☞ Rev. G. W. D. HARRIS will preach at Asbury Chapel this morning, at half past ten o'clock.

☞ The ladies of the Episcopal Church in Brownsville, make their grateful acknowledgement for the handsome donation of Messrs. Lownes, Orgill & Co., of Memphis.

☞ Col. COCKRELL left on the Southerner yesterday afternoon, en route for New York and other Northern cities to obtain the furniture and equipments for the New Gayoso.

☞ We have been requested to call the attention of Street Commissioner to the condition of Court street, corner of Third. The ladies in that vicinity complain of the obstructions on the sidewalks.

MRS. M. GARRETT DUNCAN'S SCHOOL.—The fourth session of th's excellent institution commences at her residence, on Vance street, east of Bayou Gayoso, on Tuesday, 1st day of September. The attention of parents and guardians is called to the fact.

NEW MATHEMATICAL SCHOOL.—Mr. JNO. P. HARLOW, who is favorably known as one of the ablest teachers in the City Schools, proposes to establish a private Mathematical and Classical School in this city. His prospectus will appear in a few days.

☞ We direct attention to the card of Messrs CARSON, SEARBOOK & JONES, who have added to their former business that of Cotton Factors and Commission Merchants. The members of this firm are all citizens, active and capable business men and merit public confidence. d&w1w.

☞ We had the pleasure of a visit yesterday from our old friend, Dr. E. L. ROZELLE, who is the Democratic candidate for the Legislature in Coahoma county, Miss. The Doctor is a sterling Democrat as well as an experienced legislator, having served for some years as a member from DeSoto county.

MAIL FROM INDEPENDENCE, MO., TO SALT LAKE CITY.—The Baltimore Sun, of Thursday learns that the Postmaster General has contracted with Mr. M. D. Miles, of Pennsylvania, to carry the United States mail monthly from Independence, Mo., to Salt Lake City, in Utah territory, at the rate of $32,000 per annum. The service is to begin on or before the 1st of October next. Mr. Miles was formerly a mail contractor in Maryland and Pennsylvania, but for the past two years has been performing the same service in Kansas and Nebraska.

ROUTE TO NEW ORLEANS.—By reference to the advertisement of the New Orleans and Jackson Railroad, it will be found that the time between these places has been greatly reduced. When the road shall be completed to Jackson, we will be able to receive our mails from New Orleans in about two days, or one-half of the time now employed in their transportation.

HARDING'S PANORAMA.—It will be seen by reference to the advertisement in another column that this painting will be exhibited on Monday for the benefit of the orphans of Memphis. This motive should, and will doubtless, offer a strong inducement to fill the Hall from the time of its opening to its close.

AFFRAY.—A professional difficulty recently occurred in Giles county, Va., between Drs. EARLY and WINGO. The former fired a pistol, the ball of which missed his antagonist, and entered the head of a Mr. HUTCHINS, who was trying to separate them. The wound is not considered dangerous.

☞ Hon. JAMES B. CLAY arrived in Indianapolis on the 23d inst., on his way North on a hunting excursion. As soon as his arrival was known a large number of citizens called on him.

☞ The Cincinnati Gazette states that hogs have been sold in that city, to be delivered within the last two weeks in November, at $7 per 100 pounds net, and that there were more buyers than sellers at these figures.

Remarkable Memory in a Debtor—A Curious Case.

In the year 1810, a young joiner, doing business on the corner of Pelham and Cherry streets, in this city, became involved in his pecuniary affairs to an extent that rendered it necessary for him to ask the indulgence of his creditors, and many of them signed a release. In the course of the following year (1811) he obtained a discharge from his debts under the State insolvent law, when the Hon. Ogden Wyck was Recorder. Shortly afterward this young joiner left the city for Cayuga, in this State, where he obtained employment for a while at one dollar per day. Here he became acquainted with Jethro Wood, the inventor of the cast iron plows, and for whom he then went to work, made his patterns, and erected a small iron foundary, using a horse to drive his bellows. He then manufactured and peddled the Wood plow for about five years, at the expiration of which period he removed to Columbus, Ohio, and established himself in the plow manufactory business, which has continued up to the present time.

During the past year he made a quantity of castings for a railroad company, in payment for which he received a draft on a firm in the city amounting to nearly $9,000, when he resolved to carry into effect a long cherished wish to visit the Empire city, seek out all his old creditors, if living, or some of their children. For the past fortnight he has been in the city, actively engaged in the endeavor to carry out his intentions. He, however, found but one only of his old creditors living, viz., Mr. Robert Edwards, of No. 287 Hudson street. On calling at the residence of that gentleman and inquiring of him if he recollected a young man by the name of Joseph Ridgway, a joiner, who in 1810 occupied a place in Cherry street. Mr. Edwards, who is now about eighty years of age, replied, "I have some recollection of the boy; and I believe he owed me something when he left the city, but I don't remember how much." Mr. Ridgway, who is now seventy-four years old, then addressing himself to Mr. Edwards, said: "I was that boy, and I have now come to pay you double the amount of that debt to which you refer." He then took from his pocket and unrolled a list of his old debts, amounting in the aggregate to about $[illegible], varying in sums from $3 50 to $224.

In liquidation of the latter indebtedness he handed over to a living daughter of his creditor the sum $448; to the son of another he paid $250 in discharge of a debt of $[illegible]; and on offering to liquidate the amount, Mr. Ridgway was referred to the executor; whereupon he replied, "I am no executor; I am legally discharged from the debt; beside your father released me from debt of 47 years standing must be only, No, I obey the laws of conscience, and some of my creditors are not living. I pay the children the respective amounts of my indebtedness." This he has done with all whom he has been able to find; but, with the exception of Mr. Edwards, he has not found a single creditor or a representative of his old creditors who had any knowledge of Mr. Ridgway, much less any claim against him; and in discharging these self-imposed obligations he has not in a single instance taken an acknowledgment of the fact from any one that he paid the money to.

We would further take occasion to observe that Mr. Ridgway has not been induced to take this honorable step in consequence of having more of this world's goods than he knows what to do with, as he might be the case with others; or with the view of establishing for himself a good name among business men. On the contrary, there is a mortgage upon Mr. Ridgway's property to the amount of $10,000, while at this time of life, and without a family, he has no particular desire or expectation of extending his business affairs.

Mr. Ridgway represented the Columbus district, Ohio, in Congress for six years—the last two years of Mr. Van Buren's administration, and the entire term of the Harrison and Tyler administration.—Tribune.

Miss EMMA STANLEY.—This accomplished artiste, whose entertainments at Niblo's about a year since created such a sensation, is about to sail for California, under an eng-gement of 100 nights with Mr. Maguire, the manager of some of the leading theatres in the golden State. Sheridan Corbyn (son of the Corbyn of Niblo's) accompanies her as business manager.—N. Y. Mirror.

THEATRICAL AND MUSICAL.

James E. Murdock has returned from his European tour.

Strakosch is lying very ill at his residence in New York City.

H. G. Plunket has leased the Rochester Theatre for two years, and will open it on the 31st instant.

The famous basso, Herr Formes, has concluded negotiations with Mr. Ullman, and will shortly arrive in the United States.

"Christy's Minstrels" made their first appearance at the St. James' Theatre, London, on the 3d, with great success.

Robson, the celebrated serio-comic actor of the Olympic Theatre, London, is about to visit this country professionally.

Mr. G. C. Howard, father of little Cordelia, has become the lessee of the Adelphi Theatre, Troy, New York, for one year.

We see by the Providence Daily Post that the Keller Troupe are to open at Forbe's Theatre, in that city, on Wednesday next.

Miss Eliza Logan is still sojourning at the Burnet House, Cincinnati, making preparations to start on her fall campaign.

Mr. Collins, the best Irish comedian upon the American stage, played a splendid engagement last week at the Peoria (Ill.) Theatre.

We understand that Mr. Barrow has secured from Mr. Brougham the right of performing his new comedy, All's Fair in Love, and that he will soon produce it at the Howard Athenaeum, in Boston.

Lablache wrote to Rossini, telling him how much he suffered from the cutting, and from this circumstance arose the report of his death. He was alive and eating macaroni at Kissingen, at last accounts.

Verdi refused 90,000f. cash, and a benefit of 25,000f., which were offered to him by the Emperor of Russia, if he would compose an opera for the St. Petersburg Theatre.

It is rumored that Piccolomini is about to marry Lord Ward, the theatrical nobleman, who has something like £100,000 a year income.

AMUSEMENTS IN NEW YORK.—The critic of the New York Evening Post of the 12th states that the summer season, at the various places of theatrical amusement, is now at an end. For many it has been a trying one—Wallack's being the only one that has been sustained with profit during the warm weather. Everything, he says, seems to promise a tremendous time next season, in theatrical as well as musical matters. The enterprise of managers has never been so conspicuously displayed as in the arrangements which have already been effected. Musical and dramatic attraction will be offered by the various establishments, sufficient to tempt the most rigid to a liberal outlay. It is probable that the Opera will obtain, as it usually does, the major share of the public patronage, and it will deserve it, for, from all we can gather of the arrangements for the season, it will be the most complete and satisfactory we have yet had. Mr. Ullman's principal engagement up to the present time, are Frezzolini, La Grange, Formes, Roger and Archaut, (Conductor). For the opening it is probable that some other tenor than Roger will assist, but the engagement of this celebrated artist is almost a certainty. Of Frezzolini enough has been said for the present. Formes, the basso, is known by reputation in this country, and will certainly satisfy a very large class of auditors. He possesses the nine requisitions of a first-rate artist, which, according to Rossini, are eight of them—voice, and the ninth, more voice. He is a very useful man, not only in opera, but in oratorio and concert.

☞ Dr. SHELTON MACKENZIE is the assistant editor of FORNEY'S Press, and makes good use of his vast fund of recollections of prominent European persons. Referring to the rumor of the death of LAMLACHE, he gives the following anecdote of the Queen of England:

The Queen of England, to whom he had attempted to teach singing, was much attached to him, and, long after her accession to the throne, would chit-chat and gossip with him by the hour—the singing being talkative and communicative, and the Queen being extremely inquisitive, as all her family have been. Peter Pindar (Dr. Wolcot) has immortalized the ravings of poor Michael George III, his butt, used to ask question after question, without waiting for a reply to any. One of the monarch's most profound inquiries, on a point which perpetually troubled his mind (while he had any mind at all,) was to solve a philosophical doubt, as to how, without any visible way of admission, the fruit got into an apple dumpling? Lablache used to speak very patronizingly, and even affectionately, of Queen Victoria, and constantly lamented that he had been unable, from three slight causes, to make her anything of a vocalist: he said that, first, she had no voice; next, that she had no ear; and, lastly, that she had no application.

MORTUARY REPORT.—The following is the list of interments for the week ending Saturday, August 29, 1857:

DIED.

In this city, on the morning of the 28th, MARTHA NARCISSA, daughter of Gen. S. J. Hays, aged nine years and nine months.

Thus, in less than two weeks, has death visited the family of our neighbor and taken two bright jewels of his family household. It was but a week since that the lovely little girl, whose death we now record, was in the enjoyment of good health, little thinking that so soon she would be called to take her place in heaven, and participate in that world of happiness, as clearly pointed out in the Scriptures as the kingdom of little children.

May the bereaved parents take consolation from the fact that their dwelling-place is not now beneath in the mines of a Saviour, and are freed from all the pains and sorrows of this life. In such deaths we are forcibly reminded of the mutability of all human connections and the ease with which the ties which bind us are bursting, i.e. "that bourne from whence no traveler returns."—Jackson Whig.

"Who has not heard of Burhaves' Holland Bitters?

Simple in its composition, pleasant to the taste, and truly wonderful in its effect, its popularity cannot be wondered at. To invalids just recovering strength, it is invaluable: exercising that soothing influence over the nervous system, and in parting that health and tone to the stomach, so longed for by the convalescent.—Daily Enterprise.

Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever CURED BY

SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP.

THIS justly celebrated medicine has for many years maintained its superiority over all other remedies, for the safe, certain, speedy, and permanent cure for Ague and Fever or Chill and Fever, whether of short or long standing; and in no case will it fail to cure, if the directions are followed and carried out.

This remedy has been extensively used throughout the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Texas, Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, and has been permanently cured over one MILLION persons in all the varied forms, many of which had been of from one to three years' standing, and had resisted all the usual remedies known in the country; and in no case did this medicine fail where the directions were properly followed. Such is its invariable success, that a large number of persons are now using it in Chills and Fever, in various parts of the country, use and prescribe it in preference to Quinine and all other remedies.

The public are assured that it is not only certain in its effects as a Tonic, but being composed entirely of vegetable medicines, is perfectly innocuous in all cases or circumstances, and may be administered to the weakest, and in presence of debilitated and delicate constitutions, without the least fear of the effect of any unpleasant side.

This medicine is composed of an ounce of the purest and purest quality, and is always made by the proprietor himself, after the established forms of Apothecaries (which cannot be said of the many tonics now flooding the Western and Southwestern country,) and in this respect alone is a product of greater quality superior to the remedies usually prepared and sold in the country.

By its superior and powerful diaphoretic properties, added to its tonic qualities, it is rendered eminently superior to Quinine and other remedies as a general and popular tonic, in all cases whatever where tonics are prescribed to be administered. The proprietor, therefore, respectfully invites practitioners and the public generally to give it but a fair trial, and they will then be convinced of its real superiority over all other remedies now in use for the purposes specified.

Persons living in districts of country subject to Ague and Fever, Chills and Fever, or Bilious Fevers, do well to keep a supply of this valuable remedy always on hand.

The proprietor has now in his possession thousands of certificates of its value, given by persons who have used it. Many letters from merchants who have sold it largely in their country as well as from many respectable practitioners who have used it in preference to other remedies, attending the sick.
