Democratic Song.

[From the Pittsburg Union.]

Hurrah for Buck and Breck.

BY B. M. M'LURE.

AIR—"Carry Me Back to Old Virginny."

Fling out, fling out with song and shout,
Our banner to the breeze;
The same old flag—the stars and stripes—
That floats o'er lands and seas,
And write our standard-bearers' names
Upon each fleecy fold;
The brave, the just, the good and true,
Who ne'er were bought or sold.
CHORUS—Hurrah! hurrah for Buck and Breck,
We'll give them three cheers more;
And carry them up to the White House
By fair Potomac's shore.

We know no North, we know no South,
We know no East or West,
But go for the whole United States—
The land we love the best.
Then down with the Abolition crew,
Who'd let the "Union slide;"
And rally around old Buck and Breck,
The noble, true, and tried!
CHORUS—Hurrah, hurrah, &c.

The Keystone gives her noble son,
And so does old Kentuck;
And the Fremont men turn pale with fear,
When they hear the shout for Buck!
For that gallant shout is ringing out,
From Maine to Georgia's strand;
Wherever there beats a freeman's heart,
For his whole—his native land!
CHORUS—Hurrah, hurrah, &c.

Political.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE.

The Steubenville Union says, Keep it before the people, that Horace Greeley, writing to the Tribune from Washington less than one month ago, said:—"The evidence is mountain high that a great majority of the actual settlers in Kansas are, and long have been, Free State men!"

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE! That Messrs. Howard and Sherman, the Black Republican members of the Kansas Investigating Committee, after traveling all over the Territory of Kansas and after making particular inquiry on the point, state in their official report, that a majority of the people of Kansas are Free State men.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE! That nine tenths of the Kansas correspondents of the Black Republican journals, and nineteen twentieths of all others who write from the Territory, give the same assurance.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE! That Messrs. Howard and Sherman say in their official report "that in the present condition of the Territory, a fair election cannot be held without a new census. A stringent and well guarded election law, the selection of impartial judges, and the presence of U. States troops at every place of election."

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE! That the Democrats in the U. S. Senate passed a bill "providing for a new census, a stringent and well guarded election law, the selection of impartial judges, and the presence of U. States Troops at every place of election; and for furthering the cause of justice, providing in addition that the Free State men who had left the Territory on account of the disturbances therein should have a right to return and vote.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE! That John P. Hale, the leading Black Republican in the Senate, speaking of this bill, in his place, said: "I think the bill is almost unobjectionable," and that it was afterwards amended by its friends so as to meet every objection urged against its passage that could be met by legislation.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE! That the passage of this bill would have obviated every difficulty, would have restored peace and harmony to Kansas, and would have made that Territory a Free State.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE! That Collamer and Fessenden, Foote and Foster, Black Republican Senators from the New England States united with the ultra Southern members, and cut off a part of the Free State vote in the Territory, by striking out the clause giving foreigners, who had declared their intentions, the right to vote—a right enjoyed by that class of settlers in every other Territory in the Union.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE! That when this bill came to the house it was VOTED DOWN! by the solid vote of every Black Republican presen, except Broome of Pa. and Leiter of Ohio.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE! That the Black Republicans are in favor of keeping up the scenes of violence and bloodshed in Kansas until after the Presidential election, so that they can inflame the people to madness, and thus make converts to their mongrel.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE! That the Black Republicans in the House have originated a bill ostensibly to settle the Kansas difficulties which they know can neither pass the Senate, nor receive Executive approval: but which is really designed as a cloak with which to hide their diabolical purpose, of continuing the outrages, and riots, and murders in Kansas, from the withering condemnation of the people.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE! That a party that thus trifles with the peace of the Union, and plays a political game with the lives and safety of the inhabitants of Kansas, is worthy only of universal execration, and speedy and utter destruction.

A MINISTER WHO IS NOT A POLITICIAN.—Some of the students in Dartmouth College lately formed a Fremont Club, and invited President Lord to attend one of their meetings. He declined and Prof. Parker, of Cambridge, communicates to the Boston Atlas the reasons given by him for doing so. We make the following extracts from his letter:

"I told them I had been a minister of the Gospel for forty years, and had never yet descerated my office by joining a political club of any kind, or meddling with politics in any shape, and I should not now be tempted to violate the honor of my profession. My talk had a very good effect, and was thought by the faculty and the studen's to have been far more useful than if I had mounted a cockade or shouldered a rifle."

NO DENIAL YET.

In the absence of any denial of the charge of Roman Catholicism against Col. FREMONT, the evidence is daily accumulating against him. Being fully acquainted with the fact that he never can be elected to the Presidency, without a denial sustained by proof to the effect that he is not a Roman Catholic, would he not long ago have made the effect to rid himself of the charge, did he not know that facts will substantiate his subservity to that church in every period of his life?

It will not do to leave the matter to be settled by the Republican press; the masses of the people need unequivocal information, or that it should be conveyed to them through a more reliable channel. The charges now stand in proof as follows:

1ST.

☞ He (Fremont) received his education in Charleston, under the late Bishop England, of the Roman Catholic Church.

(Testified to by the editor of the Savannah Republican and other respectable authorities.)

2ND.

☞ He sends his child, or adopted child, to be educated in the Roman Catholic College of Georgetown, D. C.

(Attested by the editor of the Philadelphia Daily News—and we believe never denied even by Fremont's friends.)

3D.

☞ He was married by Father Van Horseigh, a Roman Catholic Priest.

(Admitted as a fact beyond controversy or dispute—as basing his Romanism on a solemn sacrament of the Romish Church.)

4TH.

☞ He goes to a Roman Catholic Church in Washington, crosses himself with so-called holy water at the door, and makes the sign of the cross when he goes into his pew.

(The testimony of Alderman Fulmer,—to be affirmed on oath, if Fremont denies.)

5TH.

☞ He declares, at a dinner table, at Brown's Hotel, in Washington, his full belief in the Roman Catholic doctrine of Transubstantiation.

(Substantiated by the same authority. Affidavit ready, when called for by Fremont.)

6TH.

☞ He declares to Col. R——, of Missouri, late Collector of the port of Monterey, who slept with him eight months, under the same blanket, that if any one doubted he was a Roman Catholic, he was willing to prove it.

(Substantiated by the editor of the Troy Whig. Affidavit ready, if called for by Fremont.)

7TH.

☞ He is, or was, not only a Roman Catholic himself, but made Lieut. Beale, late Superintendent of Indian Affairs, to turn one also.

(Substantiated by the same authority as the above. Affidavit ready, if called for by Fremont.)

8TH.

☞ He erects a Cross, in imitation of the earlier Jesuit Roman Catholic adventurers on the Rocky Mountains.

ENGLISH FREMONTISM.—We copy below a paragraph from the London Chronicle, which should be read and carefully digested by every American citizer. The writer acknowledges himself a devotee to the monarchical system of Europe—a Fremont factionist—and an enemy to the "unity of the States;"

"We should be sorry to see Mr. Buchanan elected because he is in favor of preserving the obnoxious institutions as they exist, and the unity of the States. There is no safety for European monarchical governments, if the progressive spirit of the Democracy of the United States is allowed to succeed. Elect Fremont, and the first blow to the separation of the States is effected."

We have in this evidence of English sympathy with sectional "Republicanism" one of the thousand echoes of the Fremont press in America.

HO! FOR A ROPE.—The True American, a FREMONT paper published in Erie County, Pa., uses the following most revolting and infamous language:—

"This twaddle about the 'Union' and its 'preservation' is too silly and sickening for any good effect. We think that the liberty of a single slave is worth more than ALL THE UNIONS GOD'S UNIVERSE CAN HOLD!"

That fellow's neck must itch every time he sees a rope, and he will never receive his deserts until the sensation is cured by the application of one.

☞ Buchanan has had forty years experience in public life, and Fremont has had forty days; and while the former has filled every place to which he has been called with honor, Fremont's experience demonstrates that he never was in the right place at the right time.

SHEEP IN ORCHARDS.—Mr. C. Leet of this county, has an orchard which he has been pasturing with sheep for several years. He told me that when he first turned the sheep in, there was so little growth he could not cut a graft from the orchard. When I saw it, a year or two ago, the trees were growing from a foot to eighteen inches a year. We have been trying sheep in our orchard for two or three years, and find they make a great improvement in the fruit.—R. EVANS, Pa., in the Wool Grower.

Farmer's Column.

ABOUT BUGS, FLIES, MONKS AND SNAKES.

Prof. Kirtland in the columns of the Ohio farmer, says:

The present prospects are discouraging to the hort culturist, yet they should not prevent his efforts at rearing fruit. Destructive insects may often be destroyed or counteracted in their progress by means either natural or artificial.

It seems to be an established law in nature, that when any species of the animal kingdom becomes inconveniently or inordinately numerous, Providence provides a check or balance, usually in the form of a devouring enemy.

The Hesian fly threatened to exterminate the wheat plant fifty yea rsince, yet it is not only kept in check by not less than three or four minute parasites, but they may ultimately extinguished the whole race.

The bee moth has nearly ruined our stocks of bees. Five years since, we discovered the small house wren engaged in picking out the larva of that insect from a crevice in the bee-hive. From that hint we proceeded to encourage the visits and increase of this bird, by calling into requisition old oyster-cans and empty boxes and placing them in positions to invite the wrens. At this time the injurious moth is evidently reduced in numbers while our grounds are cheered by many of the inquisitive and active birds. Man is prone to destroy most of the agents which superior wisdom has provided to counteract the depredating insects. Birds and reptiles are often among our best means of defense. Yet the crow, black-bird and wood-pecker are mercilessly destroyed. The harmless garter snake devours daily hundreds of insects. A large toad has taken his position under a myrtle border to my verbena bed, and each evening sallies forth, and captures from twelve to twenty of the sphynxes, or lady bird millers, which at that hour visit the verbena flowers. The millers lay the eggs from which the tomato or potato worm is produced. This despised reptile probaply destroyed each evening the rudiments of some thousands of worms that injure two important esculent plants.

We should study the history of these humble parts of creation, and learn to protect, encourage and apply to use such as were provided for that purpose. An enemy to the curculio and the codling moth may yet be discovered among them.

Encouragement is also to be taken from the fact, that when any species of the animal kingdom become thus numerous, they are apt to rappidly disappear from the operation of causes not always discoverable or understood. A few years since, a species of grasshopper began to increase beyond its usual number. At the end of the third season, it was so numerous, in many localities in this county, that it first devoured every kind of green vegitation; next it eat off the down from the surface of old rails, and at length each individual, kilkenny like, attacked the legs and wings of its neighbor. In this predicament they all died, and at this day very limited numbers are to be found.

The rose bug, potato bug, and slug, have each had its periods of increse, excess and disappearance, in this vicinity, during the last ten years. The wheat weevil is now increasing and spreading over this country, yet it is probable some counteracting agent will sooner or later appeared to arrest its progress.

With these facts before us, we say to our horticulturists be not discouraged, but persevere.

LOOK TO YOUR PEACH TREES.

Much as has been said and written on the care of orchards, great numbers of the finest trees perish annually for want of a little attention. A very fruitful cause of loss in the peach is the borer, (egeria) that attacks the tree around the collar, or just above the surface of the ground. They will soon bring destruction to a very valuable orchard, if not checked, which will involve some time and trouble. Prevention I always think better than cure, and as I believe they may be prevented with a little attention, I prefer it. Peach trees are certainly worth some time and outlay, for few better investments are within the reach of farmers, considering the capital. I have found from my experience that the borer seldom attacks trees that are well cultivated,—by this I mean keeping the ground well stirred, and the weeds down; but to be a little more certain, raise a small hillock around the tree about six to eight inches high, early in the Spring, and let it remain till early in the Fall. It should not be left through Winter, but the same repeated the following Spring.

It is however too late for this to save trees that were neglected last Spring, so they must be dislodged, which may be done by removing the dirt from the tree with a hoe, and if the appearance of gum oozing out is there, the grub is in. I remove him with a knife; some use straws to run into the holes and punch him to death, but I like to see that he is dead. It must be done very carefully, however, so as not to mutilate the roots. Some apply lime to the roots, by making a little bank of loose dirt about the tree, with a cavity around the tree. Into this cavity they pour the brine, which will run into the holes and destroy the worms. I never tried it until recently, and cannot therefore speak of it from experience, but if it can be done without danger of the salt injuring the tree, it may be valuable.

THE COLLEGIATE COURSE, which is designed to embrace all branches PURELY MERCANTILE, has been recently enlarged, and can now be regarded as one of the most lengthy, thorough and complete ever introduced to the public in any similar institution in the United States.

THE BOOK-KEEPING DEPARTMENT, embraces three distinct grades, viz: Initiatory, Regular, and Extended Courses, and taught on Folsom's New Method, recommended by over Twenty of the most reliable Practical Accountants of Cleveland.

THE NEW METHOD OF TEACHING, strikes at the very germinating points of the Science, revealing the great natural two-fold division of the Ledger, whereby is seen the proper line of demarkation between Real and Representative Property and the governing law to transfer, as regards Selecting the two classes of Accounts, and those of the same class, in every variety of transactions, thus stripping this most useful and beautiful science of much of its time honored mystery, made such by arbitrary and infallible rules, meaningless forms and false notions; and hence enables the student to acquire correct notions of accounts as embodied in actual practice.

THE INITIATORY COURSE,

embraces a regularly progressive series of manuscript cards, classified according to the variety of transactions. It aims to develope the first principles and philosophy of Accounts, rather than mere routine and actual formula, by addressing the reason and judgment of the student, who studies with the view of apprehending and arriving at results, and pushes on his investigations with much greater confidence, pleasure and independence.

THE REGULAR COURSE, is intended to represent every species of business, from the smallest Retail to the heaviest and most intricate of Wholesale and Commission, as well as Banking, Railroading, &c., demanded at present by our vast and constantly increasing commerce.

THE EXTENDED COURSE, embraces lengthy, practical sets from the various Business Firms, and is designed for such students as may wish to spend longer than the time required by the Regular course, (and that gratuitously,) preparatory to entering some Special House.

By taking in addition the Extended course, the Student will be faithfully and profitably employed six months.

PENMANSHIP, Practical and Ornamental, in all its varieties, will be taught in the most thorough and efficient manner, by one of the best teachers in the West. Besides the usual method of teaching Business Writing, the Chirhythmographic System will also be taught. This System, so popular and recommended by our educational men, is now taught in the Public Schools of Cleveland, Columbus and Toledo. Many other places are open for good teachers of chirhythmography as soon as they can be qualified.

Daily Lectures on Practical and Theoretical Book-keeping, mercantile laws, commercial Ethics, political economy, art of computation, commercial calculations, mercantile customs, banking, exchange, commerce, railroading, commercial history, business correspondence, penmanship, &c.

The New Suit of Rooms of this College, occupies the finest location in the city—situated at the corner of the Public Square and Superior street, affording a full view of most parts of the city and the lake. The Rooms are nearly and tastefully furnished, surpassing in beauty and convenience, perhaps those of any similar institution in the Union.

The LADIES' COURSE is the same as that of the Gentlemen, affording equal facilities to ladies who may wish to avail themselves of the Commercial course.

The Faculty having an extensive business acquaintance, is enabled to secure good situations for many of its graduates.
