NORTH TURNER

Welcome! Sunshine!

Amos Jones of Hurley was in this vicinity Monday canvassing for a Yankton catalogue house.

The Samelson young folks spent Sunday at the Vasgaard home in Northeast Turner.

By the way some of the office seekers and one or two of the newspapers of the county are "warming up" to the Richard's Primary, they must believe the statement of Mr. R. that "the Minority of today is the Majority of tomorrow."

F. M. Cope, Pete Bowman and E. O. Dann, of Centerville, were making the rounds interviewing some of the committeemen in the south part of the county last Thursday in the interest of Mr. Dann, who is a candidate for register of deeds.

The Samelson boys have had some rather unusual experience lately while trapping skunks. They have succeeded in catching several, but the skunks seem to have friends (?) on the outside who help them out of the traps and the most peculiar thing about it is that instead of escaping with a whole hide they have no hide at all when found. Strange isn't it?

C. H. Luden is having his residence lighted with a gasoline lighting system. O. H. Pungler of Davis is putting it in.

Roy Christensen left last week for North Dakota where he will visit relatives.

Those interested in organizing a literary society met at the Knutson school house last Friday evening. The following officers were elected; Ole M. Odland, president; Jim Rasmussen, vice president; Clara Stensland, secretary; Joseph Jensen, treasurer, and Clarence Rasmussen, sergeant at arms. The first program will be given Dec. 19. Equal suffrage will be debated. A good program is being prepared. Come, join, boost and have a good time.

The Norway Lutheran church choir will give an oyster supper and short program at Odland's Friday evening, Dec. 12. You will miss a good feed if you don't come.

A. N. Buckenberg will leave for Norway Friday. He has purchased a farm and is going back to farm in the old country.

M. J. Bloom was elected democratic proposal committeeman from Norway township.
