A new style of ARTIFICIAL WORK, invented by Dr. J. C. Loomis, of Philadelphia. This style of work has superior advantages over anything yet introduced to the profession, in that it is clear, no chance for the accretion of food, more beautiful and cheaper than the old style, and equally as strong, if not stronger. All operations warranted. I have the exclusive right for the city of Memphis, and State of Tennessee and Louisiana. oct7-dly

COMMERCIAL HOTEL!
THE undersigned has the pleasure to announce to the public that he has this day become the proprietor, and has taken charge of that popular and well known hotel, the COMMERCIAL HOTEL, Memphis, Tenn. The office is under the charge of Mr. M. E. TYLER, late proprietor of the Brunswick House, Mobile, and one of the most thorough and accomplished hostlers now in the South, assisted by Mr. JOHN C. McALISTER, formerly of Jackson, Miss., as Book-keeper and Cashier. In the department of the table McALISTER has no superior. Mr. J. A. BRADLEY, late of Natchez, Miss., is Assistant Clerk and general Collector. The cuisine department is under the supervision of Mr. WILLIAM BIGAN, late of Vicksburg, Miss., long and well known as a first-rate cook and general manager of the table department in the Washington Hotel in Vicksburg. Suffice it to say that in his department Mr. Bigan will be assisted by Mr. CHARLES FAIRBROTHER, for fifteen years superintendent of the dining rooms of some of the first class Hotels in the United States, while in the kitchen department he will be assisted by a lady in the charge of Mrs. S. A. TYLER, a most elegant and accomplished lady. The Commercial Hotel is situated on Main street, and contains the largest number of first class rooms, furnished by the largest and heaviest association, produce and dry goods houses in the city. Hence the proprietors will at all times and at all hours of the day and night be ready to convey travelers and passengers to and from the river and Railroad Depots. The omnibus of the Commercial Hotel, and the telegraph office are kept in the Commercial Hotel. The proprietor hopes that he merited by such an able and competent corps of assistants, and unless instructed that he can give very satisfactory entertainment. In a word, he will hurry up the cakes, attend to the wants of the guests, feed the hens and the lamb the jolly and the lean, in the true McMacklin style, all the best in the world. He so trils a very liberal share of public patronage. M. E. TYLER,
Proprietor Commercial Hotel, Memphis, Tenn.

Depot Hotel,
Nearly opposite the Depot of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad,
MEMPHIS, TENN.,
B. F. C. BROOKS.....Proprietor.
TO persons who may be passing through Memphis on the Charleston road, the proximity of this House to that depot offers advantages which no other house in this city can possibly offer. The hours of arrival and departure of the Charleston road are so arranged that the evening train will find it materially to their interest to stop at this House, and should not the temptations of the table induce them to do so, the offer of a comfortable room, and a good bed, and intend leaving on the Charleston road, may serve much by rising men darkly to this House, spite the calm of cars. We are much obliged for your kind patronage
