BOIES FOR GOVERNOR.

Chosen for a Third Term by Iowa Democrats.

RENOMINATED BY ACCLAMATION.

Lieutenant Governor Barlow Also Renominated After a Ballot—John Clig-gitt, of Mason City, for Supreme Judge. No Radical Action on the Silver Question.

DES MOINES, IA., Aug. 24.—The Democratic state convention was called to order by Chairman Fullen, of the state committee, who introduced Henry Volner, mayor of Davenport, as temporary chairman. Mr. Volner's speech of acceptance was liberally punctured with applause.

After a recess Cato Sells, of Vinton, was installed as permanent chairman. On assuming the chair Mr. Sells made a fifteen minute speech, in which he said that Republicans had been wont to accuse Democrats of an utter lack of principle and a willingness to fiddle, Nero like, while Roms burned and the liquor demon devoured whole families of Republicans. Amid convulsive laughter he assailed the present attitude of the Republican party on the liquor question. No longer in favor of a "school house on every hill top, and no saloon in the valley," they were now for the saloon as a measure of expediency, and were ready to locate a grog shop in every valley. Mr. Sells discussed the prevailing financial depression, and attributed it solely to makeshift Republican legislation.

There was a scene of the wildest enthusiasm when it was officially announced that Governor Boies had yielded to the importunities of his friends and, despite his prejudice against a third term, would accept a unanimous nomination if tendered. A motion was at once made, seconded by every delegate in the hall, and the present executive was declared the nominee by acclamation.

After Governor Boies had been renominated by acclamation the committee on resolutions reported a platform. The platform simply reaffirms the financial plank of 1892, the silver men uniting with the anti-silver men on this compromise, which has been practically the anti-silver program for some time. The liquor plank of the last two gubernatorial campaigns is also reaffirmed and several new state issues raised, such as non-partisan control of state institutions.

Two candidates were presented for lieutenant governor. They were L. B. Bestow, the present incumbent, and G. B. McFall, of Oskaloosa. McFall developed unexpected strength, but Bestow was renominated, the vote standing: Bestow, 602; McFall, 449. The nomination of Mr. Bestow was made unanimous.

There had been but little preliminary skirmishing with regard to the nomination for supreme judge. Six candidates were presented, and on the second ballot the votes came to John Cliggitt, of Mason City, so rapidly that he was nominated by acclamation before the vote was completed. State Superintendent of Education Knoepfler was renominated by acclamation and the ticket was completed by the nomination of Thomas Bowman, of Council Bluffs, for railroad commissioner.

Governor Boies then came into the hall and addressed the convention.

Wilson, of West Virginia; Sayers succeeds Mr. Holman as the head of the appropriations committee; Springer succeeds Bacon as chairman of the Banking and currency committee; Cummings succeeds Herbert on the naval affairs committee, and McCreary succeeds Blount as head of the committee on foreign affairs. The south gets thirty-two chairmanships and the north twenty-three.

OUR CONGRESSMAN.

The Impressions Made by the Pa. Members in the House.

A writer to the Hazleton Plain Speaker from the National Capitol says: "The Pennsylvania delegation in Congress will hold its own with any other state, that is as far as good sound sense is needed. They are a brainy lot. well fitted intellectually to take an active part in all congressional proceedings. The youngest member of the delegation. Howard Mutchler of Northampton county, who was elected to fill the vacancy caused by his father's death.

The young man is right handsome and his features indicate a happy disposition which on examination closer shows a life of contentment. In the short time that Congress has been in session he has made many friends all of whom look upon him as a worthy successor of his father, the late William Mutchler who was held in high esteem by his colleagues during the several terms he served in Congress. General Lilly of Carbon county came here the second day of the session and was sworn in Since then he has not been in attendance. He come here in a special car and was accompanied by some friends from Mauch Chunk. Notwithstanding his long spell of sickness he looked pretty good and for the short time he was on the floor of the House, he was warmly greeted by his colleagues. His health will not permit him to stay in this city during the hot weather, but as he is mending rapidly it is expected that he will be able to face the music more regularly after the regular session begins.

PUBLISHED BY REQUEST
Judge Dreher's Successor.

From the White Haven Journal.

As the constituency of the Journal is in a large degree within the territory of the Judicial district of the late Judge Dreher, we deem it our duty to lay before our readers our views as to the successor of Judge Dreher.

This district is composed of the two counties of Carbon and Monroe. The population and monied interests are largely in the county of Carbon. Monroe has no industries of a substantial nature, being largely agricultural, and this is of so valueless a character that litigation growing out of it is trifling and of little moment. Carbon has large property interests in mines in railroads, in iron works, and many citizens of great wealth.

Some of the greatest contests of the courts of Common Pleas in the State have been tried in Carbon county. Some of the most important trials in the history of criminal courts have had their adjudication there. And some of the largest estates brought to the Orphans' Courts of the State have been settled at Mauch Chunk.

In the face of these facts an effort is now on foot to again, for ten years, place upon the bench of this district a Judge from Monroe county. This effort is not alone confined to Monroe county, but is by indirection advocated and worked up by the little politicians of Carbon county.

The office of Judge is the most sacred in our official organization, it is one of the most important to every good citizen because it is the essential feature of a tribunal that goes to the very heart of our form of society. It is in this tribunal that our property rights are not only to be preserved and conserved, but also our liberty and our very lives. We cannot afford to take any risks in the creation and organization of this tribunal. Such efforts are beyond the little circles of politicians, or politics and of parties.

We therefore care little whether the Judge be Democratic or Republican; whether he be a politician, or one far removed from the narrowness of the class who not infrequently make our Congressmen, our Senators, our Assemblymen, and the leaders and officers of our county official roster.

The Judge should be learned, and a leader in judicial knowledge. He should be dignified, he should be of a temperament indifferent to parties or personalities. He should be patient, independent and honest.

In these requirements Carbon can present a distinguished citizen, one who can measure up to the best of the late Judge in the Commonwealth. He is not a politician. He can not "fix things" in Carbon after the manner of these men, nor can he set up counterfeit candidates in Monroe to embarrass real aspirants there. He can not make deals for the delivery of delegates for the support or the source of central authority and power. He can, however, bring to the bench Goddess of Justice, dignity, learning, independence, industry, honesty, and the other traits of character that go to make judicians.

In keeping with old-fashioned notions—now, alas, too much neglected—is the belief that a Judge should be taken from the most respected citizens of his profession, we unhesitatingly nominate for President Judge of the XLIII Judicial district, Allen Craig, Esq., an attorney-at-law for more than thirty years in his district, a gentleman among gentlemen, a student, a respected fellow citizen, a man who will bring honors to an honorable office, and one who will measure up to the requirements of a dignified and exalted station.

The commissioners received samples of the new ballot adopted for voters by the last Legislature, and which will be used for the first time next November. It is not near the size of the first kind used, and is only 9 by 10½ inches. There is a small circle placed at the head of each ticket. If the voter desires to cast his ballot straight, all he has to do is to place a cross within the circle. Any person who can neither read or write can vote the ticket "straight" now without assistance. All he has to remember is, that the second colum contains the names of the Democratic candidates, and the first the enemy. And whether he is able to read or write, he can surely tell what a circle is. As for his "mark" he'll get it in some how. Of course, like the first ticket used, when you want to "split" a "cross" must be put opposite the name of the candidate to be voted for, and just here is where the "heeler" gets in his work.

Complimentary to Prof. C. A. Ritter.

THE CARBON ADVOCATE heartily endorses this deserved compliment to Prof. C. A. Ritter, one of this county's old educators who has accepted a position at Watsontown, Pa. From the Daily Times: Prof. C. A. Ritter, late principal of the schools at Weatherly, Monday moved his family to Watsontown, Northumberland county, where he will fill a similar position during the ensuing year. Mr. Ritter has been teacher in Carbon county for eleven years, eight of which were put in a Weatherly. He was first elected to the Grammar school at that place, and five years later, upon the resignation of Prof. J. L. Potteiger, he was promoted to the principalship, filling the position ever since with credit to himself and to the schools. Mr. Ritter is a scholar in the fullest sense of the term. He is a close student, continually drinking at the the fountain of knowledge himself, and is as hard a worker is ever entered a school room. His numerous friends throughout the county hope that he has secured a pleasant and profitable position on the "North Branch." The directors of Watsontown certainly made no mistake in selection.
