THE APPEAL.

A WOMAN'S QUESTION.

Before I trust my fate to thee,
Or place my hand in thine,
Before I let my future give
Out your form to mine,—
Before I pen an idle line, one thing thy soul to-night for me.

I would ask a sight here's and feel
One shadowed recess;
Is there one look with the past
That holds thy spirit yet?
Or is thy faith as clear and free as that which I can pledge to thee?

Does there within thy dimmest dreams
A possible future—bliss,
Whereon thy life could hence rest
Untouched, unshared by mine?
If so, at any pain or cost O tell me before all is lost!

Look deeper still. If then could feel
Within thy inmost soul
That then had kept a portion back,
While I have staked the whole,
Let no false pity spare the blow, but, in true mercy tell me so.

Is there within thy heart a nook
That mine cannot hold?
One chord that any other hand
Could better wake or sway?
Speak now, lest some future day, my whole life wither and decay.

Lives there, within thy nature hid,
The demon-spirit, Change,
Shadowing a passing cloud or all
On all things new and strange?
It may not be that I alone, but shield my heart against thy own.

Couldst thou wi hdraw thy hand one day,
And answer to my calm
That fate, and that love, had been a mistake,
Not that, has been in blame?
Save us the their remembrance then; but then—O, surely then, will wake me now!

WIT AND HUMOR.

We wonder if anybody ever picked up a tear that was dropped.

From the time consumed by ladies in "doing their hair," it is evident that this is the more part of the business.

The man who was 'moved to tears,' complains of the dampness of the premises, and wishes to be moved back again.

A shoemaker has one important advantage over all the rest of mechanics—his goods, whenever finished, are always sold.

An Irishman says if the Naiads were constantly bathing, he presumes, from their names, the Dryads were the ones who brought the towels.

A culprit being asked what he had to say why sentence of death should not be recorded against him, replied, "He had nothing to say, as too much had been said already."

Bachelors are not entirely lost to the refinement of sentiment, for the following toast was given by one of them at a celebration:—"The Ladies—sweet briars in the garden of life."

"My learned friend," observed an advocate during a recent trial, "practices his arguments before a glass.—"Better practice them before a glass than after a glass," was the reply.

"My brethren," said Swift, in a sermon, "there are three sorts of pride; of birth, of riches, and of talents. I shall not now speak of the latter, none of you being liable to that kind of vice."

At Gibraltar there was a scarcity of water. Another said he was very easy about the matter, for he had nothing to do with water; if he only got his tea in the morning and punch at night, it was all he wanted.

Sir C. Napier said: "I asked a dirty fellow, black as a sweep, if a coal-pit could be descended without spoiling my clothes. 'Lor bless you, I goes down ten times a day, and never minds my clothes!' was his answer.

Children and fools, says an old adage, always tell the truth. "Mother sent me," said a little girl to a neighbor, "to come and ask you to take tea with her this evening." "Did she say at what time, my dear?" "No, ma'am, she only said she would ask you, and then the time would be off her mind—that's all she said."

A chap out West, who had been afflicted with palpitation of the heart, says he found instant relief by the application of another palpitating heart to the part affected.

Jack Bannister was going into a pastrycook's shop with Parsons. The latter gentleman was very curious in examining in electrical eel, and inquired of Bannister what sort of a pie he thought it would make. "A shock-ing pie," was the reply.

AN ARTIST ECLIPSING HIMSELF.—AND HIS MOON.—The celebrated artist who erected so naturally that the sun rose three hours before its time, has recently finished a picture of the moon that is painted with such wonderful fidelity to nature that it can't be seen in the daytime.

Rees, the minstrel, once appeared in the Court of King's Bench, as bail for a friend. Garrow examined him, and said, "You are, I believe, an imitator; are you not?" So you tell me," replied Rees. "I tell you, sir, so you know it. Are you not in the habit of taking people off?" said the Judge. "O, yes," was the reply, "and I shall take myself off the moment you are done with me."

IRISH TWITS.—An old, ragged, red-faced, foolish looking Irishwoman accosted us with—"Please, sir, give me a fip to buy bread wid. I am a poor, lone woman, and have two young twins to support." "Why, my good woman," we replied, "you you seem too old to have twins of your own." "They're not mine, sir; I am only jaintin' 'em." "How old are your twins?" "One of 'em is seven weeks old, and t'other is eight months ould, please, sir."

At a period when hotels were fewer and less attractive in Petersburg than they are now, a native of the sunny South made a sojourn at the town of Petersburg. Before leaving he called for his bill—a request that somewhat puzzled the worthy landlord, who was not in the habit of giving written bills, nor by any means an adept at calligraphy. The traveler, however, was to be paramount in return; for on glancing at the contents of the bill which produced, he was fairly put to a stand by the following entry:—"2d. for fash!"—"Fash!" exclaimed the indignant Cockney, "what is fash? I never got any fash!" "Why, fash, said the landlord coolly, "but ya gived some."

I say, squire, what'll you take for that ere dog of yours?" said a Yanker pedler to an old Dutch farmer; "what'll you take for him? He ain't a very good-lookin' dog; but what was you calkilatin' may be he mought fetch?" "Ah!" responded the Dutchman, "dat dog isn't wort' nothing most; he isn't wort' you to buy 'um."—"Guess tow dollars about would get him, say, wouldn't it?" "I'll give you t'ree for him." "Vat? Yaas; he isn't worth dat."—"Well, I'll take him," said the pedler. "Stop!" said the Dutchman; "dere's one ting about dat dog I gasn't sell."—"O! take off his collar; I don't want that," suggested the pedler.—"I tain't dat!" replied Mynheer; "he's a boor dog; he'll gasn't sell de way of his tail ven I comes home."

OBEYING ORDERS LITERALLY.—In one of his visits to England, Sir John Stevenson had taken private apartments for himself and servant—an unadulterated native of the verdant isle. Being much engaged in writing musical compositions preparing for the press, he took the precaution one day of denying himself, and thus delivered orders to that effect: "Now, Patrick, remember I'm going to be particularly occupied for the next hour, and I must be left at home, mind, if the Bishop of Lowden calls." "Very well, your honor, I'll take care," replied the obedient servant, as he closed the door Sir John now sat down to his piano forte, and was soon absorbed in the mysteries of composition, when, in about ten minutes, he had reason to congratulate himself upon having provided against intrusion, for a loud knock at the street door proclaimed the usual routine of duties. When, to his great surprise and gratification when he saw his room door flung open and Pat, with his usual smile of welcome, ushering in three gentlemen. After the simple fellow had placed chairs for the visitors, with a view to prove to his master that he had not infringed the particular order he had received from him, with much significance of look, and force of emphasis, he said:—"Plaze, Sir John, the Bishop of Lowden hasn't called yet!"

REPLIES TO QUERIES.—The 'Note and Query' department in newspapers—especially the hebdomadals—furnishes a tedious amount of pedantic ignorance, pedantic impudence and nonsense. The Buffalo Republic devotes a half column, in burlesque, of this sort of literature and gives a lot of answers to imaginary questions, which are exceedingly amusing. The fact of such publishing the questions, or leaving the reader to infer them from the answer, greatly heightens the fun of the thing. Here are some specimens of the Republic's replies to correspondents:

Enquirer.—The Fourth of July does not occur on the 22d of February, nor is it, as you suppose, commemorative of anything that ever happened to the Rochester Union.

Robertson.—He was not in the slop-pail. He was under the bed.

Mother.—Reverse and spank.

Bride.—Victoria pins can be had at S. O. Barnum's.

Statistics.—Seven times five are thirty-five.

Helen.—You can keep them up with 'elastics.'

Medlens.—Apply shoemaker's wax, and then squeeze it.

Geographer.—Rochester is on the canal, east of Lockport.

Stumuckke.—Fifteen drops each of laudanum and camphor, and rub it.

Ambition.—Very few men will descend so far. To be spoken of for Aldermen, involves loss of reputation, friends and citizenship. You can imagine what a man must be to be elected.

NOT CONVERTED.—Those two sons of Belial, Edwin Forrest and Thomas F. Marshall, are none based with congratulations on their recent reported conversion. So greatly are they plagued by these epistolary felicitations they have been obliged to resort to the public press, and each for himself (Mediolam say improvement in his moral condition. By their own showing they are still in the gall of bitterness and the bond of iniquity, and extraordinarily good prizes for an enterprising revivalist. It is sincerely to be hoped that they will be taken in hand, and if no general good can be accomplished, perhaps some improvement in Mr. Forrest's style of acting may be effected. He is grievously addicted to long pauses, and possibly by due persuasion might be induced to stop altogether. A gentle word for the stage would thereby be done, and the thanks of the profession be its sure reward. To make a convert of Tom Marshall is almost a hopeless undertaking as to spiritualize Forrest. With both so hard to bend, he has, if anything, more habits. He can live without grace in the world, but would not exist without Bourbon. We have little hope for either Tom or Ned. They are hard cases both, and likely to continue so.—St. Louis Ledger.

ELIZA LOGAN.—The Cincinnati Enquirer of Sunday, says:

This accomplished actress and charming woman has returned from Nashville, where she recently played an engagement, and is sojourning at the Burnet House. For the past year Miss Logan has been laboring with a severe affection of the throat, and by the advice of her physician she has resolved, in order to recuperate her health, to visit Europe. She does not go professionally, and does not design to play during her absence.

A Valuable Plantation for Sale in Panola County, Miss.

BEING desirous to concentrate my planting interests in the Rivers yet bottom, and also from a wish to live in a more populous and healthy Panola county, where I now reside. It consists of 630 acres—more than 200 in woods and finely timbered, all the cleared land is in fine condition, well ditched, fenced and under good cross. One corner is within 400 yards of Coon Depot. The main road from Coffeeville to Sarpitchie passes through the place, and the road from west to Coon Depot on the south line. The neighborhood is one of the best in the State for churches and society. I will sell the whole plantation for cash, or I would sell one-fourth or one-half to a good planter.

Have established themselves at the Metropolis of a
General Land Agency Business
IN THE STATE OF ARKANSAS.

THEY will PAY TAXES on lands, and attend to the business of purchasing lands.

They will make personal examinations and situations of lands, in any part of the State, and report, to parties the character of the soil, timber, quantity of arable land, quantity of cane, and any desirable information in regard thereto; and in cases where owners wish to bring their land into market, then will contract to lay out their lands in 40, 80, and 160 acre chasers for either the plantations or small lands of those who desire to sell.

Both land and lots in this State has been reserved from sale for the last five years, having been reported as swamp and overflowed, which by an act of the last Congress, was confirmed to the State, and will be subject to entry in a few months. The lists of these lands contain a great many of the most desirable tracts for cultivation, and the above firm, from their experience as practical surveyors, has or would have been engaged in the public surveys for the last five years, and live after in Holmes and Swamp Land Engineering, having been appointed as one of the Engineers of Drainage of the State, will be prepared to make good locations for persons desiring to locate money, when this confirmation of Swamp lands shall be made, or lands subject to entry, either for a stipulated share of the land or commission upon the money invested.

Persons from the North or Arkansas will find at their office, plats of land unimproved, or farms, with full descriptions of their improvements, quality, locality, &c., and can have their business attended to promptly and at a cheap rate.

STAR AND ADAMANTINE Candles.

THE UNDERSIGNED CONTINUE THE MANUFACTURE of their celebrated Candles, of the different sizes—four, five, six, and seven to the pound,

All Warranted Full Weight.

Consumers will find it greatly to their interest to use these Candles in preference to any other brand in the COUNTRY. Many Candles that are really seven to the pound, are branded and sold as sixes, making a difference of twelve cents on a box of five pounds. The adulteration usually made in the price is not proportioned to the difference, as the Candles are inferior.

A Box of Sevens contains 247 Candles, and is sold for 35 pounds, which is the actual weight.

A Box of 14 oz., or "Short Weight, Sixes," contains only 246 Candles, same size as the Sevens, and is sold for 40 pounds.

Supposing the price of the former to be 20 cents, and the latter 18 cents, there will be a difference of 2c. cents in price and seven cents in country ... in favor of the full weight candle. Take a box of sixes and half weight, and you will pay 2 cents per box for every cent saved in shipping.

Those interested will do well to examine the subject for themselves.

A CARD.
OUR NEW FIRM.

It affords me pleasure to announce to my friends and the public that I have associated with me my former partners, JAS. S. WILKINS, and my well-known assistant, THOS. HILL, under the familiar style of F. H. CLARK & CO.

The new firm will start with an efficient force in each mechanical branch, the Watch department being under the supervision of Mr. WILKINS.

Mr. Hill at all times of the latest fashions, and prices a lot as the same quality and style of goods can be purchased in Philadelphia or New York.

I am thankful for the liberal patronage extended to me during my fifteen years' residence in Memphis, and my aim will be to merit its continuance.
F. H. CLARK.

LaFayette Springs.

THIS Watering Place is one of the most beautiful sites for a Watering Place in the South. The facilities for access to the place, are as good as any it being situated half way between Oxford and Pontotoc, a distance of 18 miles from either place, and by well-known stage of Bragg from Oxford to Aberdeen. The place having changed hands the Proprietor feels confident that he will deserve the patronage of those who may visit it. Board at his charges is as to compart with the hardness of the times. The buildings are large and commodious, suited to the accommodation of those who may visit the place to give them patronage.
