DAILY LEADER.

Lyman Beecher at College.

Good Father Beecher had dreadful fits of "hypo" when the college bills were to be paid. He could not stand it, he told his wife, the fifth, for he had been married, re-widowed, and again re-wedded since the loss of his third and best beloved wife; he must take Lyman out of college. The good woman could not hear to this. She had some property in her own right, and that should go to pay her step-son's bills. Lyman knew well that his father was fairly well-to-do in the world, and tried to soothe him. "Don't be concerned," he said, 'you have enough to live on at present, and when I get through and have a home, I'll take care of you." "Poor fellow," grumbled the dyspeptic old man, "you'll scratch a poor man's head all your life-time." The dismal prophecy turned out not to be far from true, though the young man managed to help himself that year. Six weeks before commencement the college butler gave up his post. By the old Yale laws, written in Latin which Cicero wrote, needed a glossary to understand, 'The butler is licensed to sell in the buttery cider, metheglin, strong beer (not more than twelve casks [cadus] a year), loaf sugar, pipes, tobacco and such like things necessary for students not on sale in the commons." Young Beecher borrowed three hundred dollars, bought out the stock of Staples, the retiring butler, and started what we may call a college grocery. The number of cadi which he might sell was strictly limited by college law; but the size of a cadus was not defined. The new butler interpreted it liberally. To replenish the stock left by his predecessor, he sent to New York by an English parson (a judge of the article), and bought a hogshead of porter," from which we infer that a cadus, by Yale measurement meant a hogshead. Young Beecher, having pronounced his presentation valedictory, went into his grocery enterprise with a will. In six weeks he made enough to pay a borrowed investment, clear Commencement expenses, buy a suit of clothes, with a surplus of a hundred dollars in bad debts for necessaria sabclarius furnished "on tick" to students whose needs in the way of beer and cider, pipes and tobacco were in advance of their pecuniary resources. "If I had gone into business then," said the good man sixty years later, "I should have made money." Possibly he might, but this is the first and last indiring his long life in which he showed any aptitude in that direction.

An Oil Ring.

In West Virginia, the following story is told of an oiler, Mr. Sherman. Mr. Sherman has a history worthy of mention.—Five years since he commenced, with little capital and hand manual labor, to seek for oil in Pennsylvania. He sank five wells, all of which were failures. This exhausted his funds, but he did not despair. He tried again—pawning his watch and clothing even—to get means to go on with another well. This well, before completed, reduced him to poverty, and yet he managed to sink his well with his own hands until he struck oil in such large quantities as to make famous the world over the Sherman well. This well flowed at first 2,500 barrels per day, and averaged for over a year a flow of 1,500 barrels. About this time he sold the well for $2,800,000. Since that time by judicious sales and purchases, he has added to his capital, until now he is reported worth $7,000,000, all in cash and equivalent stocks outside of oil lands and oil companies.

Mr. Sherman is about fifty years of age, and still in bachelor's bliss—such as it is—and contemplates going to Europe in June, where he expects to spend a few years.—He has no brother, sister, father or mother living.

The following are the hits at Jeff. Davis which we see in the Louisville Journal. They belong to the department of Prentiseana:

We wonder whether Jeff. Davis, when he put on the petticoat, called in the aid of cotton to give a voluptuous appearance to his tender bosom.

The Confederate soldiers, when they go into battle, often whoop like Indians. Perhaps Jeff Davis, when surrounded by the Federal troops, didn't whoop, but he cooped.

It is said that Jeff. Davis' excuse for wearing the petticoat is that his wife has often worn the breeches.

Jeff. Davis wore a petticoat, and it is said he was at the same time in a great bustle.

Jeff Davis' pursuers caught him or her, and he she caught it.

It is to be hoped that Jeff. Davis' assumption of the petticoat will not establish the fashion with his male admirers.

Jeff. Davis, even if pardoned, can never again be elected to office. Our people are not fond of petticoat government.

Five hundred dollars is offered for the petticoat that Jeff Davis ran away in. Petticoats have risen.

The following are from the Cincinnati Commercial:

When Jeff Davis made his triumphant entry into Montgomery, he threatened that the Yankees should feel Southern steel, but really, they didn't expect to feel it in a hoop skirt.

Jeff Davis has altered the Georgia costume. It used to be a shirt-collar and a pair of spurs. He retains the spurs, but substitutes a petticoat for the collar.

It is not surprising that the rebels should have hunted diligently for the "last ditch," when we remember where Jeff Davis found it.

When Adam discovered his shame, he concealed it with fig leaves. Jeff Davis covered his with something more substantial.

The skin that betrayed Jeff Davis was not the lion's. He "hung a calf-skin on those recreant limbs."

The Evening Post, discussing the military trials now proceeding at Washington of those suspected of complicity in the assassination plot, says:

"Of the nature of the proof which fastens a share in this atrocious and horrible plot upon Davis, nothing is yet known. But it is said to rest chiefly in a letter found on the person of Booth. From a trustworthy official source we hear that there is such a letter; that it was found on Booth; that it is in cypher; and that this cypher involves Davis's complicity.

"The information we have received upon this subject is of the following tenor: A note or dispatch, in cypher, was found in Booth's pocket. A paper in cypher had previously been found in Jeff. Davis's house in Richmond. This paper was not supposed to be of importance until the one in Booth's pocket was compared with it, and by the use of it it was read. The precise contents of the Booth note we do not know; but our information is that the note proves that Davis was in communication with two of the men in Canada for whom rewards have been offered; and that the subject of the correspondence was the proposed assassination, which it is distinctly asserted that Davis favored. The same men were intimately associated with Booth when he was in Canada."

The Washington correspondent of the Rochester Democrat describes a very remarkable change of sentiment as follows:

"A year ago last March, I heard Benj. G. Harris shout defiantly in Congress, with clenched fist and flashing grey eye: 'The South is not subjugated; the South cannot be subjugated, and I thank God for it!' On Thursday I heard him say, humbly and meekly, to a military court-martial trying him as a traitor for his life: 'Be generous and merciful, gentlemen, I beg of you; you are conquerors; the ideas of the North are triumphant, and the South is subjugated!'"

The log cabin in which President Lincoln resided in 1830, and in which he first studied law, is to be taken to Chicago, and will be exhibited at the Northwestern Sanitary Fair. Mr. Dennis T. Hanks, who gave Mr. Lincoln his first instruction in penmanship, will be present at the Fair.

Kate Fisher, of the Newark Theatre, is going to Europe this fall to play "Mazeppa." She expects to perform the part in the Spanish language at Madrid.

MEDICAL SUCCESS
EXTRAORDINARY!
100 DOLLARS PREMIUM!
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Or Spermatorrhœa, Gleet, &c., and
IMPOTENCY CURED,
AFTER ALL OTHER TREATMENT FAILS
DR. A. GIBSON,

Formerly of New York City, will pay one hundred dollars for the proof that he ever fails to cure the above-named disease. He will pay the same sum for the proof that any other Physician in the United States treats the same disease with equal success.

After many years of laborious study and experience, Dr. Gibson is happy in being able to announce to the unfortunate, that he has perfected a system of treatment for

of the above, and also all contagious diseases of the Reproductive Organs, with all bad effects arising therefrom, including Gonorrhœa.

DEBILITY OR NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

He has succeeded in curing cases in this city, some of whom had expended hundreds of dollars with self-styled physicians, who profess to treat all private maladies with success, and without receiving the least particle of benefit.

Dr. Gibson does not boast that he is a member of some College in London or Paris, as perhaps some others do for the purpose of ensnaring the innocent, and who hold out great expectations never to be realized. But what Dr. G. might boast of is this, that he is able to give entire satisfaction to those who repose confidence in his ability and integrity, and that he has perfected an American system of treatment which challenges any Physician of London, Paris or any patent medicine, to equal for the radical cure of seminal weakness, and all diseases or derangements, both mental and physical, arising from sexual or secret abuse.

Dr. Gibson also claims for his new treatment the following advantages over others: First, they are cured; and first, the agents used are "no respect disagreeable; he uses no relics of the dark ages, such as Mercury, nor any other deleterious drug; secondly, no restrictions in diet or business is required; thirdly, his treatment is positive and certain in all cases. He stands prepared to go into any public or private hospital in the United States and demonstrate the immense superiority of his new treatment over any other now known to the world, in point of promptness, permanency, mildness, safety and convenience to the patient.

Dr. Gibson is permanently located in Cleveland, and has during the past five years performed many cures of diseases which had for years resisted all other modes of treatment. References can be given to individuals in the first respectable families in Boston, New York and other cities, in regard to skill and integrity in all professional transactions. Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Scrofula, all Diseases of the Urinary Organs, and all Chronic Diseases treated with superior success.

Medicines sent to any part of the country on receipt of ten dollars.

To the intelligent reader it is not necessary to publish the names of the many complications and forms assumed by this terrible scourge, yet it may be advisable to mention as most prominent SYPHILITIC PRIMARY, SYPHILITIC SECONDARY, and SYPHILITIC TERTIARY, the latter involving the bones in its deadly action.

Every one should know, also, that many of the most obstinate and worst UTERINE AND URINARY proceed from this cause, and will, if not properly handled, ultimately result in loss of voice, loosing your true interest, and consult by letter, or apply at
