Dentistry.

DENTISTRY
AT 211 SUPERIOR ST.
IF YOUR TEETH ARE GOOD, read the following time. If your teeth are bad, read them with great care. If you have no teeth at all, sig—A fact, that is daily exhibited in the streets, in the social circle and in the parlor, by the humblest peasant and the proudest autocrat is that hundreds of persons lose good sets of teeth for the want of the timely aid of a good and skillful dentist. A poor and inferior operation is in many cases worse than none at all. If your teeth are good, have them examined by a good dentist, and keep them in order. If poor, no time should be lost but have them repaired, the sooner the better, and escape that which Burns says is the hell of all diseases. All irregularities of the teeth should be attended to in childhood and youth.
All persons desirous of fine dental operations are invited to call at our room where particular attention is given to the preservation of the natural teeth, where the

A Flood Slightly Stirred Up.

Our very conservative and pro-slavery neighbor of the National Democrat has been, unintentionally we presume, adding frenzy to the irrepressible panic in Virginia, whereupon the State Journal pokes the Democrat under the ribs with a few quiet licks, thus:

They are having terrible times up on the Reserve. The Cleveland National Democrat has the Harper's Ferry ague, bad. The symptoms are now the test of the national democracy.—The National Democrat sees armed abolitionists in every bush. John Brown, jr, is "armed to the teeth to prevent an arrest." Arrest for what! For being the son of John Brown of Ossawatomie! Has he been indicted for that! Or is Marshal Johnson anxious to do a little arresting in advance of legal process! What kind of a country is it up there, if peaceable men, without crime, accusation or indictment, are obliged to arm themselves to the teeth to prevent an arrest. He can fire thirty-two shots, the National etc. says, without reloading. He told this to Judge Giddings, son of J. R. Giddings, which at least doubles the shots. The National thinks he is arming men to aid in the release of his father, but it he is, he is doing it secretly. The editor is quite sure he is doing it secretly, because if he was doing it openly, it would be known; "quod erat," etc. He knowingly remarks:

"The men will not go in company, but one by one they will make their way to the mountains, and in the recesses of the Blue Ridge will join their comrades. Of this we have evidence."

What he is doing is secret, so that is a matter of belief with the editor; but what the men will do secretly he has evidence of. Most sapient of nationals! "These facts" (What!) he says, "connected with the burning of the property of the jurors before whom Brown was convicted, convince us that there is a settled plan to rescue Brown." Of course it does! These men, arming secretly and dropping along one at a time are burning grain stacks and barns to light their way, or to allay the fears of the Virginians and put them off their guard. That is undoubtedly the way to do it. The extra regiments, Governor Wise is ordering to Richmond in consequence, will only increase the facilities for rescue.

But here is a letter that fixes the thing; so necessary, so important, and so natural that the rescuers should write it! It is said to have been received at Charlestown in cipher, postmarked Cincinnati:

"OBERLIN (no date).

DEAR B——: We are all right. You may look for us, one by one commencing to-day.

"Feign fanaticism as much as possible.—Keep in good spirits till we come. Don't be alarmed. CONO."

For the sake of the next census, let not that ancient dispensation, a septennial fool killer, come this year! Desiring to improve blessings while spared to us, we copy further from the National:

"Since that letter was written, men have left Oberlin, on almost every train, without apparent business, and have not yet returned.—They all left in the trains for the east, and are generally of that class of ultra Abolitionists, without families, who would be presumed to join in such an expedition."

Let him "comprehend all vagrom men," leaving for the east, one by one, without families, without apparent business, and not returning. Let them be examined, their business made apparent, made to leave three or four at a time, bonds taken for their return, and above all put in the way of families! Marry a man and you unfit him for treason, stratagem and spoils. It is like a blacksmith, putting a tourniquet on the nose of a fractious horse, to give him something to think of. A married man has something to think of besides plotting treason. He will have enough to do to regulate his own domestic institutions in his own way without poking his nose into Virginia; and as for stratagem, secrecy is essential for that.

The editor should see to it. No one will deny that he is is "the most senseless and fit man" for the purpose. The formula for his examinations is laid down in the books, by a wiser man than he; the quotations we have made will be sufficient reference, where affinity is so strong.

Now, if there is evidence, as the editor says, that John Brown, Jr., is arming men for the rescue, who are leaving on almost every train, why does he deny that Marshal Johnson telegraphed that to Governor Wise! He must have telegraphed so, or he is conniving at the plot, or the editor plays a variation when he says there is evidence of an attempt at rescue. This is a triangular dilemma, one horn of which is palpable. Does not this disclose the origin of all the cock and bull dispatches sent from Ohio!

Gov. Wise—Breaking Up the Union.

Gov. Wise is a thousand times more dangerous at large and clothed with a little brief authority, than Ossawatomie Brown. He is going to hang the brave old man for treason against Virginia, and with his hand upon the throat of his victim he threatens to "break up the Union!" A late Washington letter, in noticing the second tramp through the National Capital of Governor Wise and his Virginia militia, says:

Since I commenced this letter, the gallant Governor has passed through Washington, on his way to Charlestown and John Brown. He was accompanied by five hundred troops and several pieces of cannon. He made a speech at the Railroad depot, in which he proved himself a madman. He told his soldiers that they would drive off the d—d Yankees and hang John Brown before they returned; and, added the valiant Governor, "We will put an end to this state of things on the border, or break up the Union!" How came Gov. Wise to make a speech in Washington, of a Sunday morning, to his troops! Why didn't he make it on Virginia soil! Simply that he might defy the Government and poke his fist under Mr. Buchanan's nose. I really believe that if Gov. Wise were to demand the public buildings in Washington, Mr. Buchanan, the cowardly old doughface who shakes in the Presidential chair, would give them up.

Every dog has his day, and Gov. Wise is no exception to the rule. On the first day of January next he steps down from his throne, and he will never go into public life again, or I'm no prophet. He lost a renomination for Governor—lost an election to the United States Senate—and will never get another public office.

The panic in Washington is great while I write, and many of our citizens predict that the present is the last Congress that will meet here! Wait a little while till these same fellows are after jobs in Congress, and you will find that they have got over their scare.

The trial of Dr. Boyd, of this city, for helping slaves to escape, will soon come off. Judge Crawford put the amount of bail at $5,000—purposely so high as to prevent its acceptance—and when the counsel for Boyd remonstrated against the high figure, the Judge quietly remarked that he graduated the amount of the bail to the enormity of the alleged crime! Does not this simple remark show us to what depths of despotism this country, its bar, bench and pulpit have sunk! "The enormity of the crime"—of helping a man in God's image to the proprietorship of his own person! And it is an American Judge, whose salary is paid by the people of Massachusetts as well as those of South Carolina, who talks such blasphemy.

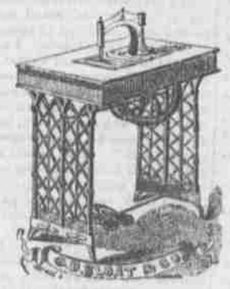
GEO. B. SLOAT & Co.'S
SEWING MACHINES.



The Greatest Triumphs of Modern Art and Mechanical Perfection!
Sloat's Elliptical Lock Stitch Sewing Machines
ARE NOW CONCEDED TO BE the most perfect in market taking the same stitch being entirely in the highest perfection of art—are operated without trouble—inserting to the operator perfections in all kinds of sewing, either for family or light manufacturing purposes, and upon fabrics of all styles and textures—are capable of the highest speed, and sewing with two threads make the well known and highly commended Lock Stitch, both sides being alike, and uses all kinds of thread, silk or cotton. To this Machine the
IMPROVED HEM FOLDER
May be attached. Retail price of Machines, $50, $60 and $65.
BRADSHAW'S IMPROVED (LOCK STITCH) SHUTTLE MACHINE.
Universally conceded to be the most wonderful triumph of mechanical art, and decidedly the best and simplest Shuttle Machine ever yet introduced. This machine, from its simplicity in construction, is particularly recommended for the use of Tailors, and for Plantation, Family and other sewing, and all that have used it coincide in our estimate of its capabilities, as I say that, it can be worked with ease and certainty by sewers of the most ordinary capacities. For manufacturing purposes it has no equal.
