Star of the North.

The best Gas Consuming Stove in the World!

THIS is the most wonderful STOVE that has ever been made, and the only one that can keep a CONTINUOUS CONSUMPTION of GASES, thereby producing a most CHEERFUL FLAME from ANTHRACITE COAL. By the novel arrangement of the apparatus, the oxygen of the atmospheric air is distributed equally over the whole surface of the fire-pot, in such a manner that each jet or flame, issuing from the central perforated plate and air chamber, shall meet in the corner of the throat, giv ng no chance for the Gases to escape, unless mingled with the oxygen, which produces a continuous flame, and thereby a large increase of heat. This combination makes it the most economical heating Stove in the World. Try it, and see if our statement is overrated.

The FLAME produced from these GASES makes one of the most CHEERFUL FIRES that can be imagined, and all from ANTHRACITE COAL.

The fire can be kept up through the whole season, with very little care.

One year's test has been made by the public, and the most satisfactory testimonials of all they have ever claimed for this Stove.

For sale by the subscribers, the only authorized Agents.

MORNING LEADER.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 22, 1858.

[From our own Reporter.]

WESTERN RESERVE HORSE BREEDERS ASSOCIATION—SECOND AND THIRD DAYS.—The Horse Exhibition at Ravenna has been a complete success. The efforts which have been made by the officers of the Society to give importance to the occasion, and to have all arrangements made which could add to the interest of the show, have resulted in the Pioneer exhibition of the Society proving one of the best Fairs of the season.—The crowd of the first day was large, and the receipts highly encouraging, but those at the second and third days greatly exceeded them. The receipts of the first and second days were $700, and it was supposed that the total receipts would be over $1,000. The number of entries was 148, which shows a fine appreciation of the efforts of the managers.

Notwithstanding the prospect of a fair day yesterday morning, it commenced to rain about noon and a drizzling, uncomfortable, penetrating rain mist came down during the rest of the day, rendering petulant ladies and turbulent gentlemen crow and snappish, and putting the trotting track in wretched condition. Notwithstanding this, a crowd of not probably not less than seven thousand persons was on the grounds. The order of exercises for Thursday were as follows:

At 9 o'clock A. M., best saddle horse of any kind.
" 9:30 " best span of domestic horses.
" 10 " single draught horses.
" 10:30 " stallions with colts.
" 1 P. M., single equestrianism. [for 4 yr's.
" 1:30 " fastest trotting horses and mares under
" 2:30 " on do geldings do over
" 3:30 " do do stallions. [4 years.
" 4:30 " mule race.
" 5 " procession of stock on the ground.

The exercises were, we are happy to say, all carried through with punctuality, being commenced just at the time advertised, for which the officers have the thanks of the visitors.—Promptness and celerity were two great features of the day.

The Ladies equestrianism at 1 o'clock was a great attraction, and fifteen ladies entered the lists for the prizes, which were respectively, $20, $15 and $10. The following are the names of the competitors: Mrs. R. B. Colton, Rootstown; Mrs. Sarah J. Canfield, Auburn; Mrs. Clarissa Ingersoll, Mrs. Eliza Williams, Northfield; Miss Sarah Ann Eckert, Miss Frank Stough, Ravenna; Miss Alvira Crawford, Twinsburgh; Miss L. E. Johnson, Mt. Union; Miss Cornelia Fraizy, Windham; Miss Frank Crane, Shalersville; Miss Harriet Doming, Franklin; Miss Annie Coe, Shaterville.

The ladies presented a beautiful appearance with their various colored dresses and gay saddle cloths. After their riding, the Judges, Messrs. J. P. Ross, Cleveland; Charles Leffingwell, of Ravenna, and Jas. M. Brown, of Massillon, presented the following resolution:

Resolved, That we, as Committee, find it difficult, in consequence of the large number of entries, to decide correctly as to the relative merits of the contestants, but as we have to make a decision, we have concluded to award the premiums as follows:—the 1st to Mrs. R. B. Colton, of Rootstown, and the 2d to Miss Frank Stough, of Ravenna, and the 3d to Mrs S. J. Canfield, of Auburn.

The ring was then cleared for the races for the day, which occupied the attention until the departure of the train for Cleveland. We were obliged to leave, therefore, before the mule race which doubtless afforded an infinite amount of fun.

The grounds were enlivened very much by the presence of a large number of ladies, of whose beauty we fear to speak lest we be thought too flattering.

We give below the list of premiums as far as they were rendered yesterday afternoon:

Class 1. Best Stallion for all purposes, 4 years and over,—Searcher Morgan; C. Lamb, Troy, Geauga Co., 1st prem.; Eastman Green Mountain; H. Sykes, Hinckley, Medina Co., 2cd prem.

Class 16. Best Saddle Horse of any kind.—J. C. Dow, Hudson, 1st prem., $10.

Class 17. Best Span Draft Horses.—A. N. Allen, Newton Falls, 1st prem., $15.

Class 12. Fastest trotting gelding or mares over 4 years. Purse of $30; mile heats; best two in three. Won by Wm. Fee's "Pluck," of Bazetta, in 3.13, 3.10.

Class 11. Fastest trotting stallions. Mile heats; best two in three. Won by J. H. Sykes' Green Mountain Morgan, of Hinckley. Time 3.07, 3.03.

The pleasure of the occasion was much hightened by the presence of Seibel's Band, of Shalersville, and the Brimfield "Rub-a-dubs."

The Ravenna people may well be proud of the success of this their first Fair, which has thus been gotten up in four weeks after the first formation of the Society. The thanks of the Reserve are due to the officers, who have done their duty nobly.

A little boy named Foote was somewhat injured by being run over by a hack, on Wednesday. No other accident happened.

Balloon Race and Collision.

The "Pride of the West," Prof. Steiner, and "Leviathan," Mons. Godard, shot up from Cincinnati nearly together. When about three miles from the city the balloons were within speaking distance, when compliments were exchanged in sparkling Catawba. A Mr. Hoel accompanied Mons. Godard. The balloons moved at the speed of 25 miles an hour. The Gazette says:

THE COLLISION BETWEEN THE BALLOONS.

Scarcely five minutes after, the balloons came in collision, at an elevation of some 5,000 feet from the earth! The balloon of Prof. Steiner drove rapidly toward its rival, so that the basket of the latter struck the former about midway of the balloon. Mons. Godard and his companion promptly forced it off with their hands, and Prof. Steiner shouted to Mons. Godard to throw out ballast, which he did, and rapidly rose above the Pride of the West and out of danger of any further contact.

The Æronauts were not again within speaking distance during the race. Steiner started ahead at an elevation of about 9,000 feet, and gradually gained upon his competitor. He found a strong current of air, and taking advantage of it by keeping at about the same elevation, made rapid progress. Mons. Godard soon after commenced to descend to within five or six hundred feet of the earth, creating the greatest excitement among the country people, who shouted like an hundred steam whistles.

Mr Steiner still kept the current which was rapidly carrying him north or north-east, at a hight of about nine thousand feet. At 6 o'clock he opened his basket of provisions, and sat down to an excellent supper, which he partook of while driving through the air at the rate of 50 miles an hour!

At 5 minutes past 6 he passed over Dayton, at an elevation of about ten thousand feet.—He cast overboard several dispatches, but found that the wind was so strong that they were carried several miles from the city. Nothing could be seen of Mons. Godard, and Mr. Steiner concluded that he taken the under current, and gone south-west. He passed over several towns, and sent down dispatches, but as he could hear nothing from the inhabitants, concluded that he was unobserved, and kept on his course.

THE AERONAUT GETS ASLEEP AND BRINGS UP IN A TREE TOP.

About half past 9 o'clock, the Aeronaut became very sleepy, and found it almost impossible to keep awake. The cold was quite benumbing. He sung songs, overhauled his traps in the basket to divert his attention, and finally attached about 5,000 feet of a guide line to his wrist, so that if he descended, the drag rope would awake him. He then threw out ballast and ascended to an elevation of about 11,000 feet, and unable longer to keep himself awake, quietly resigned himself to a comfortable nap.

About ten o'clock the Aeronaut was awakened by a crash, and found that his balloon had descended so low that the car in which he was enjoying a sound sleep, had struck in the top of a tree, in the middle of a small forest. The basket was turned nearly over, and the sleeping Aeronaut was thrown violently into the hoop to which the ropes were attached which united the basket with the balloon. The remainder of his supper was thrown out—his wine was cast overboard—a part of his ballast followed in the descent; his bundles of dispatches and papers kept them company. The shock was so great as to split the seat on which the Aeronaut was taking a siesta!

The basket righted in a minute, and the balloon being relieved of a considerable weight in the war of cold chicken and other "Walnut Street House" preparations for a long voyage, shot into the air with great velocity, so rapid that the Aeronaut opened his valve in order to prevent going, "away up yonder" amongst the stars. Before being stopped the balloon reached an elevation of 12,000 feet, and finding the atmosphere disagreeably cold, the Aeronaut commenced to descend.

Finding a good current at an elevation of 8,000 feet, Prof. Steiner managed to keep his conveyance in it, and proceeded at a speed of sixty miles an hour, when he discovered Lake Erie but a few miles ahead. The cement around his valve had become broken in the collision with the tree, and as he had already discharged a considerable quantity of gas, he did not deem it advisable to attempt to cross the Lake. The direction in which he was sailing would have carried him about North by Northeast from Sandusky to Long Point, on the Canada shore, some 150 miles. With a dense forest for a landing place, to escape which he would have been obliged to travel probably 300 miles, he opened his valve, and rapidly descended.

THE AERONAUT GOES TO SLEEP IN A CORN FIELD.

The balloon struck the ground about 500 yards from the lake, and dragged to within 300 yards of the water before the anchor took a firm hold. The landing place was about half a mile from Sandusky city, in a corn field, on the farm of Mr. A. G. Townsend. Prof. Steiner called loudly for assistance, but failing to arouse any body, he evaporated his balloon, and gathering a shock or two of corn stalks, he wrapped himself in his blanket and overcoat, and lay down by his "Pride of the West," and slept until daylight.

After enjoying a refreshing sleep, Professor Steiner proceeded to the farm house, and arousing the inmates, was carried by Mr. Townsend to Sandusky, where he shipped his balloon by express to this city, and himself took the morning train.

All this time from six o'clock, Prof. Steiner had no knowledge of his competitor in the race, but on arriving at a station on the railroad, some fifteen or twenty miles from Sandusky, Mons. Godard came on board with his monster "Leviathan." He had landed near Hunt's Corners, some eighteen miles this side of Sandusky.

IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT IN ENGLAND.—During the year 1856, upwards of eleven thousand males and six hundred females were imprisoned for debt in England. A few weeks since two men who had been occupants of debtors' prisons for eleven and six years respectively, were discharged from custody. The former was eighty-four years of age.

FOUNDLING HOSPITALS IN FRANCE.—There are now one hundred and fifty Foundling Hospitals in France, which, says the London Despatch, are sufficient to receive all the children that are abandoned by their parents in that country. One hospital in Paris takes in about five thousand children annually.

AN UNJUST JUDGE REMOVED.—Judge Clagett, of Iowa, whose injustice and petty tyrannies have been cause of complaint for some time, has been removed by the people. An attempt was made to impeach him before the legislature, but as his term was almost expired, that body declined to find the impeachment, leaving him to the people, and the recent election returns from that State, show that he is overwhelmingly defeated.

LARGE FRUITS.—Some of the fruits exhibited at the California State Fair were extraordinary. Among them was a pear weighing four pounds, a bunch of grapes weighing fourteen pounds, an apple weighing two pounds three ounces, a peach measuring twelve and one-half inches in circumference.

MORRISSEY TRIUMPHANT.—As most of our readers already know, the long agony is over, and Heenan has gone home a conquered man. See telegraph.
