T. M Clark's Flour and Grain Circular.

TORONTO, C. W., Oct. 27, 1858.

We have had an unusually open and warm autumn, with good roads, which our farmers have availed themselves of, and have brought out their supplies to market in liberal abundance up to last week. Latterly our market has not been so well supplied. Our accounts of the appearance of the Fall wheat now in the ground, are very promising.

The produce trade is dull, although of late there is better feeling, with a good many inquiries with a view of laying in winter stocks of the best wheat, and good grades of fancy and extra flour for the eastern markets.

WHEAT—There is a good demand for the best samples winter, varying from $1.15 a 1.18, and even as high as $1.20 was paid for extra fine. Spring wheat is lower, 80@85c being the rate for the best, and 80@80c for a good average.

BARLEY, after declining to 80@85c, has advanced under a better feeling in the eastern, and orders from western markets. At present, Cincinnati gets her supplies of best quality from this. Our barley this year is better than it was ever known, and superior to any that can be had in the West. Prices now range from 87@90c.

RYE—Dull at 60c.

OATS—Heavy at 35@38c per 34 lbs.

Flour is very heavy and stocks increasing. Prices have declined since the day week about 10c per bbl, 15c per bu. extras and fancies, and 20c on the lower grades. The quality continues very good.
