AN EXPENSIVE GAME OF POKER.

A Newburg Doctor Wins $150,000 on a Single Hand—Charges of Fraud.

A dispatch from Newburg, N. Y., says: "At midnight last night Dr. Montreville M. Hedges, a dental surgeon and a sporting man, was arrested here on a bench warrant issued by Joseph F. Bassard, justice of the supreme court at Poughkeepsie. Hedges gave himself up. The complainant, Francis P. Weed, of this city, charges Hedges and William M. Scott, who is now dying of consumption in California, with cheating at games and conspiring to defraud. It is stated that the three played a game of poker in this city in June of last year, each betting $150,000 on a single hand, and Weed and Hedges lost. Weed now charges that the hands were put up by Hedges and Scott, they to divide the winnings. Weed had recently received from the estate of his deceased father a fortune estimated at about $500,000. Of the amount lost it is stated that Weed paid the defendants during the year over $100,000, having compromised for $120,000, and that $16,000 is yet due on an unpaid note. This Weed now desires to avoid paying and has begun attachment proceedings against Hedges and Scott to recover as much as possible of what they have already received. A house in Newburg, owned by Hedges, has been levied on by the sheriff of the county and an effort is being made to secure valuable trotting horses owned by Hedges, which are now at the races in the West, while legal proceedings have also been begun against Mrs. Hedges and the doctor's boy to secure any property there may be in their names. The affair causes much excitement here, some of the parties being highly connected. There are plenty of rumors of startling developments that may yet come to light.

Rioting in Cleveland.

More men went to work yesterday than day before at the Cleveland rolling mills and two more departments were started up. No violence was offered. No disturbance has been made other than some shouting by some idlers in the streets as the strikers go to labor. In the main the strikers have been very orderly, and it is doubtful if they are chargeable with the minor street conflicts, which in less exciting times would pass for mere drunken brawls and attract little notice. The strikers wear badges and no violence has yet been traced to them.

When work stopped last night in the Cleveland rolling mill the greater portion of the hands were put in railway cars in the yard and sent down town. About 75 Bohemians who live in adjacent districts were formed in line and marched between squads of police numbering 50, to the street cars, an eighth of a mile from the mills. The streets were filled with people and the police had to clear the way for a passage. When about half way to the cars the mob began a lively fusilade with stones and cinders, aimed at the workmen, but as the excitement increased the officers were fired at as well. Scarcely any of the officers or laborers escaped being hit and many were severely cut and bruised. Six of the stone throwers, some wearing strikers' badges, were arrested and lodged in the Central Station. The mayor and heads of the police department held a consultation in reference to the most effective method of preventing a repetition of the outbreak.

That poor bedridden, invalid wife, sister mother, or daughter, can be made the picture of health by a few bottles of Hop Bitters. Will you let them suffer? when so easily cured. jul-2wd&w

Nearly all the ills that afflict us can be prevented and cured by keeping the stomach, liver and kidneys in working order. There is no medicine known that will do this as surely as Parker's Ginger Tonic. See adv. jul-1mdeod&weow

JOHN WANAMAKER'S.

JOHN WANAMAKER'S,

PHILADELPHIA.

WEDNESDAY:

Designing and transferring a proper pattern is the first step in undertaking a piece of decorative needlework. The design may be wholly furnished by a craftsman; or, if you have the requisite artistic sense and invention, you may furnish more or less of it, yourself. In either case you will probably require the mechanical service of one whose business is to do such work.

It is scarcely necessary to say to dwellers in the city, who have already learned something of the various arts of embroidery, that we have a very comprehensive organization for preparing the materials of these arts, and for teaching the arts themselves, from first steps to the most advanced. But there are always beginners; and, as the season of summer leisure approaches, it may be wise to say that very little while given to learning by a fairly apt person is enough to enable her to kill time all summer in a delightful and engaging way.

We sell materials; but give the instruction. Our work-room for producing begun embroideries affords precisely the most perfect means of instruction in every class of work; and Mme. Mertens personally directs the whole, as she has done for years.

First circle, northwest from centre.

"Silk-and-linen" figured grenadines (silk-and-cotton really; but nobody knows them as silk-and-cotton), at 50 cents, The usual price is 75 or 85 cents; but we never buy them to sell for more than 50; and we don't think much of them at any price. They look very bright and handsome; new; but keep neither shape nor color.

But our best invitation is to rich and true goods. The queer turn of the season causes us to put down prices suddenly and savagely. The finest Lyons all-silk grenadines, glorious with solidity and beauty, are down a dollar, and more, a yard. Such grenadines are not to be found, except very meagerly, in any other store in Philadelphia, at any price; notwithstanding the recognized fact that our city buys the richest of goods. (Why our fashionable, or rather exclusive, stores don't keep such is a puzzle; but that's none of our business.)

Next-outer circle, south entrance to main building.

Dress-goods at half and two-thirds. It seems like asking one to "look a gift horse in the mouth" to describe some of these things. And yet some ladies do pay so little heed to the wise and otherwise names of stuffs, that names mean nothing to them. What is worse, advertisements say so much and mean so little as to discourage the reading of them.

You must learn to distinguish between those who give you real store news, and those who angle for you. Our real interest, if we are wise, enough to see it, is to tell you year in and year out, day by day, what in the store is best for the money that day.

Such staple goods as French melanges and small-check effects in fine wool and silk-and-wool are at two-thirds now in eighty or more different colors and fabrics.

But, whether we say it or not, remember always that we have, at some price, almost every sort of merchandise within our very wide scope.

Third circle, southeast from centre.

Summer underwear. Not all sorts; that would be too many; but many more than any one person will care to look at. You mean to pay about so much. You want to see all the best things at about that price; and, may be, you would like to be tempted a little by the sight and touch of things that you have never thought of buying.

Ladies' and children's merino and silk underwear; west of Arcade.
Men's and boys'; west of Arcade; also Market street, middle entrance.
