THE APPEAL.

IRISH EMIGRANT'S REFLECTIONS.

Written as a continuation of the Irish Emigrant's Lament, after his arrival in America.

BY J. ANSTINSIN SIGNAIGO.

I'm in the land of Joy, Mary,
Where none of Sorrow find
A happy home for them to rest,
Along hearts benign and kind;
But even here, I'm gloomy—sad,
And know no cheer of mind,
For who my anguished heart recalls
You're in your grave behind.

This is the land of Washington,
Along good great man the best,
He'd live in every freeman's heart
While liberty has sway;
But yet I'm very sad, Mary,
My heart is in your grave,
I'm like the strong but helpless bark
Bound on destruction's wave.

This is the land of Liberty,
Far from oppression's shore,
And here, indeed, I truly feel
I am a man once more;
For 'tis not here the English hand
Where birth gives man the worth,
A man's a MAN in this good land
Though poorest of the earth.

I'm thinking of the bright May morn
When we sat side by side,
In the full hope of dawning bliss,
When first you were my bride;
Ah, me! the melancholy thought
Brings me a sorrow here,
That sadly wings my soaring brain
To chase will and drear.

And Autumn winds have come, Mary,
And dew's pile on the stem;
Oh, when you died, the world's cold blast
Chilled my heart like them:
And now I'm waiting for that Spring
That blooms the souls of both,
With spirits kindred to that Home
Never to part again.

MEMPHIS, June, 1858.

LETTER FROM SUT LOVEGOOD, OF TENN.

[Written for the Nashville Union.]

KNOXVILLE, June 19, 1858.

Do not the belligerent demonstrations among our prominent men (?) in these latter days, strike you as savoring somewhat of the ridiculous—rather of the Bombaston Furioso school. The lie "passes" back and forth for some indefinite period of time (always before a full audience;) then a call (for friendship then is laboured set of carefully worded and cold notes) then smoke—an Indian would say "heap of smoke." Meantime all the news mediums, viz: loafers, gossips, telegraph, editors, and old women, exert their powers lauding or decrying the admirable behavior of these heroes are so soon to lock for life or death; when, lo! after all the supposed notoriety for "game" has been obtained, at vast expense of tongue and ink and shakey nerves, here stoops the mediating angel in a staid Methodistic" cool" old man, "whose courage is never questioned, never doubted," because no sensible person ever thought it worthy of a test—or the pleading tears of well scared beauty drop like rain in the gladiatorial arena. Presto, change!—a healing balm, written on gilt-edged paper, called an explanation, for which all parties have looked as the balm of their mint juleps, comes dove-like amid the savage sanguinary crowd, and all's over; each principal struts, as well he may strut, under his cheaply earned honors.

Take an example: Here's the redoubtable prize ox in the Memphis cattle show, Wilson, of Mass., traveling in animal strength, filling the eye with a redundancy of muscle, yet the veriest coward that ever truckled to an inferior foe—now his insults broadcast, and then simply sets the challenge in four year old well preserved hickory, in the hands of a brother blacksmith born south of Mason and Dixon's line, is the true antidote for his grog-house poison.

All this reminds me of an occurrence of the olden time, whereat I have read and know perhaps you may: Tedkins was delivering himself of some rather pungent remarks, addressed point blank to Bynum,) you well remember him,) which were rounded off somewhat in this style: "I and now you d—d villain, you sneaking dog-ear'd puppy, I mean to bind up my fool and make a scabbard for it in your loathsome carcass." Bynum, who had listened with an air of bewildered astonishment to the whole invective, without once looking at the inveigher, took my arm, and, after walking some distance in silence, remarked: "I am a very excitable man, and, when roused, very exceedingly dangerous. I do not wish to trust my judgment in this matter, and having full confidence in yours, I'd like to obtain your deliberate opinion. Do you—not—think—that—that—all—of Tedkins' remarks, as addressed to me, were tinged (perhaps slightly so) with—with—something savoring of personality?" I gravely replied, most decidedly not; that I viewed them as the most guardedly general remarks I had ever heard, and so we parted—he to cool his smoking climax; Bynum was magnanimously disposed to accept my interpretation, and proceeded towards dinner—a confusion of our walk. The next tableau was said B., "under steam," with Tedkins in front—the chase, armed with an old buggy shaft, which he was industriously "grinding up" to a sharp point with a dinner knife. Mem.: he didn't catch him.

Amat these popular belligerent whirlpools in life's stream, have you read the editor of the Register's (a paper in our city) reply to a very remarkable article claiming the paternity of the publisher? Has not the editor got the "law and the facts?" and is not he "usin' 'em" both?

"Cows may chase to stir cows,
Yet the eagle takes his time."

But it nevertheless brightens memory's glass, in which I think I see a reflection of the interesting passage at arms.

A green cockney, city brad—a "posted" man—who deserved a "scalping" if he didn't know as not worth knowing, visited the country to recuperate, which laudable intention he most fully accomplished thus: In a "rewaul wram bin" he discovered, attached to a tree limb, some unknown kind of fruit, done up in grey paper, which he incontinently knocked down with a hoop-pole. It might have been a muskmelon, but it was a hornet colony, as he afterwards learned, partly by inquiry. I visited the sufferer in the zenith of his inflation, all cream covered, all-swelled, and all tropical in the extreme—when he thus testified to the dread of the 'article' down through mistake;" and, opening one eye as wide as its swelling permitted, he added, "I would not have done it had I known it were full of red hot darks, in the breast-coat of a pack of little wiped devils dressed in Rochester stripes crowards." I never heard a more penitent and probable confession. There is no moral to this tale.

You have often heard, but perhaps never ventured to publish, a good yarn on Dr. Thompson, of Athens, I present one, good man, tip-top landlord and will not be certainly caught it once: A traveler called very late for breakfast; the meal was hurriedly prepared. Thompson, feeling that the feed was not quite to the mark, made all sorts of apologies till round the ruler, who worked his silence, never raising his head beyond the definitive influence of his fork, or by any act acknowledging even the presence of mine host. This sulky demeanor rather "fazed" the Doctor, who, changing the range of his battery, stuck his thumbs in his vest holes, inflated his chest by robbing the room of half its air, and said: "Now, Mister, dod darn me if I haint made all the apology necessary, an' more too, considering the breakfast and who gets it, and now I tell you I have seen dirtier, worse cooked, worse tasted, worse looking breakfast and a heap of a sight smaller breakfasts than this is several times." The weary, hungry one meekly laid down his tools, swallowed the bite in transitu, placed the palms of his hands together, and, mostly looking up at the vexed and fuming landlord, shot him dead with the words following, viz: "Is—what—you—say—true?" "Yes, sir," came with a vindictive promptness. "Well, then, I'll be d—d, hoss, if you haint our TRAVELER MR." There was posted in the front door a notice sufficiently to tell the wayfaring man "that he didn't open until the morrin sun." After he was fairly under way, Thompson was observed creeping from an attic window, taking a prolonged rear view of the house and his place with a four foot telescope. It has been intimated that the Doctor hesitated many seconds between the choice of the glass and a double-barreled shot gun.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The people of Tennessee will be called upon to vote on the first Thursday in September next upon the question of calling a Convention "to revise, alter, or amend the Constitution of the State of Tennessee." For the purpose of bringing the subject early before the public, in order that it may be deliberately considered, we publish the following Act of Assembly authorizing the people to vote:

AN ACT to authorize the people to call a Convention to revise, alter, or amend, the Constitution of the State of Tennessee.

SECTION. 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That the citizens of this State, entitled to vote for members of the General Assembly, are hereby authorized to assemble at the several places of holding elections in their respective counties, and vote for or against calling a Convention to amend, revise, or form and make a new Constitution for the State.

SEC. 2 The election provided for in the first section, shall be held on the first Thursday in September next.

SEC. 3. The sheriffs of the several counties in the State shall, after giving sixty days' notice in Writing in each civil district in their respective counties, and in some newspaper printed in the county, (if there be one) and if none, in some newspaper printed in Knoxville, Nashville, Jackson, And Memphis, open and hold an election, at the several places of holding elections in their counties, on the first Thursday in September next, as prescribed in this act.

SEC. 4. The elections authorised by this act shall be held and conducted under the same rules and regulations that elections are for members of the General Assembly, and the returns of such elections shall be made in the same manner, that returns are made of election for members of the General Assembly.

SEC. 5. Each voter shall write on his ticket "Convention, or no Convention, and the returns of such election having been made, the Governor and Secretary of State shall compare all the votes cast for, or against the Convention, and if it shall appear that the votes in favor of a Convention amount to a majority of the whole number of votes polled for Governor at the election next preceding the day of election for or against said constitution, Provided, that a majority of the entire vote so polled shall be in favor of the Convention, then, the Governor shall issue his proclamation, declaring that a majority of the votes polled, are in favor of a Convention. He shall also issue writs of election, directed to the Sheriffs in every county in this State authorizing and requiring the Sheriffs thereof, to open and hold election for delegates to the Convention, at the several places of holding election in their respective counties, on the first Thursday in November next.

SEC. 6. Each county electing one representative to the General Assembly, shall elect one delegate to the Convention, and each representative district composed of more than one county, shall elect one delegate to the Convention. Counties that elect more than one representative, shall elect the the same number of delegates, as they are entitled to elect representatives.

SEC. 7. Elections of delegates to the Convention shall be held under the same rules and regulations, as members of the General Assembly, and returns of such elections shall be made in the same manner as returns are made for members of the General Assembly. The persons having the highest number of votes shall be declared elected delegate to said Convention.

SEC. 8. The delegates elect shall assemble at the capitol in the city of Nashville, on the first Monday in December thereafter, and proceed to the discharge of their duty. They shall receive the same compensation for their travel and services, as members of the General Assembly are entitled to receive under the existing laws of the State.

Passed March 19, 1858.

THE UNION

Patent Circular Mill!

Cuts from 10,000 to 12,000 feet of Lumber per Day of Twelve Hours!

WE are aware that many of our numerous cust-mers that we have so perfected, by new important improvements, the Union Circular Saw Mill, that we have no hesitation in recommending it as anything yet offered the lumberman. Strong and well made, having about double the weight of wood and iron work in the same class of mill. Our low experience has shown us that if we want a first class mill, it can only be had by a liberal outlay; and we have not cut and guides for carriage are planed, and the rolls turned into iron. Into that the log is made to move in a true line, easy and without jar, and we have not cut, and we have not, in style, size 24 inches with long bearings so that we have neither vibration or heating of shaft.

The improved Steel Blades we have introduced command the highest praise of practical sawyers. A large saving of time with increased efficiency and strength are combined in this superior Saw Mill. We have no fear of appealing extravagant, say how much lumber we have cut per hour. If the necessary help to handle a large amount of timber is provided, we have cut per hour of poplar, pine, walnut, &c., can be cut without taxing the full capacity of the mill.

In close competition with the best improved circular mills in the trade we do not expect to compete in price with other offers who build circular mills without regard to convenience, style or durability. Still we offer them and know they will not be afforded, considering the amount of labor and material used on them.

The following are our lowest cash prices, which include 24 feet carriage and main belt, with engines and boilers of 16 and 20 horse power, and all other fixtures complete.

40 in. mill and engine, 20 in. cylinder, 16 in. stroke, boiler double-fired 30 ft. long, 40 in. diameter, and all fixtures ready to set up	$1,900
36 inch mill and same size power	1,800
32 inch mill and same power	1,700
24 in. mill and engine, 10 in. cylinder, 16 in. stroke, boiler double-fired, 24 ft. long 36 in. diameter	1,200
20 in. mill and same power	1,100
20 in. mill and same power	1,000

COMBINATION PATENT

Upright Steam Saw Mill.

THIS MILL is fast coming into use in every section of the country. It has received the approbation of several thousand experienced lumber manufacturers, and is pronounced by all who have examined its operation to be the most simple, efficient and perfect machine for the purpose ever produced. The entire cost of the Mill, with a first rate steam engine and boiler of about 12 horse power, is considerably less than a good circular, delivered ready for shipment in St. Louis, is ONLY $1,750.

For twenty-four hours' work we guarantee it will saw 10 inch cylinder, 30 inch stroke, boiler double-fired, 24 feet long, 40 inches in diameter, all complete, ready for sawing, including two pumps and large size Mill complete of cutting logs 4 feet in diameter.

NASHVILLE, TENN., March 6, 1858.

BRAGG & BURROWS—Gentlemen: We have put one of your combination patent mills in operation and are well pleased with it. We can have it moved from place to place in twelve hours, and make the best lumber that can be sawed. We have been running some three weeks, cutt a white oak block 40 inches in diameter, and have never cut a crooked line yet. There has been at least one hundred persons to see it when we started it, and all I believe give it up to be the best mill for the money ever saw.

A. G. GARRETT.

We furnish other Locomotives or Stationary Boilers at equal prices, without any charge for patterns.

A CARD.

OUR NEW FIRM.

It affords me pleasure to announce to my friends and the public that I have associated with me my former partners, JAS. S. WILKINS, and my well-known assistant, URIC. HILL, under the familiar style of F. H. CLARK & CO.

The new firm will start with an efficient force in each mechanical branch, the Watch department being under the supervision of Mr. Wilkins.

Our stock will be kept up to the latest fashions, and prices as low as the same quality and style of goods can be purchased in Philadelphia or New York.

I am thankful for the liberal patronage extended to me during my fifteen years' residence in Memphis, and my aim will be to merit its continuance.

F. H. CLARK.

ESTABLISHED 1841.

OUR aim has been to keep pace with our growing city, and furnish those who want Goods in our line with good articles, and at fair prices. Our assortment, for years, has been but little if any behind our Eastern cities. It is more extensive this season than ever. Our leading branches are, first—

WATCHES,

Of which we have every variety in general use, together with a large assortment made to order, which for neatness of style and time-keeping cannot be surpassed by none. In our assortment will be found the Right Day Watch and the Repeating Chronometer, giving the time to a minute in the dark.

JEWELRY.

Our assortment in this important branch is kept full by frequent receipts of all the new styles, whether of foreign or domestic production.
