VOLUME XXVI-NO. 258. LANCASTER, PA., MONDAY, JUNE 30, 1890. PRICE TWO CENTS

DEATH'S VICTIMS.

WILLIAM H. SHULTZ, A FORMER LANCASTRIAN, DIES IN DELAWARE COUNTY.

A Native of New Holland and For Years a Member of the Firm of Shultz Brothers, Hatters of This City.

William H. Shultz, a former well known resident of Lancaster, died at his home at Moore, Delaware county, nine miles from Philadelphia, early on Sunday morning. Ten days ago he had a slight stroke of apoplexy, which was followed by one more severe last Thursday and another on Saturday night.

Mr. Shultz was in the 51st year of his age. He was a son of the late David Shultz and was born in New Holland. Many years ago they moved to Lancaster and three brothers, John, Henry and William, began the hat business at 31 and 33 North Queen street, where they did an extensive business for years. John was the first brother to die and several years ago Henry passed away, leaving William the last of that well known firm. Some years ago the deceased moved to Philadelphia and for a time kept a hat store in Kensington.

The deceased leaves a wife and three children. The eldest daughter is Mrs. Alice Raub, wife of Harry L. Raub, of this city. The other children are Miss Edith and Will, who live at home. Mr. Shultz was a member of a large family, of whom the following survive: David, of Tyrone; Joseph, of Oreville, Ohio; Mrs. Henry Russel, Kansas City; Mrs. Solon Boydston, Oreville, Ohio; Mrs. James MacCalmon, Holden, Missouri; Mrs. Edward Welchans and Miss Ella Shultz, of this city.

The body will be brought to Lancaster on Wednesday morning, and the interment will be made from the residence of Mr. Raub, at 118 East Chestnut street, at 3 p. m.

Death of George W. Hawthorne.

George W. Hawthorne died on Saturday afternoon at his residence, No. 406 South Queen street, in the 41st year of his age. He was taken with hemorrhages several weeks ago and they finally caused his death, as he was left very weak. The deceased was a son of C. S. Hawthorne, who at one time was register of the county and was born in Millersville. He was formerly a partner of his brother, A. F. Hawthorne, in the manufacture of roofing paint, but they dissolved partnership in 1883. Since that time the deceased has been in the same kind of business for himself. At one time he was a member of the firm of Hawthorne & Bachler, cork manufacturers. He was a member of the Mennonite church and the funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon with interment at Longenecker's meeting house.

Death of J. Monroe Kreiter.

James Monroe Kreiter, aged 69 years, died at his home in Harrisburg on Sunday. Mr. Kreiter was born at Lititz. He received a common school education, and at the age of 13 years was appointed a clerk to his father, Benjamin Kreiter, who was then prothonotary of Lancaster county, an appointee of Governor Wolf. He held this office for three years. In March, 1839, he went to Harrisburg and found employment in the store of the late John Rhoads. Here he remained for eleven years, and in 1850 he entered the Dauphin Deposit bank as clerk and teller. Eight years later he was made cashier. This office he held until 1869 when he resigned. Mr. Kreiter then became the superintendent of the O'Conner stone quarry, which business he followed for several years. Subsequently he became engaged in the real estate business, and by his excellent qualifications in this respect secured a large and profitable business. In 1878 he married Wihlelmina Robinson, who survives him. Mr. Kreiter suffered with cancer for the past three years, and was confined to his home since January. He will be buried at Lititz on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Moravian churchyard. Services will be held at his late residence on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Death of Florian Eckstein.

ELIZABETHTOWN, June 30.—Florian Eckstein, an old and highly respected citizen, died at his residence, on Hummelstown street, on Thursday evening. He was ill for a long time with dropsy. The deceased, who was aged 80, was a native of Germany, and came to this country many years ago. He had been in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad company for the last thirty years. He was also a member of the Relief association since its organization.

In early life he joined the Lutheran church, of which he was a faithful and consistent member up to the time of his death. A widow and two married daughters, Mrs. Clepper, of Maytown, and Mrs. Daniel H. Brandt, of Elizabethtown, survive him. His funeral took place on Saturday afternoon and was largely attended. Religious services, held in the Lutheran church, were conducted by Rev. Fishburn. The remains were laid to rest in the Mt. Tunnel cemetery.

Death of Mrs. H. H. Hesslett.

Mrs. Jennie Hesslett, widow of H. H. Hesslett, died at her boarding house in Harrisburg on Sunday night. She was in delicate health for a long time, but grief on account of the sudden death of her husband four weeks ago hastened her life to an early end. Deceased was a native of Mt. Joy and was a niece of Justice McFadden, of that borough. Her many friends here will regret to hear of her death. When in Lancaster she was connected with the First M. E. church. Her remains will be brought to Lancaster for interment.

Before the Mayor.

This morning the mayor had quite a lively court. Daniel Rineer and Henry Hildebrand were the principal customers. They were arrested at Chester and Duke streets on Saturday evening while fighting, although Rineer says Hildebrand attacked him, knocking him down twice. Officers Dorwart and Hegener arrested the men and when they took them H. H. Pyfer interfered in their behalf. The first thing that he knew he was in the hands of Special Officer McGinnis and also found his way to the station house. The mayor made each of the offenders pay the costs, and Rineer says if Hildebrand does not pay him back his amount he will sue him for assault and battery.

Edward Spera, an old offender, was found in the yard of H. C. Moore, on East King street, on Saturday evening, by Officer Hoffman. He was attired in an overcoat and linen pantaloons and wore no shoes. The mayor gave him 90 days. Two other common drunks, who did nothing serious, were discharged upon the payment of costs.

Robbed In Jail.

Jerry Dungan has a mania for violating the law. It is immaterial to him whether it is burning a barn, embezzlement, false pretence or larceny. For the first three offenses he has done considerable time, and if prosecuted for the fourth he would be kept a while longer as a boarder at Keeper Smith's hotel. He is now serving a term for obtaining a sewing machine by false pretense. He is an expert shoemaker, and Boss Shoemaker Buckius put him to work in his department after his conviction at the last term of court. The boss thought his valuables were safe in jail and a few days ago he carelessly left his purse on a stand in the shoe department. He was called away for a few moments and on his return the purse was where he left it, but the contents, $7, were gone. There was no one in the room but Dungan, and of course he denied it. A search was made and the money was found secreted; then Dungan admitted the theft.

Baptism by Immersion.

The sacrement of baptism by immersion was administered in the stream near White Oak, above Manheim, on Sunday. Twenty-two people were immersed, and the minister in charge was Rev. L. B. Kramer, pastor of the Manheim U. B. church.

Two persons were immersed in the Little Conestoga creek, near the Marietta turnpike on Sunday, by the pastor of the Mulberry street U. B. church.

Five members of the Ephrata U. B. church were baptized by immersion in the Cocalico creek, near that village, on Sunday afternoon.

A COLORED BOY DROWNS.

Wm. Green Loses His Life While Bathing In the Conestoga On Sunday.

There was another drowning accident in the Conestoga creek on Sunday afternoon, making the second within a few weeks. In the neighborhood where it occurred quite a number of people have lost their lives within a few years. The name of the person drowned was William Green. He was a colored boy, about 17 years of age, and he lived with Albert Mitchell, his stepfather, and mother, at No. 411 East Strawberry street, a few doors from South Queen. The boy was well known about the streets, as he has been working as a bootblack for more than a year past, although for a time he drove a cart for Daniel Schwebel.

Green and several other colored boys went out to the creek after dinner to bathe. They stopped at a point known as the Deep Hole, which is near a bend in the stream, about two hundred yards above Peter Fordney's old ice house. Some of the boys, including Green, took their clothing off on the north bank of the stream and went into the water, where there were also a lot of white boys. This was between one and two o'clock and, after a time, Green, who was not much of a swimmer, attempted to swim across the stream. He reached a point about twenty feet from the south bank, where the water is from 12 to 15 feet in depth. Suddenly his companions noticed that he was acting strangely, and they thought that something was wrong. Green seemed to jump straight up in the water and he yelled to Eph Morris, another colored boy, who was near to him, that he was drowning and asked him to assist him. Morris is not a very expert swimmer, but he managed to reach Green's side. He caught hold of him, but as Green was much heavier than him he feared that he might carry him under the water and he would lose his life. Green sank but came to the surface of the water four times before he went down for the last time. Morrell McDevitt, a young white man, dived several times at the spot, but, on account of the cloudiness of the water, he could not see Green. It is said that the boys in the stream could have saved Green if they had tried very hard, but they seemed afraid.

The alarm that a boy was drowned spread very rapidly through the southern section of the city and it was not long until several hundred people had gathered on the banks of the stream. Ernest Arnold, Adam Gerhart and John Shertz, who live near, went to the place with boats and long grappling hooks. With Fred. Shoffstall and others they searched for fully three-quarters of an hour before they found the body. When they did they succeeded in raising it with their hooks and took it ashore. The mother of the drowned boy had learned of the accident in the meantime and before the body was found she arrived at the place with her husband. Her grief was very great and she stood on the banks of the creek moaning and crying. When the body was finally brought ashore, she looked upon the face of her boy and cried piteously. She finally had to be taken home by her husband.

Soon after the boy had sunk word was sent to Mayor Clark, who was in his office. With Chief of Police Borger he drove out to the creek, where he arrived just as the body was recovered. By his orders it was again placed in a boat and taken down to Reigart's Landing. After a while the coroner arrived accompanied by Dr. Bolenius. A jury was impanelled, consisting of Geo. M. Borger, Sherman Doebler, E. S. Kurtz, H. H. Hensel, John Hess and Richard Apperly. In the presence of an immense crowd of people, many of whom were colored, an inquest was held. The evidence of those who were at the place and the men who found the body was heard. In addition to the facts above, it was shown that once when Green arose it seemed that he was bleeding about the head and face. Whether this was caused by striking a stone at the bottom of the creek or not, is not known. There was a small mark or cut on the right side of his face, but the the boy is supposed to have been taken with cramps. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental drowning, after which Mayor Clark had an undertaker go to the place and take the body to the boy's home.

Albert Mitchell, the stepfather of the boy has lived in Lancaster about two years, having moved here from Middletown. He is a strapping big, muscular man, with shoulders of tremendous width. He carries the hod and does other laboring work. The boy made considerable money shining shoes and was a help to his family.

The family of the drowned boy is in destitute circumstances and too poor to bury the deceased. This morning the mayor gave his policemen books to collect sufficient to cover the expenses, and they called upon the citizens for subscription.

REV. GEO. M. DORWART ORDAINED.

He Is Made a Priest of the Church by Bishop Rulison.

The early morning service at St. James' Episcopal church on Sunday was conducted by Rev. Wm. Dorwart. At the 10 o'clock service Rev. George M. Dorwart was ordained to the priesthood, and this interesting ceremony, the first of the kind for many years in St. James', attracted a very large congregation.

Bishop Rulison was assisted in the ordination services by Rev. Percy J. Rowbottom, rector of St. James', Rev. Wm. Dorwart, a brother of the new priest, Rev. Francis E. Schroeder, and Rev. Montgomery R. Hooper, of Yeates institute. Rev. Hooper presented Rev. Dorwart for ordination, and the replies of the candidate were clear and firm.

The sermon was preached by Bishop Rulison. He dwelt on the three-fold order of the ministry—bishop, priest and deacon, referred to the duties of the priesthood, and showed the necessity of the congregation and priest being in perfect accord, to aid and strengthen each other. After the ordination communion service was held.

The altar was handsomely decorated with flowers in honor of the extraordinary occasion. Among those present at the ordination were several of the members of his congregation at Summit Hill.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

C. B. Bruner Thrown From His Buggy on College Avenue.

On Saturday evening there was a report on the streets that Casper B. Bruner, the well known freight agent of the Pennsylvania railroad company in this city, had been seriously injured in a runaway accident, but very fortunately it proved untrue. Mr. Bruner is one of the owners of good horses who take their steeds out to College avenue in the evenings to speed them. On Saturday evening he was driving quietly along the avenue when another team came up behind and his horse started to trot. Mr. Bruner did not get control of the animal and he ran to the side of the street, striking against the large stone which is used for getting into carriages in front of St. Joseph's hospital. The buggy was upset and Mr. Bruner was thrown out. Although he was considerably bruised he had no bones broken, although he might have been far more seriously injured. The horse ran to the corner of Marietta avenue, where he dashed into a telephone pole that stands along the side of the street. The buggy struck the pole and was pretty badly wrecked and the horse was caught before he attempted to go any farther.

Disturbed a Religious Meeting.

Jacob Cantor was heard by Alderman A. F. Donnelly on Saturday afternoon on a charge of disturbing a religious meeting. The defendant is a member of the Russian Hebrew church, on Locust street, and the testimony showed that Cantor had been a frequent disturber of the church gatherings since he and his friends were defeated for church officers a few months ago. The case was returned to court and Cantor gave bail for his appearance. He is now making an effort to settle the case and promises to leave town and remain away if the prosecution is withdrawn.

Salaries Adjusted.

The adjustment of postmasters' salaries has been made. The following have been given increased salary: Lancaster $3,000, Columbia $2,000, Mt. Joy, $1,400, Ephrata $1,200, Marietta $1,400, Manheim $1,500; Lititz $1,000 instead of $1,100.

Given Pension.

Jonathan Zoller, Beartown, has been granted a pension.

DARK DAYS FOR BRAZIL.

THE PRINCIPAL BANK OF THE REPUBLIC SUSPENDS PAYMENT.

The Failure Causes a Panic On the Bourse on Saturday and a General Feeling of Distrust Prevails.

LONDON, June 30.—The Buenos Ayres correspondent of the Times telegraphs that the National Bank of Buenos Ayres suspended payment on Saturday, and that shares of the bank fell from $1.68 to $1, and closed at $1.18.

A panic was created on the bourse at Buenos Ayres, and a general feeling of distrust prevailed. Gold commands a premium of $1.48.

EIGHT CARS WRECKED.

A Broken Coupling Causes Much Damage—Pacific Express Strikes the Debris.

The amount of property that the Pennsylvania railroad has lost by wrecks on the Philadelphia division this summer has been very large. Another was added to the long list on Sunday morning, at North Bend, between Christiana and Atglen. At this point there is a sharp curve on the road, and it has been the scene of numerous wrecks in days gone by.

It was between 12 and 1 o'clock when this accident occurred. A freight train drawn by engine No. 1,283 was going east when a coupling broke and the train divided into two sections. The first section ran some distance ahead of the other for a time, but before the trainmen found out what was the matter the rear section caught up and ran into the front part. Seven cars, loaded with coal, and one box car were piled up on both the north and south tracks and were badly broken. Their contents were spilled all about and the track for a considerable distance was torn up. The second section of Pacific Express west was due shortly after the wreck had occurred. The engineer did not get the signal to stop in time to prevent it and his engine, which was No. 672, dashed into the part of the wreck which lay upon the north track. The pilot and headlight of the locomotive were broken and the engine was otherwise damaged. The train was made up of sleeping cars, which were filled with passengers, who were quietly sleeping, and few knew anything of the narrow escape they had made with their lives. Engineer Shultz remained at the throttle and reversed the engine the moment that he saw it was going to strike the wreck. This undoubtedly prevented a much greater smashup and undoubtedly saved many lives. After the accident the wrecking crews were sent for, but it was several hours before the tracks were cleared. Robert Gemperling, conductor of the freight train, was slightly injured about the legs, but there was nothing beyond bruises.

Millard Hilton, a young man, who is employed by the railroad company, as a repairman at Pomeroy, received orders to go to the wreck. He attempted to board a freight train for the purpose of riding to it. He caught hold of the irons on the front part of the caboose but his hands slipped, and he fell under the car. He had one leg cut off below the knee. He was taken to Parkesburg, where Dr. Parke amputated and dressed the leg, after which the young man was taken to the Presbyterian hospital, Philadelphia. He is 23 years of age and unmarried.

A SMALL WRECK AT COATESVILLE.

Saturday a wreck occurred at the Coatesville bridge. Two cars jumped the track just west of the bridge and they were dragged on the bridge some distance before the train could be stopped. About twenty-five beams of the floor of the bridge were so badly torn and broken that they had to be replaced by others. Master Carpenter Beard sent a force of carpenters down from this city and they made the repairs. The south track was blocked for two hours.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Geo. H. Danner is Dragged by His Team and Cut and Bruised.

MANHEIM, June 30.—Geo. H. Danner, the well known merchant of this place, met with a serious accident on Saturday, shortly before noon, while returning home. His horse, attached to a carryall wagon, ran away, throwing Mr. Danner out and dragging him a considerable distance. He was brought home by Dr. J. Francis Dunlap and is attended by that physician and Dr. John M. Dunlap. No bones were broken, but in addition to cuts in the face and body Mr. Danner has sustained internal injuries which are of a serious nature. Although doing well he suffers much pain, and his condition is looked upon with considerable apprehension. The wagon was badly broken and the horse is considerably cut about the hind feet.

Messrs. Luther J. Peter and W. J. Geiss, students of Pennsylvania college, Gettysburg; W. Frank Oswald, of Bucknell University, Lewisburg, and J. Samuel White, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Baltimore, are home spending their vacation with their parents.

The members of the Episcopal church held a successful raspberry festival on Saturday evening.

THE DEMOCRATIC PICNIC.

The Committee to Select a Place For It Visit Penryn.

The Young Men's Democratic society are thinking of holding their annual picnic at Penryn park, and the committee to select the place met and had an interview in this city with S. S. Neff, superintendent of the Cornwall railroad, on Friday evening. On Saturday Mr. Neff sent a special train to this city, which took the committee, with several friends, to the number of fifteen, to Penryn. They strolled over the grounds and inspected it after which they enjoyed the fine game of ball between Lebanon and Altoona. They returned in the evening by the regular train, after being nicely entertained by C. W. Eckert, reaching here at 9:30. The committee have not agreed upon what they will do, but they will make a report at the club meeting to-morrow evening. If Penryn is chosen the picnic will take place on Thursday, July 31st. The railroad will make arrangements to haul the excursionists or those who intend going to Lebanon, around the celebrated ore mines at Cornwall, which they will have ample time to inspect. On the day that the picnic is likely to take place the Harrisburg and Lebanon ball clubs will play a championship game at Penryn.

Major Panitza Shot.

The sentence of death pronounced upon Major Panitza for conspiring to overthrow the government of Bulgaria was carried out on Friday at Sofia. With a firm step he walked to the post alone, and saluted the military officers present. He was then bound to a tree. Just before the order to fire was given the condemned man cried out in a loud voice, "Long live Bulgaria."

Four regiments of infantry, with a battery of artillery, formed a hollow square. He blindfolded himself, stood erect in plain clothes and acted courageously throughout. Twenty-one bullets pierced his body.

Funeral Of Jacob Neese.

The funeral of Jacob Neese, took place yesterday from the residence of the deceased's son, at Walnut and Prince streets. There was a large attendance, especially of old soldiers, six of whom acted as pallbearers. The services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Esterline, and the interment was made on the soldiers' lot in Lancaster cemetery.

BASE BALL EVENTS.

The Ironsides and Solar Tip Clubs Play a Good Game.

On Saturday afternoon the Solar Tip ball club, of Philadelphia, came to Lancaster and engaged in a contest with the Ironsides, of this city, on the grounds of the latter. The game was quite interesting and the score was as follows:

THE TYCOON WINS.

The Tycoon club went to Millersville on Saturday and played a game which resulted in a victory for the Lancaster boys. Jeffries pitched a good game for the Tycoons, as but six hits were made off him and he struck thirteen men out. The fielding of both nines was wretched.

Two-base hits, Stult and Steel. Base on balls, Millersville, Tycoon 8. Struck out—by Jeffries 13, by Noble 3.

The games of ball on Saturday in the different leagues and association were as follows:

Players' League—Philadelphia 6, Boston 4; Brooklyn 10, Cleveland 1; New York 4, Pittsburg 2; Boston 6, Chicago 5 (ten innings).

National League—Philadelphia 6, Cleveland 5; Brooklyn 8, Chicago 4; Boston 9, Pittsburg 1; Cincinnati 12, New York 3.

American Association—Toledo 3, Athletic 1; Louisville 6, Brooklyn 3; Columbus 7, Syracuse 5; St. Louis 10, Rochester 5.

Interstate League—York 9, Easton 8; Harrisburg 7, Allentown 6; Lebanon 4, Altoona 4 (13 innings).

The Sunday games in the American Association resulted like this: St. Louis 13, Rochester 7; Louisville 9, Brooklyn 3; Athletic-Toledo stopped by rain in fourth inning.

There was a great game of ball at Penryn between the Altoonas and Lebanon clubs on Saturday afternoon, and there were about 600 people present. The game lasted thirteen innings, when it was drawn with the score standing 4 to 4. It was claimed that the darkness, caused largely by the trees in the background, prevented the players from seeing distinctly, but the real reason for calling it a draw in all probability was that the clubs wanted to play again to-day.

That energetic reporter of ball games in Lebanon for the Philadelphia Press says of Saturday's game: "The Lebanon club put up the grandest game ever played in the Interstate League." The score, however, shows that Altoona outbatted and out fielded the Lebanons and very hard luck only prevented them from winning.

Dean was to have umpired in Lebanon on Saturday, but failed to show up. Two players did the work as well as Dean could have done.

"When Altoona comes here they live in one of the finest hotels in the city. When Harrisburg goes to Altoona they want the visitors to sleep in pens. We'll bring the Ponies home every time such unfair treatment is practiced—mind that!"

That piece of news is from a crazy Harrisburg reporter, who thinks that is an excuse for Farrington taking his team away from Altoona on last Tuesday night. A man who really wanted to play ball and could not find a place for his team in a city like Altoona is not fit to manage a club.

Manager Zecher, of Altoona, is playing short stop away out of sight. He has accepted 72 chances in the recent games without an error. The members of his club all admire him as a manager.

The Lebanon club has improved wonderfully lately and Mr. Humes, a clerk in the Cornwall railroad office, is said to be the man who has brought it out.

Daily was hit thirteen times by Altoona on Saturday and towards the close of the game he was so weak that he could scarcely get the ball to the plate.

The Actives defeated the Marietta club on the old Ironsides grounds on Saturday by a score of 28 to 14.

Children's Meeting.

LITITZ, June 30.—Yesterday Children's Day was observed by St. Paul's Lutheran church. The children's service was held at 6 p. m. The pulpit was adorned with an abundance of potted plants and cut flowers of great beauty. The following programme was rendered: Singing by the school, "Coming With Rejoicing;" invocation by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Bobst; ten commandments repeated by the school in concert; singing, "The Royal Army;" Welcome to School, by the pastor; Welcome to Friends, by the superintendent, Mr. W. Amer; singing, "Lo the Air is Full of Music;" floral sermon No 1; responsive exercise; singing, "Blest Sabbath of Flowers;" recitation by six girls, "They Neither Toil Nor Spin;" singing, "What is the Theme;" Scripture recitation by the infant class; singing, "Jesus Blesses Children Still;" recitation, "The King and His Flowers," by Katie Frederick; singing, "When the Trees are Robed;" the Lord's prayer; floral sermon No. 2; responsive exercise; singing, "Rise for Jesus;" address by the pastor; recitation, "Give," by Ada Habecker; singing, "Ere the Hours of Day are Waning;" doxology and benediction. The collection was taken up for the benefit of the Loysville orphan school.

The W. C. T. U., of this place, will serve lunch to the public on July 4th in the corner store on Broad street.

A CHINAMAN'S ADDRESS.

You Phou Lee, a Graduate of Yale, Talks In Olivet Baptist Church.

Olivet Baptist church was crowded on Sunday evening, the occasion being an address by You Phou Lee, a graduate of Yale college. The Chinese residents of the city were invited, and eight of their number were present. The speaker talked to his fellow countrymen in their own language, and they listened attentively to all he said. Mr. Lee's talk in English was on missionary work among the Chinese. He spoke of the difficulty of Americans learning the Chinese language so as to do missionary work in that country. He was an advocate of the plan of educating the Chinese for missionary purposes, because they can do more and better work than the American missionaries in that country. His English address was interesting.

The plan of educating Chinese is about being given a trial. A Chinese Christian home school will be opened in Bladen county, North Carolina, on August 25. Rev. Walter P. King, of this city, will be the principal. A farm of several hundred acres has been secured with suitable buildings. The courses of instruction will consist of English, mathematics, science, Chinese, manual training and theology. The proposed school is strongly indorsed by teachers and workers among the Chinese in all the large cities, and indications point to a large attendance from the start.

Will Locate In Columbia.

Reuben Spangler, who has been employed at Buehmiller's, in this city, left to-day for Columbia to accept a responsible position in the plating and polishing department of the Keeley stove works.

Gave Bail For a Hearing.

S. U. Eichenberg, of Millway, charged with forgery by Henry Pfautz, was arrested on Saturday afternoon by Detective Barnhold. He gave bail for a hearing before Alderman Halbach to-morrow afternoon.

FATALLY SHOT.

A MAN KILLS HIS NEIGHBOR AND A WOMAN SLAYS HER FATHER.

Mistaken for a Burglar a Chicago Miss While Closing the Blinds of a House, Receives a Mortal Wound.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Miss Mary Leonard, residing at 234 Ewing street, was fatally shot last night just before midnight by Joseph Dutton, who lives next door. At the hour mentioned Mr. Dutton was awakened by his wife, who told him some one was endeavoring to get in at the window. Mr. Dutton took his revolver and fired through the shutters, which were closed. The report from the revolver was followed by a scream from a woman. On going out Mr. Dutton found Miss Leonard lying upon the sidewalk. A physician said she could not recover. She said she had found the blinds of Mr. Dutton's house open and was in the act of closing them when the shot was fired.

Shot Her Father.

MILWAUKEE, June 30.—John Goodrich, aged 56 years, was shot and fatally wounded by his daughter Lizzie, aged 28, at the family home just outside the western limits of the city, last night. The girl says her father came home drunk and began flourishing a revolver, and that in the struggle to get possession of the weapon he was shot. The location of the wound, which was in the back just above the hips, is not favorable to her story, and the young woman was placed under arrest. Goodrich was confined at the Kankakee, Illinois, insane asylum a few years ago, but had recovered his health.

State Board of Health Inspecting.

The state board of health visited the State Normal school at Millersville on Saturday and inspected that institution. They found the drainage and sewerage in good condition, as they exspected, but what they were specially looking after was a nuisance complained of, where this sewerage passes into the Little Conestoga creek. After the sewerage leaves the school property it passes through several farms and empties into the creek on the Herr farm. There it accumulates and in warm weather becomes offensive. This is not a new difficulty, but has existed for many years. The board at its annual session, on July 15, will discuss the best means of abating this nuisance.

The members of the board who were at Millersville were Dr. Benjamin Lee, Dr. Pemberton Dudley, Howard Murphy, Dr. George G. Groff and Dr. S. T. Davis.

The Long Distance Fly.

The carrier pigeons owned by Thomas Humphreyville, of this city, which were liberated at Charlotte, North Carolina, on Thursday morning, made good time reaching this city. The birds were all started at 4:50 in the morning by the United States signal service officer just as the sun began to peep. The first bird arrived home in 13 hours and 22 minutes, and others came in later. This is just one-half yard per mile slower that the best time made for that distance. The signal officer says the birds were slow to leave, but sat on his roof for a time. He finally pushed them off, and after they had circled around for a time they started for home.

A Trio Arrested.

Saturday evening the police visited the house of Sarah Baumgardner, a white woman, who lives in Breneman's court, and arrested her, with Mary Lowe and Anna Johnson, colored. Mrs. Baumgardner was charged, before Alderman Baker, with keeping a disorderly house, but that case was dismissed and she got five days for being drunk and disorderly. Anna Johnson was charged with being incorrigible, but that case was also dismissed, and she and the other girl got 24 hours each in jail on the same charge that took Mrs. Baumgardner out.

PERSONAL RIGHTS.

A Strong Letter From Judge Tuley to the Turners of Chicago.

Ten thousand people assembled on Sunday at the annual games of the Turner societies of Chicago and listened to a letter which aroused decided interest. It was from Judge Murray F. Tuley, one of the oldest and best known jurist in Chicago. The letter was addressed:

"To the Chicago District Turners, as members of the Personal Rights League," and read as follows: "I regret that I am unable to accept your kind invitation to be with you to-day, but permit me to say, however, that I am in hearty sympathy with the objects and purposes of your society. I regard your association as one of the most important factors in the preservation of the liberties of the people now existing in this country.

"The 'preservation of personal rights' and the 'maintenance of liberty' are convertible terms.

"Just so far as an individual is deprived of his personal rights, just to that extent is he in slavery. Every law which directly or indirectly forbids the exercise of or abridges a man's 'personal rights,' deprives him to that extent of his liberty.

"When such abridgement of personal rights is not for the benefit of all the people, it becomes unjust and tyrannical legislation.

"But the danger to liberty is not so much from unequal or tyrannical legislation as it is from the ignoring of written laws, and the usurpation—by executive officers—of powers and authority not granted by law.

"Where (as far in this city of Chicago) the police arrest on bare suspicion and without warrant persons not found in the act of violating the law; when the police undertake to determine who shall not meet in open public assemblage to discuss political or economic questions; when, after 100 years of liberty in this country, a citizen is arrested without warrant, consigned to a prison cell for eight long days (a recent case in connection with a dynamite bomb found at the Haymarket monument), and is prevented from communicating with his friends, denied the privilege of consultation with his legal adviser, and is not even informed of the nature of the accusation against him; and when, in answer to a judicial mandate, the door of his prison cell is opened, and the officers of the law required to show cause why this violation of the citizen's personal rights, the chief executive officer of the police 'makes return' to him, this freeman's writ of 'habeas corpus,' that he arrested this citizen upon the letter of an unknown party, and detained the citizen in prison while trying to find such unknown party, 'a return' the like of which never before disgraced the records of a civilized country: when 'trial by newsp
