D. G. Culver, Ky.	48	C. S. Hart, Pa.	18

The market to-day shows the curious anomaly of ordinary stock, of medium fatness, outselling in price per pound for the net weight of the beef the most superior fat cows that will dress inside cut each. Upon the whole we have not thought it to vary the aggregate of fat stock materially, except in these two points; cattle that would rate extra, or premium paid at shop, while cattle of a lower grade sold at 8c, and more of them this week at 8c than last week, while the average quality is not as good, though by no means poor. In fact there are no poor droves in market, but there are some very fine ones.

COWS AND CALVES.

We have no change for the better to report in the Cow market. The receipts continue light and the sight of a swill-milk stable from about the market would be a curiosity. Some fat milch cows are getting out of the business as fast as possible, but we noticed one verdant chap just getting in, and, judging from the price he asked, he will get rich—when he sells, which will not be immediately, at $70 for a common Cow. Calves are plenty but only very good ones will bring big live weight.

THE SHEEP MARKET.

An increase of 1,150 head of Sheep this week over the number the last week, has had the effect of not only reducing prices but has made a dull market all the week, and some of the fattest will not sell at a paying price. A lot of Kentucky stall-fed Sheep that will weigh 100 lbs dressed, hang at $10 ea. lb. The arrivals have been very even this week, so there has not been a succession of good and bad days, and we think the average quality of the stock very fair, particularly the bucks, which will bring $5 pretty readily when good, as they always should be before being sent to the butcher.

THE HOG MARKET.

The animals are very odoriferous this hot weather, but the price is less strong. The receipts this week have not been large, but the price is very much depressed and it is difficult to sell the best at our quotations.

Philadelphia Cattle Market.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9, 1858.

A few extra prime Beeves were disposed of at $10.

SHEEP—There was an unusual supply of Sheep, the offerings amounting to over 2,000 head, most of which were disposed of at from $4 to $6 each, according to quality. The market closed dull with prices having a downward tendency.

HOGS—The supply of Hogs only reached 2000 head, 1800 of which were sold at $6.75@7.25 ⅌ 100 lbs.

COWS—The market was quite dull, the supply being greater than the demand. Some 275 head were sold at from $30@50 for good milk Cows, and from $25 to $40 for ordinary. Dry Cows are worth from $18 to $25.
