iowa's best breeders. Their pedigreed calves will also be included, and we hope from this small basis to build up a fine herd.

We, wife and Co. visited our beautiful burg on Sunday, attended church, took in large quantities of your pure air(baring the dust) and came home refreshed. We propose to do so often.

There is considerable road repairing necessary in order to place the highways in a condition for the delivery of the grain at the Hurley elevator.

Never saw the grass look so fine or hay crop so abundant as at present. You can see stacks of hay and grain this year where last was only gopher hills and wasted vegetation. Our prairie "blue-stem" and meadow grasses are fully equal to much of the tame grass, at least our cattle think so. We need tame grass pastures nevertheless, for just as soon as the wild prairie is pastured for a short time weeds and unpalatable grasses take the place of the more nutritious kinds.

Neighbor Unruh has just finished a fine five-wire fence around his pasture of five-quarter sections and it is literally crammed with sheep, mostly of the merino breed. His herd of cattle remains one of those "upon a thousand hills."

E. J. Jenks has his tree claim planted to a variety of trees, among them the catalpa. Farmers ought to know more of this very hardy variety and plant it. It not only makes good wood, best of posts, handsomest of foliage and flowers, but is positively hardy. So is the Russian Mulberry.

We can see your Northwestern trains very plainly when the air is clear and we want to see a branch road running through Childstown.

For Sale.
A new gold-mounted carriage harness, at VINTON & LOVIN'S.

UP IT GOES.

Hurley to Have a Five Thousand Dollar Hotel.

Arrangements have been completed and contract signed which will give to Hurley a good hotel. The building is to be located on the corner of Center avenue and Main street, having a frontage of fifty feet on Center avenue and extending south forty-eight feet. The main part of the building will be three stories and the kitchen two. Mr. T. W. Kite, the proprietor and builder will commence work at once and the building will be ready for occupation by the 15th of November.

A DAY'S DRIVE.

Dakota Prairie and Towns as Seen Through the Eyes of an Eastern Visitor.

Hurley, D. T., Sept. 2d, 1883.—Yesterday at 2 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. M. U. Hoyt, of Van, Nebraska, and Miss Anna Hoyt, of Yankton, Dakota, and Mrs. Jacob Hudson, (sister of Mrs. M. U. Hoyt) of Kalamazoo, Michigan, started from Yankton to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ledyard, of Sioux Falls, Dakota. The trip was delightful, and to one member of the party novel and picturesque—as beautiful as a dream of Eden. After crossing the James river, traveling northward and ascending a bluff the scene that met my eye was a panorama of unrivaled loveliness; undulating prairie with here and there lovely homes, tall, waving corn and crops of wheat, oats and other cereals gathered and stacked, and groves of trees planted at intervals. Many of these homes, which were "pre-emptions," "homesteads" or "tree-claims" a few years since, are now well stocked with fine herds of cattle, crops and implements of farming that would be a credit to the "Empire state."

The flora of this "land of the Dakotas" surpasses description. It is one grand "mosaic of nature" hue, form and perfume, infinite. "Methinks one is God!" I involuntarily exclaim as gem after gem is disclosed.

Prairie 100 miles in circumference was mapped out before me, embryo towns in the distance. Rolling prairie for miles, then a bluff; no trees except hundreds of artificial groves. Old Sol was shining upon us as the fleet steeds skimmed over this inland sea of the most luxuriant grasses and loveliest flowers that ever graced the bowers of paradise; a cool, delicious breeze fanned our brows, and not an insect on the wing to mar the day. Tarrying at the model farm and home of D. O. Lawrence, where taste, skill and comfort combine, as we sank into the easy chairs, couches and rockers of that cozy parlor and noticed everywhere evidences of the handiwork of our hostess, I could scarcely realize that I was nearly 1,000 miles away from my own beautiful Kalamazoo, with my only sister, whom I had not seen in twenty-four years. Here was an open prairie farm of 320 acres, of five years cultivation; wheat, corn, oats, potatoes fine melons and garden. Fine cattle and sheep are Mr. L's fancy, and about 300 of the latter graze on the prairie by day and are corralled at night, as the herd law prevails in Dakota. Our next stop was at a Danish home. "We are nine," replied Martina, as I inquired how many brothers and sisters there were in that chalk-stone house. Morning-glories, marigolds and old fashioned posies were blooming here, and a lovely grove of trees were planted from road to house. Roads everywhere are good. A lake, as they are called in Dakota, (like ponds on Grand Prairie) was patronized by flocks of ducks and geese. We passed Swan Lake. The town looked deserted.

The swans had taken not only their heels and departed, but houses also, and are now residents of Hurley, at which place we arrived at 8 p. m., the distance from Yankton being about thirty-five miles.

Hurley is a charming town, in Turner county, located four miles from Swan Lake, the county seat, and near the geographical center of the county. In May, 1883, scarce four months since, building operations commenced. The site is nearly level prairie. The main line of the Northwestern railroad, running between Chicago and Pierre, has lately been completed through the town and a nice and commodious depot built. Among the business places we find a large steam elevator and feed mill nearly completed, coal and lumber yards, dry goods, grocery, hardware, drug and flour and feed stores, with the usual complement of blacksmiths, carpenters, masons, &c. I find open-dealing, whole-hearted gentlemen and ladies in this enterprising, live western town that will soon, I predict, cope with eastern Michigan towns in thrift and wealth. Here willing workers make the bone and sinew of our beautiful land where the stars and stripes wave and the canopy of heaven is spread wide enough for willing hands. No drones are invited to stop at Hurley, nor tramps or idlers. If they chance to stop, "go west" till your shadow reaches oblivion, will be their welcome.

We were hospitably entertained over night, supped and breakfasted at H. B. Vinton's. Mrs. Vinton is a daughter of Judge Eldridge, of Yankton and granddaughter of Col. Thomas A. H. Edwards and great-granddaughter of Major Abram Edwards, of Kalamazoo. Mrs. Hoyt and Miss Anna Hoyt were delightfully entertained at Messrs. Allen and Brauch's.

During an impromptu call at Editor Brown's (Turner County Herald) cozy office and new home we were introduced to Mrs. B. and daughter Vera, a lovely child of two years, a petit ladic, eyes azure blue hair of golden hue.

Albert Allen and Clyde Vinton, the sons of our friends, real types of nature's noblemen, may they become worthy scions of the noble stock they represent, and grow to be placed among the solid men of our beloved county.

C. M. HUDSON.

SOLEMN TRUTHS.

Yankee Robinson's mammoth double show did not strike Hurley. But Joseph Allen's store is here. What next? Simply this: That in a few days he will be ready to show the people of this section a fine and complete stock of goods at rock-bottom prices.

The harvest is past, the summer is gone, and Joseph Allen still continues to invite his many friends to call and convince themselves that the old Pioneer Store is still doing her share in the way of making people happy.

Town lots are in great demand, and so is Allen's carpet-warp, hoop-skirts, ladies' and children's hose, gloves, ribbons, laces, &c., &c.

Everything goes! If you do not believe it call at J. Allen's store and be convinced.

Nothing was made in vain—the neighbor's say when they see the vast amount of goods daily carried in and out of Allen's warehouse just around the corner.

The Yankton Press of the 7th inst. says, "The Hutterite society near Bon Homme have sold over 600 bushels of Siberian and transcendent crabapples." Evidence of this nature is now of daily occurrence in the older settled portions of the territory, and the farmer who neglects to set out fruit trees is depriving himself and family of one of the most healthful, and at the same time cheapest luxuries that can be procured. The important step toward making a success at fruit culture is to get acclimated trees, such as are adapted to our climate and soil. Trees shipped from the east may live, but to make sure it is much better to purchase of home nurseries. There are now quite a number of apple trees in this county bearing fruit, on G. W. Marshall's place, at Childstown, Judge Stuart's near Swan Lake, S. F. Andrews, Spring Valley, and at numerous other points. These trees are from the nursery of O. G. Alderman, near Hurley, and he has thousands left, of which every farmer should purchase a quantity.

PERSONAL.

E. Brauch made a trip to Sioux City and return this week.

Mr. S. F. Andrews and wife and Miss Mary Andrews, of Spring Valley, gave the Herald a pleasant call Monday.

Mr. J. J. Mansfield, of Spring Valley, is now stopping at Grand Haven, Mich., which the Herald follows him. Hurry back, John, the Herald misses you.

Chief Engineer Hurley, of the Dakota Central, spent a portion of Wednesday in town. The Herald acknowledges a very pleasant call. Hints were dropped of some valuable improvements that were to be made soon.

Mr. E. T. Crosby, proprietor of the Huron Daily Leader, called at Hurley by surprise Tuesday and tried to pass himself off for a tramp; but it wouldn't work. He has traveled with the capital commission gang too long to play the role successfully.

Mr. A. G. Warren and Walter Stanley, of Jefferson, Ohio, returned to their eastern home last Monday, well pleased with their Dakota visit. Mr. Warren owns a half section of land near Hurley and will probably return and make his home. In the meantime he will watch the improvement and growth of this section through the columns of the Herald.

A Business Change.

The firm of Morrill & Packard having dissolved by the retirement of Mr. F. D. Morrill, their stock of goods has been purchased by Mr. Frederickson, who will stock his store with a large and complete assortment of goods. While we regret to see Messrs. Morrill & Packard retire from business at this place, the change will be one of benefit to the town as Mr. Frederickson will draw to Hurley a trade which could not be influenced by any of the other merchants.

Having purchased first-class machinery I am now prepared to bore wells to any depth. T. J. COAKLEY, Parker.

An Official Announcement of the Forthcoming Southern Dakota Exhibit.

This is the first annual fair of the South-East Dakota Industrial Association, to be held at Yankton, Dakota.

The people of this section have fitted up magnificent grounds, with a race track exceeding any other in the territory of Dakota, and will hold their first fair this year and annually hereafter.

Knowing the capabilities of this community, and realizing the important results likely to follow, the people of this section of Dakota unite in a hearty and well directed effort to render their fair a complete success.

With our remarkable fertile and productive soil, together with the energy and thrift of our farming population, we do not fear to compete with the whole world, therefore all sections of the country are cordially invited to exhibit and compete with us for prizes offered.

Farmers and others residing in outside states and territories, who desire to exhibit, will be allowed ample space and every facility for making exhibits upon application to the secretary of the association of their intention to do so.

As the raising of horses, cattle, sheep and swine is destined to become one of our most important industries, growers of blooded stock from all sections of the country are invited to exhibit same; every facility will be offered them to make a grand display.

An artesian well on the fair grounds will furnish an abundance of excellent water to all parts of the grounds.

The grounds owned by the association are situated directly north of the city of Yankton, are on the highest point in the neighborhood and are perfectly drained.

The buildings are the most elegant and commodious of any fair association in the Northwest. Separate stables have been erected for horses entered for speed, and horses entered for exhibition; sheds have been erected which will afford ample protection to stock of all kinds in case of wet weather. The board of directors will spare no expense to make everything pertaining to the fair of the highest character, satisfactory in every way to exhibitors and the public.

The secretary of the association will be pleased to give attention to all matters pertaining to the fair.

Address, J. H. S. YOUNG, Secretary, Southern Dakota Industrial Association, Yankton, Dakota.

Fun Let Loose!

Parties having watches, clocks or jewelry out of repair, leave them at Vinton & Lovin's, where they will receive prompt attention by a first class jeweler, at moderate prices.

Notice to Contractors and Builders.
