THE APPEAL.

SHAKES-PEARE ON FEVER AND AGUE.

From the Boston Post.]

All the World's a chill,
And all the men and women merely shakers.
All have their "ague days," and their "well days;"
And one man in his time is often shakers.
His chills having seven ages. At first he's "billious,"
Mewling and puking in his nurse's arms;
And then the whining schoolboy, sometimes silling,
With wind bottled fast, creeps like snail,
Unwilling to work. And then his knees ache;
Sighing like furnace, with a wofful groaning,
He sets his quiet cottage. Then he's sooth,
Full of strange oaths and aching every where;
Jerk on his back sweep, each fit becomes a quill;
He seeks the bubble proprietor
From pocket pil taken. And then he sweats;
His fair round belly, with good breakfast lined,
Pure very full—as though with rammed peaked
With broken eyes and beard of a bilious cut,
Full of fine hopes, and warning immediately,
A chill shows over him. The sixth age shifts
Into the shaking magazine, with jaws at springs,
His hale is all of cold and "cl. ches—more cold."
His shaken hose, his bed, the room kitchener;
His last scene of all, the room—no-life!
His big wife room, turning to tribe, pipes and whistles
shrill.
And shake without in semi-quaver notes.
He's but child, full on, cold and still. Last scene of all,
That ends this strange, eventful history—
Heritage succeeds the chill and fever hot.
Jump-life like lies!
Curse hangs the 'N ch-r Bands, Rest or Wait,
Tu. country's cost to him, poor on chil, and his mind
Possesses the thought that AGUE is the kind
Of laws he sings. Ague is the work.
The chill-b-k. Mr. rises from his bed
Where ever a wa kes man. He's And a chill!

IOWA, July 8, 1858. NOAH WEBSTER.

Elsie Atherton; or, The Young Man's Darling.
For the Memphis Appeal.]

It was about the first day of August, when I went to spend a week with my dear friend Elsie. She was almost nine years my senior.

She had no more use for formality with me, than with the little woodland birds that gladdened us every morning with their early songs—for, like myself, she had always lived in the country. Although Elsie still noted the girlat times, she was a most excellent housekeeper, and fulfilled her lofty station, both as wife and mother, with becoming grace and dignity.

After we put by our sewing of an evening, we would go round to see the flowers, vegetables, poultry and, would you believe it, reader, sometimes we would go to look at the little calves and pigs. After one of these pleasant rambles, I seated myself by a little window in Elsie's room, to read. She pointed out several very interesting pictures, and there I sat, while my mind rambled, I can't tell where to, until twilight fluttered her gray plumage over the heated earth, to tell us that Nox was coming again, to shelter her from Sol's burning rays. When I looked up for Elsie, she was not there. Ah, no; a quick step, unnoticed by me, had wooed her from my side.

I was about leaving the room, look in hand-but just as I reached the door, I was greeted by a merry laugh from Elsie, which sent a crimson tide to my brow; for there she sat, her head resting upon her Henri's shoulder, one of her delicate hands clasped in his, while his other arm encircled her slender form.

Her little Henri was reclining upon his father's knee, while Willie was playing with her unpriseoned hand. What a picture! I felt as if it would be cruel to disturb them, and was about to retreat (unobserved, as I hoped,) when Elsie's voice forced me to see that I was too late, for she called me, saying, "Come back, Nell, (my pet name) come back; I do believe we have made you ashamed."

I stammered something about going to put my book away, and after a few moments returned, trying to look very grave; but I shall never forget that beautiful "home scene," for Elsie was the bride of ten summers. O, it was a lovely picture! and if I was only an artist, I would draw it upon canvas; but as I am not, dear reader, your imagination will have to turn painter this time.

I know you have never seen four more cheerful, contented faces, for theirs is a home "consecrated by domestic love"—a home that will furnish any one with bright and pleasant dreams—a home that Elle a romantic mind with sweetest songs of poetry.

Happy father, happy mother,
Happy little children, too!
Happy for you love each other—
The future has no cloud in view.

JESSIE MAY.

VALENTIA HARBOR.—This place, hitherto comparatively unknown, is about to assume vast importance, as the European terminus of the Atlantic Telegraph. The following description of the island and town we copy from Lippincott's Gazetteer:

"Valentia, or Kenmore, an island off the west coast of Ireland, Munster, county of Kerry, three miles S. W. of Cahersiveen, and separated from the main land by a strait 1½ miles in breadth, and which forms the most western harbor in the British Islands;—lat 51 55 N., long. 10 19 W. Length of island, 7 miles; breadth 2 miles. It gives the title of Viscount to the Annesley family.

"Valentia or Valencia, a town or village at the southeastern extremity of the island of Valentia, Ireland, is beautifully enclosed among brown mountain slopes. Population of town 2,482. The harbor is deep, capacious, and completely land locked, and being the most western part of Europe, has lately attracted considerable attention in consequence of a proposal to make the western terminus of railway communication, and a principal station for Atlantic steamers."

Trinity Bay, and Bulls Arm Bay, are on the eastern coast of the island of Newfoundland, about lat. 47 N., and long. 52 W.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The people of Tennessee will be called upon to vote on the first Thursday in September next upon the question of calling a Convention "to revise, alter, or amend the Constitution of the State of Tennessee." For the purpose of bringing the subject early before the public, in order that it may be deliberately considered, we publish the following Act of Assembly authorizing the people to vote:

AN ACT to authorize the people to call a Convention to revise, alter, or amend, the Constitution of the State of Tennessee.

SECTION. 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, That the citizens of this State, entitled to vote for members of the General Assembly, are hereby authorized to assemble at the several places of holding elections in their respective counties, and vote for or against calling a convention to amend, revise, or alter, or form and make a new Constitution for the State.

SEC. 2. The election provided for in the first section, shall be held on the first Thursday in September next.

SEC. 3. The sheriffs of the several counties in the State shall, after giving sixty days' notice in writing in each civil district in their respective counties, and in some newspaper printed in the county, (if there be one) and if none, in some newspaper printed in Knoxville, Nashville, Jackson, and Memphis, open and hold an election, at the several places of holding elections in their counties, on the first Thursday in September next, as prescribed in this act.

SEC. 4. The elections authorized by this act shall be held and conducted under the same rules and regulations that elections are for members of the General Assembly, and the returns of such elections shall be made in the same manner, that returns are made of election for members of the General Assembly.

SEC. 5. Each voter shall write on his ticket Convention, or no Convention, and the returns of such election having been made, the Governor and Secretary of State shall compare all the returns, and if it shall appear that the votes in favor of a Convention amount to a majority of the whole number of votes polled for Governor at the election next preceding the day of election for or against said convention, Provided, that a majority of the entire vote so polled shall be in favor of the Convention, then, the Governor shall issue his proclamation, declaring that a majority of the votes polled, are in favor of a Convention. He shall also issue writs of election, directed to the Sheriffs in every county in this State authorizing and requiring the Sheriffs thereof, to open and hold election for delegates to the Convention, at the several places of holding election in their respective counties, on the first Thursday in November next.

SEC. 6. Each county electing one representative to the Gen l Assembly, shall elect one delegate to the Convention, and each representative district composed of more than one county, shall elect one delegate to the Convention. Counties that elect more than one representative, shall elect the like number of delegates, as they are entitled to elect representatives.

SEC. 7. Elections of delegates to the Convention shall be held under the same rules and regulations, as members of the General Assembly, and returns of such elections shall be made in the same manner, as returns are made for members of the General Assembly. The persons having the highest number of votes shall be declared elected delegate to said Convention.

SEC. 8. The delegates elect shall assemble at the capitol in the city of Nashville, on the first Monday in December thereafter, and proceed to the discharge of their duty. They shall receive the same compensation for their travel and services, as members of the General Assembly are entitled to receive under the existing laws of the State.

Passed March 19, 1858.

Preparatory to entering College. The private family school is the best and cheapest, and without fear I am all these evils unavoidable in the large and promiscuous school, which has made a great deal of trouble from the parents for and the class of home influence. In the family of the comparatively and orderly-bred teacher, the influence is just the reverse. It is the parent, the school-teacher, and the pupil, in the school, in a family; the school is so well conducted to develope the mental, moral and physical powers of man of Boys, with this view, a highly eligible site has been purchased with ample buildings all new and constructed according to the latest and most approved plan. A spacious, airy, and Grand stand, as is to be in readiness by the opening of the School.

Cheap Plantation for Sale.

I OFFER my plantation for sale, lying three miles northwest of LaGrange, Tenn., containing Eight Hundred and Nineteen Acres, (819.) This place was formerly owned by Capt. Thos. Wilson, and experience is rented by Mr. N. H. Cotland. It is now in a high state of cultivation, well adapted to the produce lim of cotton and all kind of grain now grown, and could easily be converted into one of the most valuable stock farms in the west, being divided into four large fields. There are two comfortable houses, the dwelling house is of log, and has four large rooms; cabins (comfortable) for twenty or thirty negroes, smoke house, stables, and all other necessary out-houses, good well of water, and one of the best selections of fruit in the country. This land is well watered, and contains valuable timber to build a fine house in the county, being high and elevated and surrounded by a beautiful grove. The property will be conveyed free from all other and female colleges in LaGrange and can save the expense of boarding his children as well as having the pleasure of their company at home. I have made up from last year's crop enough to cover the entire cost of the place. Any one wishing a bargain in land can not do better in West Tennessee. Call and examine the land as I am determined to sell. I can be found at my residence three miles north of LaGrange, and will take pleasure in showing it to any one wishing to purchase.

For Sale.

VALUABLE Lands and City Property for sale on easy terms. Three plantations in Crittenden county, improved. Also, 640 acres in Crittenden county, 3 miles from Memphis, containing 180 acres on the Military road—one mile miles from Memphis, four miles from the Mississippi river, contains 1,800 acres, improvements seven miles from the Miss sippi river, fourteen and one-half miles from Memphis. Also, 1,000 acres, improved, above three tracts of land are as good lands as any three tracts in the whole State of Arkansas, and two of which I have been at times overflowed, and to show that the land contains 1,000 acres have been above any overflow during the long progress of the late flood in the Mississippi Valley. These lands are warranted free from any incumbrance by overflow, and purchasers are invited to call and examine for themselves while the water marks are plain so that they may see for themselves what they are buying. Also two family residences and eleven vacant lots in the city of Memphis, and $20,000 worth select lots in the town of Cordova. Most of the lots are on the Memphis and Charleston and Mobile and Ohio roads.

Also nine improved lots in Salisbury, Tenn.; also a small plantation on the Coldwater River, in Marshall county, on the Charleston Railroad; also one large acre lot, and one business lot, fronting and fronting Court, Front and Second streets, in Holly Springs, Miss.; also one lot of 833 acres, at Simicha depot, on the Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad, in Desoto county, Miss. On this tract is a plantation of 400 acres, in cultivation, fronting one fronting on the depot; also 1,666 acre tract on the Tallahatchie River, in Desoto county, Miss., known as Henry Lomax; also 20,000 acres east of Sunflower river, at mile 4, many tracts of which have proved themselves, over the recent flood in the Valley, and are the finest land for the Mississippi river to have its full effect on them; also 20,000 acres of select lands in Crittenden and Mississippi counties in Arkansas, a large portion of which are entirely above the recent high water. Several tracts of the above have timbering, varying in size from 50 to 500 acres in a place, and within a number of other lands both in hilly and river country, too tedious to mention.

Any person desiring to see me in regard to any of the above property can do so by calling at my office, up stairs over the storehouse of Messrs. Copelan & Kimbrough, between Court and Madison streets, on Front Row, or any information in regard to any of the above properties can be given by addressing me in Memphis, and the property will be shown to any one who may desire to examine it. A Good Investment.

I WISH to dispose of one-half of the UNION FOUNDRY to one who will qualify himself to take charge of the business and relieve me from the care and management of the concern. It has a good run of custom and is making money. I only want a partner for the purposes above stated, as I desire some respite and recreation.

Any business man wishing to engage in the foundry business could not do better than to take an interest in this concern.

I will expect the purchaser to put in an equal capital with myself.

By calling at the office of the foundry on Poplar street, I will make a fair exhibit of the business. If not satisfactory, of course, I would not expect any one to take an interest.
