THE

THE DAILY APPEAL.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 7, 1857.

☞ We are again indebted to Adams Express company for late papers.

☞ Rev. J. W. Knott will preach at Edgewood Chapel, to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

Recorder's Court.—The Recorder had only two cases before him yesterday. Bob Price looked black when he was fined $5 for allowing a nuisance near his stable.

The Weather.—Yesterday, like the day before, was warm, very warm. In the morning, dark, lowering clouds betokened rain, in the afternoon they cleared off and the sun shown brightly from a sweet blue sky, while the wind wafted gently and genial as the breath of spring.

Ash's Theatre.—At this popular house tonight, Mrs. Rogers will take a benefit. The pieces are Threse; or, the Orphan of Geneva, and Ireland As It Is. Monsieur Maretzka, whose astonishing powers have gained him such great admiration, will perform some of his feats, and also exhibit his skill in ventriloquism.

Itemical.—Items were scarce yesterday. The Recorder had only two cases before him; consequently the city was acting two virtuously to make any news. So much the better for the city, but so much the worse for the reporter. We have nothing "thrilling," "astounding," "incredible," "horrible," or "petrifying," to announce. No fault of ours.

☞ We publish in another column the Protest of a number of Democrats of Kansas, against the conduct of Messrs. Walker and Stanton. The document makes several very strong and conclusive points against the Governor and Secretary, and it can leave but little doubt on the mind of reader that these gentlemen have transcended their duty in throwing out the vote of Oxford precinct.

Muddy but Consistent.—Webster, quoting from Bacon, says that "the consistency of bodies is divers; dense, rare, tangible, pneumatical, &c." Bacon never saw the mud in Memphis, if he had nobody would have been astonished at his varying definition. Yesterday, we should say, the mud was passing out of the rare into the tangible state of consistency; or, to speak geologically, was in a transition state.

First Cotton Received by the Memphis and Little Rock Railroad.—Six bales of cotton were yesterday received by the Memphis and Little Rock Railroad, from the plantation of Hon. Geo. W. Dunn, of Crittenden county. This is the first produce ever shipped over this road, and affords a slight presage of what it will do when it gets out of the swamp. We learn that the track laying is progressing fast under the persevering energies of our friend, Col. John Robertson, the President.

The Abel Case.—The jury in the Abel case, after being out a long time, yesterday at dinner time, asked leave to inquire as to a point of law. The Judge met them in the court-room, and instructed them as to the doubt that had occurred. Soon afterwards the jury announced that they were agreed upon their verdict, when they were informed that the court was adjourned until this morning; in consequence of which adjournment, the verdict will not be announced until 9 o'clock this morning, when an immense crowd of citizens are expected to be present, to hear the conclusion of this trial.

Criminal Court.—Nelson Woods, charged with the murder of Mick Dugan, has his trial set for Monday next. One hundred and fifty citizens have been summoned as a panuel from which to choose a jury for the trial.

The case of Michael Gauntlery, for killing a man on 3 flatboat at the mouth of Wolfe river, was brought before the Grand Jury on Thursday; they found an indictment which proves to be defective. Yesterday the case was reconsidered, and a new indictment against the accused is expected to be brought in this morning when the prisoner is brought into Court.

The Death on the Levee.—We yesterday mentioned the death of a man named Blesely on a dray on the levee, after he was taken off the boat Kate Frisbee. We are requested to state that two or three policemen present protested against the removal, as they were of opinion it would shorten the man's days. They refused an application for a permit from the Mayor for admission into the Hospital. No permission was applied for, nor any regular application made at the Hospital. The captain of the boat assures us that the removal was made by the friends of the deceased without his knowledge or advice.

The Gaiety.—At the Gaiety to-night an unusual treat may be expected. Mr. W. H. Crisp and his highly gifted lady will appear in one of the most charming pieces belonging to the English stage, Sheridan Knowles' great play of The Wife, a tale of Mantua. Mr. Crisp takes the part of "Julien St. Pierre," and Mrs. Crisp that of "Marianne." The press, both in this country and in Europe, have spoken in the most complimentary terms of these two performers, and we anticipate for the drama-loving citizens of Memphis a most enjoyable occasion, and doubt not a crowded house will welcome Mr. and Mrs. Crisp, on the early evening thrice engagements permit them, at present, to appear here. The two fascinating dancesses will dance the Polka Mazurka. The closing piece is the A Kiss in the Dark.

☞ The following we copy from the New York Herald. The nature of the accomplices spoken of will be seen by referring to the financial column:

"Immediate purchases and shipments of cotton are required in the Southern ports by English account. It is a matter of vital importance to the manufacturers in Manchester that this should be done with all convenient despatch; and as far as the celerity of the transaction is concerned, it can be best effected by guaranteed Bank of England credits or acceptance than by the shipment of specie."

Ashton, La., September 29, 1857.

Mr D. McCoun—Dear Sir: I received the shipment of Iron Ties, by the Nebraska, which I tried and will ever much pleased with. But am sorry to add that I shall not want any more this season, on account of a very great accident which occurred on the 26th inst., which is as follows: I commenced pressing my cotton in the morning, and made 22 bales by 12 o'clock, and while I was at dinner my gin house took fire, from some unknown cause, and consumed about 100 bales of cotton, a very fine engine and saw mill, four 50-saw gins, corn mill, plows, wagons, &c., to the amount of at least $25 000. The gin house was one of the largest and finest in Louisiana.

Very respectfully, yours,

JAMES S. JOHNSON.

Office of McCoun's Iron Tie.

Messrs. Editors: Will you allow your constituents the benefit of the above letter, showing the experience of a planter in the use of "McCoub's Iron Tie," as a secure and speedy method of putting up cotton bales. In answer to the question often asked, "whether or not there is an extra charge made by cotton dealers on Iron Tied cotton in New Orleans?" I wish to say that if any extra charge is made, it is the fault of the factors to whom the cotton is shipped, as there are three presses ready to receive, store and press Iron Tied cotton on the same terms as rope, as will appear from the following advertisement which was published in the New Orleans Picayune in April last. I am now prepared to fill orders for this Tie, and will guaranty that there will be no difficulty in making more bales in a given time, or in keeping the cotton in better order than it is possible to do with rope. A large saving to the cotton growers will be effected by the general use of Iron Ties, and it is the prime interest of planters to look to it. A little decision on their part is all that is wanting. D. McCOMB, Palestine.

On the first of September next, the undersigned will be associated together for the purpose of Storing and Compressing Cotton under the style of Reading, Pasteur & Co., and agree to receive all cotton banded with the McComb & Reives Tie, and compress it on the same terms as rope tied cotton.

Having two of the largest sized Tyler Cotton Presses, we will be prepared to press the whole (if necessary) iron bound cotton coming on the present crop to New Orleans.

A. S. READING, Bramah Press,
C. N. PASTEUR, Brokers' Press,
R. M. PASTEUR, Armor's Yard.

We also agree to receive Cotton iron bound on the same terms as Messrs. Reading, Pasteur & Co.

ROBT. MAURER & CO., Texas Press.

New Orleans, April 17, 1857.—1aw1.

Weakness of the Stomach and Indigestion.

Another Great Cure effected by Barkhove's Holland Bitters.

The wife of Pieter De Witte, living in Holland Town, Sheboygan county, Wisconsin, suffered much from Weakness of the Stomach and Indigestion. She had been under a physician's care for some time, but the disease seemed to baffle even his skill. She purchased some Holland Bitters at our office, which has given toge to her stomach; her appetite and strength are returning, and we firmly believe that this is another great cure effected by your medicine.

We have still to record many wonderful cures effected by this remedy, but must wait another opportunity. One thing you can rely upon, what we have published are from persons much respected in our community, and are literally true S. QUINTUS

TO ASSOCIATED PRESS OF MEMPHIS

From Kansas.

St. Louis, November 6.—A letter from Lecompton to the Democrat, says that the object of Walker's stationing troops at Lecompton, was from an apprehension that there would be a Free State majority, who would repeal obnoxious laws and depose office holders, inclining to sanitary measures. The Constitution will be submitted to the people with the slavery clause, which is objectionable to the Free-State party, and too moderate for the Pro-Slavery office.
