THE DAILY APPEAL.
FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 23, 1858.

☞ [illegible] to the Associated Press for the Yankee [illegible].

☞ The Adams Express Company will accept our thanks for late papers.

☞ Messrs. Lane, Young & Co. have laid upon our table Harper's Magazine for February, for which we render our thanks.

☞ We had the pleasure of meeting with Gen. Gideon J. Pillow yesterday, who has been stopping in the city for a few days, and who leaves soon for plantation in Arkansas.

☞ Parties wishing new and elegant household furniture, won't fail to attend Haynes' auction sale this morning at 11 o'clock. See his advertisement in another column.

☞ Our readers should bear in mind that Lucas's sale of fine liquors, cigars, furniture, etc., comes off this morning at 10 o'clock. Fortnightly [illegible] are also to be sold at the same time.

☞ Yesterday was another balmy, beautiful and spring-like day. The buds of some of the fruit trees are beginning to burst and serious fears begin to be entertained for the fruit crops.

☞ Mrs. Julia Dean Hayne, at last accounts from California, was playing a farewell engagement at the American Theatre, San Francisco, to good houses. She contemplates soon returning East.

☞ Discretion.—By referends to our advertising columns, it will be seen that the firm of Lavalleyte & Davidson was dissolved by mutual consent, on the 21st inst. The business will be conducted in the future by A. T. Lavalleyte & Co.

☞ The fire mentioned before last, was caused by the burning of the residence of Bishop Otey, near the city. The house was entirely consumed, though we learn the furniture was mostly saved. We have not heard as to whether or not there was any insurance upon the property.

☞ The Commercial Hotel, under the management of Gen. Mitchell, is conducted in a manner to reflect credit upon the proprietor and to give general satisfaction to the public. Every delicacy and substantial is served up at his table in the most approved style, and the comfort and pleasure of his guests is closely cared for by the polite and attentive landlord.

The Gazette.—The Marionetti and Blondin Troupe continue to draw good audiences at their popular place of amusement. The performances last evening was excellent, and was greeted with rounds of applause. This evening will be presented Secret Marriage, and Soldier for Love, making altogether a very attractive bill, which will doubtless insure a large audience.

☞ The present winter thus far has been the most remarkable on record. As yet we have had no freezes, and the prospects are that we shall have to do without ice, that greatest of all luxuries, during the coming summer. We learn that a dispatch was received here yesterday from above, stating that a few boat loads had started for this place, but it could be procured nowhere more than six or eight inches thick. In the North as well as in the South the weather has been mild and genial.

☞ Our Book Table.—Messrs. W. E. Shannon & Co., successors to Alexander & White, have laid on our table Harper's New Monthly Magazine for February. Its table of contents is laden a number of excellent articles. This number is also handsomely illustrated with a number of engravings.

☞ The same house has also favored us with Godey's Magazine and Lady's Book, for February, both of which are well filled with choice reading matter, illustrated with [illegible] plates.

☞ Owing to the contraction of our advertisements, Mr. Rosselle's our local column is in the decline of interest this morning. There is little transpiring in our city at this time, however, worth chronicling. Dr. Boyd continues to draw good crowds at Odd Fellows' Hall, to hear his interesting and instructive lectures on Geology. The two Theatres, also, with the Blondin and Marionetti Troupe at the Gaiety and Miss Maggie Mitchell at Ashe's, are well patronized nightly. The ordinance against carrying concealed weapons has pretty well put a stop to murders and bloody assaults, and hence we have nothing to chronicle in the line of blood. As observed by the Zoological Age, our old friend Cayce continues to do a smashing auction business "on the square," while Harris, Wallace, Harris and Levy, and all other auctioneers, have been allowed the full privilege of the bluff—not to play a "blind game," however, as this might subject them to "pains and penalties" they would not relish. In transacting business "on the square" we hope Cayce may not find it necessary to call in the assistance of a friend as was the case with Wallace, not long since, when attempting to do the same thing.

Speaking of sentiments reminds us of gun barrels, and those who desire such articles, either repaired or manufactured to order, will do well to call on Worry, up on Jefferson street, or if they prefer the article already manufactured, they will find a full supply of all sorts, sizes and descriptions at the house of F. H. Clark & Co., or that of Lowrey, Orgill & Co. At the latter house, as well as at that of Hawkes, Smith & Co., they can obtain almost any article manufactured from cold iron, from a fish hook to a crushing machine.

Speaking of crushing machines, reminds us of sandacles, one of which seems inclined to crush out Manager Cayce, of the Gaiety Theatre, but Cayce so manages as to make his theatre draw and pay handsomely. Speaking of drawing, reminds one of that great gift enterprise, of which Wallace is the agent, and who promises every one who buys a ticket, that he is sure to draw a big prize. We never use the word puffs but it makes us think of puffs, but this reminds us of the hard puffs we have been to for the last twenty days for the "little balances" due us, and right here, to save the labors of our collector, we take off our hat and make our politest bow and most graceful bow to such of our customers as are in arrears.

☞ Shakspeare's Dictionary.—The Noblest Author's master of Song sack—"The iron horse of Science" is the result of years of study of the best of men; is a glorious exponent of the creative capacity of the human mind; is the wonder among things which Intelligence controls over a continent, prove by every flash of thought, which it has been to them, that man possesses some attributes totally godlike, the power to annihilate space and time. But one and important as it is for the results of making steam and lightning Uncommon carrier and messenger of the world, and discovery by which the human blood can be vitalized and rendered to new vigor and purity, by means of internal and external remedies, lead to infinitely greater value. The resources of vegetable chemistry, as developed and applied by Thomas Holloway, have proved equal to this mighty task. His famous remedies impart to the system of life a misdirecting principle which from the spot on fruit will improve and poisonous elements. In powers of chemistry are almost beyond calculation, and never has brought them to bear upon all the variations of disease, in those horrible vegetable compounds known as HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT, they have conquered their highest and fairest object.

Cancer, as the great traitor, is after all but a mere tool in hand. In countless cousins, mouth, in crowning substantial benefits, with equal certainty to the fields in which they are to operate. It is to enjoy the honors of a conqueror, the conqueror. Of all the foreign which it encounters, land and sea, there is perhaps none so prominent as Holloway's Ointment. It is merely a figure of speech to say, that wherever it comes there, it throws with a blow on the wings of Cupid's Dart. Cancer of Ointment, the skin, heaven's delight by exposure or excrescences, become a labor's rare pure, spotless, surprises, [illegible] in the course of themselves is not enough and a delicate back disease into [illegible] and [illegible] of the [illegible] material which feeds it.

The Pills act upon the internal fluids and organs which serve them on the same sanitary principle. They destroy the morbid particles which in their blood action as infallible as [illegible] in acid; and at the same time invigorate a mild and constant electric action to the secretive and excretive machinery.

It would be repeating a familiar story to tell of the wide celebrity, the universal celebrity of these twin conquerors. They have penetrated every habitation into which civilization has penetrated. They are the medicines of every clime, creed, and color on the face of the earth. The sanction of governments and patronage of princes, the approval of Christian alters, the gratitude of poor in every clime, are their birth. In fact, regions with which this country has not even a [illegible] intercourse, where Holloway's Pills are known as a household word. Some estimate may be formed of the extent and variety of the demand for these celebrated medicines when it is stated that they are sold by every vendor of medicines throughout the civilized world, and that large sums are employed in advertising them in the public journals of every country on the earth.—London Morning Herald.

☞ My notices about H. Cleave Southey [illegible] the same as they are about Brown—he is a good deal of a humorist, and [illegible], after all, one wants to be a [illegible]. [illegible] Cleave Southey [illegible] Lehon Cayce [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
