NOTICE THIS.

We frequently receive remittances for our paper at rates below those advertised. This is entirely useless, as our rates are fixed and will be departed from in no instance. Such remittances are returned in every instance, and to avoid all trouble and hazard of loss hereafter, we desire the especial attention of all concerned to this notice.

☞ All persons are requested not to purchase papers from our regular carriers, as they are not authorized to sell them. An observance of this request will greatly oblige the publishers.

SUNDAY APPEAL.—Copies of this morning's issue may be purchased, as usual, at our business desk on Madison street, until 10 o'clock, A. M.

☞ The river at this point is falling slightly, as is the case with all the upper rivers.

☞ The Northerner and Winchester left last evening, with large trips for St. Louis.

☞ The officers of the steamer Fanny Bullitt will accept our thanks for Louisville papers.

☞ There was no preaching at Asbury Chapel last evening, the preachers desiring rest from their great exertions during the week. There will be services as usual there this morning and evening.

FIRE.—A fire occurred last night, about half past nine o'clock, in a stable belonging to the premises of Mr. MILES OWEN, corner of Third and Madison streets. The stable was entirely consumed, but the prompt exertions of the Fire Companies prevented the spread of the flames.

☞ We invite the attention of our citizens to the advertisement of Mr. J. J. BYRD, who proposes establishing a Commercial Academy in Memphis. He comes highly recommended, and we doubt not he is thoroughly qualified in his profession.

☞ The catalogue and annual statement of the Florence Synodical College has been received. The institution is in a very prosperous condition, and will enter upon its next session with favorable prospects for the future.

☞ The weather continues exceedingly warm, but however uncomfortable it may be to us in the city, the reflection that it is the very kind of temperature for a bountiful yield of the crops, is a most agreeable consolation.

☞ We were led into error yesterday morning, in stating the arrest of the engineer of the Kate Frisbee for his part in the affray that occurred on board Friday. He was not arrested, and as it turns out, the injuries received by the deck-hand were not serious.

☞ We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation from the Democracy of Haywood to attend a Barbecue and Ball, in Brownsville, on the 25th inst. The celebration is in honor of the recent glorious victory, and preparations ample for the accommodation of all who may attend have been made.

LITTLE ROCK RAILROAD.—The first locomotive for the Little Rock Railroad is now being taken across the river—the first that will awaken the echoes of the wild Arkansas forest. We understand that the work of track-laying is in a forward state, and that the energetic President is using Herculean efforts in pushing it through to completion.

☞ Items are scarce, the news market flat, without any promise of a rise. Dogs, the last topic, are uninteresting, and human beings will do nothing excitable. Will any enterprising individual please to start some enormous "fuss" of a respectable character, such as may be detailed in the family circle without circumlocution, and on which an editor may "let drive" without looking to the right or the left? What with Bordell bogus babies, and several small accompaniments of that ilk, we are beginning to regard the topic of the day, whatever it is, as a perfect Sisyphus stone, the rolling up and down of which is anything but agreeable. Let those who think that writing on events as they rise is an easy business, make allowance for the very peculiar nature of some of the topics with which the world is wont to amuse itself.

☞ The condition of the thoroughfares of a city indicates the character of its inhabitants. If they are cleanly and in a good condition in every respect, so as to afford convenience and comfort to the citizen and stranger in their business transactions or walks of pleasure, the natural inference is that the municipal authorities appreciate the essential requisites of pleasant city life. It goes farther than this. It shows that while they look to the convenience and comfort of the inhabitants, they wisely and humanely protect the public health, as far as cleanliness is a promotion of such a desirable condition. At present many of our streets and pavements are out of order, and in such bad condition as to make them not only inconvenient and annoying to footway travelers, but frequently serious nuisances, prejudicial to the health of the neighborhood. The owners of property, if not from motives of private interest, from considerations of public good ought not to permit such things. The public authorities should not tolerate them, and it is hoped that some action will be taken by the proper departments of the city government to have the evil abated. Let our highways and by-ways be such that we can maintain fully a reputation for clean streets and a healthy city.

☞ People may talk as much as they will of the pleasures of a season in the country, a stay at the springs, or the delights of a seaside residence, but we of the city who belong to the "Can't-get-away Club," and those who have the good sense to stay at home, rather than be annoyed by mosquitoes, bad cooking, cold dinners and sidorosity of the watering places, have more amusement than usually falls to the share of these torrid months. We believe in bricks and mortar, and even confess to a love for the prevailing smells and smoke of the city, over the dreary solitudes of our crowded resorts of fashion, where all ease is put out of countenance by the follies of the day, and hope in smoking room badly ventilated and with low ceilings, are called enjoyment! There is more real luxury in a stroll in the suburbs, through lanes of beautiful cottages, with joyous children and happy contentment smiling upon you through dainty white palings, or a sail upon the Mississippi's broad bosom, than in all your vaunted sylvan walks or rambles by mountain streams. You may poetize about murmuring brooks, or the glorious dapples of the eternal organ music of the hill-side cataract, but they cannot compare with the rippling melody which comes from the Bayou Gayoso as it flows on past our window in its meandering way to mingle its fresh pearly stream with the dark and turbulent Mississippi. We have our amusements and have sports which we would not part with for all the gaudy contraptions afforded at the watering places. We bear in mind and thank heaven that we have summer home enjoyments not to be surpassed; that nature showers her fruits, and art her richest treasures upon us; and that though we may not choose the gaudy painted butterfly of fashionable life in the crowded resorts, we have the solid enjoyments, the unfailing well-springs of delight and happiness under the humble roof, where cluster wife and children, and where are erected the heart-shrines to the domestic gods and the home affections. To the country who will—a city life for us.

☞ The circulation of the DAILY APPEAL is now twelve hundred and twenty-four. Sunday edition, twelve hundred and ninety-six. This is far in advance of any other Daily in the State, and our list is constantly increasing.

☞ We regret to state that the Route Agency from Memphis to Oxford, Miss., has been discontinued, inasmuch as it is one of the most important in our entire connections. There is a vast amount of mail matter to be distributed along the line of that route. In fact, it is an indispensable necessity for direct communication with a very large portion of our people. We hope this matter may be considered by the Department, and that our Mississippi friends may be enabled to receive their mails more regularly than is possible under another arrangement. The Mississippi mail has been subject to many irregularities, which this route can alone remedy. Our friend, N. B. SANDERS, who was the agent on this route, was well fitted for the place, and we regret that he has been transferred to another route.

THE ORPHAN ASYLUM.

"And whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only, in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward."

The above beautiful passage is quoted as being very appropriate to the matter we wish to bring before our readers, which is, the interests and condition of the Orphan Asylum established in the vicinity of our city. The managers and trustees, after several years embarrassments and exertions, have succeeded in erecting a neat brick edifice, upon a lot of ten acres donated for that purpose by Mr. LEATH. And there the orphan child, destitute of friends and home, finds refuge. The infant wail of anguish and want is hushed. The cry for home and love is answered with mercy and protection.

All must agree that this institution is needed. Then must arise the question in every kind and honest heart, should it not give according to my ability? And now to the citizens of Memphis and all who feel kindly to the child of want, we would say, the managers intend to have a donation supper for the children, on Thursday next, between the hours of 3 and 7 o'clock, P. M., at the Asylum, situated about a mile from the city, on the new Raleigh road, where they will be pleased to see, indeed are anxious, the public should go out and see how the money heretofore contributed has been appropriated. The wants of the institution are many. Anything useful for the support of a large family, the cultivation of a garden, or the means wherewith to procure these articles will be thankfully received.

N. B. Any persons not finding it convenient to send their donations to the Asylum can leave them with Mrs. DOYLE, on Madison street.

☞ Eagle and Enquirer and Evt. News copy.

For the Memphis Appeal.]

MESSRS. EDITORS: An article appeared in your paper a short time since, making flattering mention of a citizen of this county in connection with the office of High Sheriff. There is nothing in that article which I desire, or could if I so desired, controvert. It does no more than justice to an honorable man, who has lived among us and gained, as he deserved, the confidence of his fellow-citizens.

The office, however, is one of more importance to the people of this county than any other, either Federal or State, and requires an adaptness to fill it successfully and satisfactorily, not possessed by many. So ramified and trying are the duties, that few individuals can undergo the probation of one term, without bringing down on their heads the anathemas of either courts, lawyers or suitors. And if a man can be found, who, in every respect has come up to the true standard—who has filled completely the measure of his duties—whose official conduct has defied the closest scrutiny of sharp-eyed attorneys into his service of three successive terms—that man stands forth prominently so far beyond opposition, that it would seem sacrilegious for the party of people, to experiment with others, no matter how popular or how estimable they may be.

By universal assent, JOHN B. MOSELEY has stood the tests of fitness for this office, and whilst I must not be understood as detracting the merits or claims of other aspirants, I trust you will allow me to keep before the minds of your readers the name of one so fitted for the office as he is, and whose private worth is as generally acknowledged.

DIED.

On the 13th of August, 1857, in Brownsville, Tennessee, ROBERT B. TALLIAFERRO, aged 38 years.

OBITUARY.

Departed this life, on the 13th inst., at the residence Colon I Finly Holmes, DeSoto county, Mississippi, JOHN D. ALSTON.

MR. ALSTON was a man of strong common sense, of general information, the much business habits, and strong integrity character. He was the useful and upright citizen, ever ready, with enlightened liberality to aid every enterprise for the physical, social and moral improvement of the community. He was the uniformly polite, yet frank dignified and high-toned gentleman. In his early life of this district and state he was a true friend, a generous neighbor, a faithful friend and patriotic citizen. We have been his intimate associate in childhood and in boyhood, and we entered since habitually upon the former walks of life, and during our entire intercourse with him we have ever found in him much to admire, and but little to reprove. His sudden and unexpected death has opened the hearts of relations and a multitude of friends. No more will he glad voice ring upon the air. No more in spirit-stirring girl is broken—a footstep is silent—a voice hushed. W. H. A.

Tonic.

From Col. Albert Pike, M. C. from Arkansas:

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11, 1856.—"I have used two bottles of your Barshaw's Holland Bitters, and have found it very useful in case of Indigestion and Headache, and recommend it to all who need a pleasant and efficacious remedy and valuable tonic.

DYSPEPTIC WOMEN NOTICE.—Barshaw's Holland Bitters has cured me of Dyspepsia by using it only one week. I recommend it confidently to all suffering from this disease.

CLARA E. SCHUCHMAN.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 24, 1856.

The late High Sheriff of Alleghany county has given us the following:

"I was afflicted with Debility of the Digestive Organs amounting to a severe attack of Dyspepsia, which had reduced my flesh considerably. My wife was also afflicted under same circumstances, and with same disease. Having used your medicine called Barshaw's Holland Bitters, we both obtained relief, and are happy to afford you this public evidence of its value." JOHN FORSYTH.

Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever

CURED BY

TONIC SYRUP.

THIS justly celebrated medicine has for many years maintained its superiority over all other remedies, for the safe, certain, speedy and permanent cure for Ague and Fever or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing; and in no case will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out.

This remedy has been extensively used throughout the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Texas, Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, and has permanently cured over 800 MILLION cases, in all the varied forms, many of which had been of long standing, some of which had been of from one to three years' standing, and had resisted all the usual remedies known in the country; and in no case did this medicine fail where the directions were properly followed. Such is its invariable success, that a very large number of people in the neighborhoods of residence, in various parts of the country, use and prescribe it in preference to Quinine and other remedies.

This publication is assented that it is not only certain in its effects as a Tonic, but being composed entirely of vegetable medicines, is perfectly innocuous to all women or children, and may be safely exhibited to female children, and all persons of debilitated and delicate constitutions, without the least fear who ever of any injurious effect.

This medicine is composed of all one of the purest and sweet quality, and is always made by the proprietor in person, after the scientific recipe of pharmacy (which cannot be said of the many tonics now flooding the West and South of other compounders) and in a respectable manner to and properly superior to the remedies usually prepared and sold in the city.

By its agreeable and powerful therapeutic properties, added to its tonic qualities, it is rendered eminently superior to Quinine and other remedies as a general and popular tonic in all cases wherever where tonics are proper to be administered. The proprietor, therefore respectfully invites practitioners and the public generally to give it a fair trial, and then will they be convinced of its great superiority over all other remedies now in use for the purposes specified.

Persons living in districts of country subject to Ague and Fever Chills and Fever, or Bilious Fevers, would do well to keep a supply of this valuable remedy always on hand.

The proprietor has now in his possession thousands of certificates of its value, given by persons who have used it, with many letters from merchants who have sold it largely in their country as well as from many respectable practitioners who have used it in preference to other remedies, attesting its value.

Rich's Safes Tested.

THE numerous parties who have purchased from us RICH'S SAFES, made by Stearns & Marvin, are naturally interested in every result testing their fire proof qualities. We therefore invite the public at large to be in generality, to an inspection of Mr. S. McManus' Safe as taken from the ruins of his store, consumed Thursday morning, June 18.

Although the books and other valuables were removed from the Safe previous to its abandonment to the burning building yet the few loose papers left in it, and the unharmed and perfect condition of the interior, as satisfactorily exhibit its superior, fire-proof qualities as though the book-hall been allowed to remain.

The Safe referred to may be seen on the side walk, in front our store room, Nos. 12 and 14 Front Row Memphis
