THE APPEAL.

"SUFFER THE LITTLE CHILDREN TO COME UNTO ME."

Life's long, dreary, desert waste
Lies before thy children's feet,
Nor they tread it, parent basis,
Bring them to the mercy seat;
On each church, baby brow
Pour the bright baptismal dew;
Offer them with prayer and vow
To the Holy One and True.

He shall take them in His arms,
Heal them with His holy seal,
Which not sin's alluring charms
Shall shall keep the spirit foul.
He shall bathe them in the Spirit
With all healing virtues rife,
Welling from the hallowed mount,
On which blooms the tree of life.
Washed and furnished for the road,
They shall start upon the race,
With the wording bear the load,
Travel with the warriors' pace;
But let faith unseal thine eye
Then shalt see an angel form,
Clothed with beauty from on high,
Sent to keep each one from harm.

Be thy part and trust thy God
Every promise to perform,
Trust, a though His chastening rod
Long thy quivering heart hath torn.
Sin, the devil, and the world,
To their leathsome ranks will share,
Who, with banner not unfurled,
Long delays the cross to bear.
Oh! then are they join the fight
Press the sign on every brow—
Devils at that seal of Christ,
Hate but shift must trembling bow.

When their paukon forces burn,
That shall off their sin delay
Till their opened eyes discern
Guardian angels in the way,
Luring to the paths of peace,
With persuasive accents mild,
Pointing to the blissful place
Where shall dwell the undefiled.

PERILS OF BALLOONING.—The Providence Journal has compiled quite a list of fatalities, and adds that it does not know of one distinguished aronaut that has not met with a violent death by means of a balloon:

Among the first who commenced these voyages were M. Pilatre and M. Romain, of France. They made an ascent from Boulogne, June 15, 1785, with a Montgolfier balloon, a fire being kindled underneath, and the balloon ascending by means of rarified air. At an amazing height the balloon took fire, burned the cords by which the car was suspended, and the unhappy occupants were precipitated, to the earth, dashing them to pieces in a manner too shocking to mention.

M. Zambeccari, accompanied by a friend, made an ascent from the same place, September 2, 1812. On his decent, the balloon became entangled in the branches of a high tree, and ere it could be disengaged, caught fire. The aronaut leaped out. Zambeccari was killed on the spot, and M. Bonaga survived but a short time.

About the same time a mechanician, named Bittorf, ascended from Manheim. At a considerable height, he perceived to his lot that his vehicle was damaged. He opened the valve, descended with great velocity, and was dashed to pieces against a house.

Madame Blanchard ascended from Tivoli, July 8, 1819, during the progress of a fete there. At the height of four hundred feet, her balloon caught fire. She was precipitated upon the pavement and instantly killed.

M. Harris, a very experienced aronaut, was killed May 24, 1824. He went up from City road, London. At the height of two miles, he commenced to descend very rapidly, was precipitated to the earth, and dashed to pieces.

A M. Green ascended from Cardiff, July 11, 1840. His body was found some time after on the Flat House Shoals, in the centre of Bristol Channel.

Mr. Arban, a celebrated French aronaut, ascended from Barcelona, in September, 1843. Nothing was heard from him till the middle of November, when his body was found near Rosas.

Lieut. Gale ascended from the Hippodrome of the Champs Elysees, on Sunday, September 8, 1850, some days subsequently, the body was found to a clump of fers, his limbs broken and mutilated, the face completely eaten away by dogs and other wild animals. He had previously met with several narrow escapes.

James Goulston made an ascent in the evening from the Bellevue Gardens, June 24, 1852. The balloon was a new one, forty feet high, thirty-three feet in diameter, holding twenty-three thousand cubic feet of gas. It behaved cleanly at the time, the car was lost to view in two minutes. He fell from his vehicle in attempting to descend, at the town of Leer; a considerable quantity of blood and his brains spattered over a wall, marked the spot where he struck the earth.

Mr. Knight ascended from Bombay, December 14th, 1853, in the presence of a large concourse of natives, among whom was the Rajah of Deer, who promised to load the aronaut with rupees if he went up and came down again, of which the Rajah seemed to entertain great doubts. The balloon traveled straight out to sea, and Mr. Knight has not since been heard from.

In September, 1851, M. Merle and a companion were carried off by a balloon that broke from its moorings. They ascended to such a height that Merle was frozen to death, and the other descended in the greatest peril.

Mr. Timothy Winchester made an ascent from Norfolk, Ohio, in August, 1855, starting in good spirits, and amid the cheers of a large concourse of people, since which time he has not been heard from. The aronaut was under sixteen, and it is the intention to make it, in the best sense, a home school, a nursery for thoroughly drilling lads in the

English Branches, Classics, Mathematics,

Modern Languages,

Preparatory to entering College. The private family school is the best and cheapest, and without, free from all those evils inseparable from the larger and promiscuous schools. It is the school for lads away from the parental roof and the circle of home influence. In the family of the principal and teacher, the pupil is subjected to a first parental discipline and care, and is thus prepared for the school of the world. Such a school, where duty and whose interest it is to care for them, and to be to them as parents, is what every parent, who wishes to be well educated to develope the mental, moral and physical energies of his boys, and train this other, a highly eligible one. Such has been my aim, in the work which I have all new and constructed some thing in the latest and most approved plan. A Campus, Ball Alley and Gymnasium, are to be in readiness by the opening of the School.

COTTON PLANTERS!

Attention!

A COTTON GIN FEEDER that will save the labor of a hand at every Cotton Gin to which it may be attached, thus dispensing with feeding by hand, (a very injurious practice to the gins attendant,) is certainly a desirable object. Besides which, the Feeder will remove a large portion of the dust, dirt, bolls etc., from the cotton, before it enters the gin, thus improving the quality and "sample" of the cotton, that will be another important point. I claim this my

Eclipse Cotton Gin Feeder

will accomplish the above results. I have Letters Patent for it, bearing date October 12, 1857

I am willing to put up one of them in a neighborhood, that parties may see for themselves whether it will benefit them or not.

One of them is now on exhibition at the Lard Oil, Soap and Candle Factory of J. P. Fremont & Co., Memphis, (in front of Commercial Hotel,) where any one can see it put in operation. Planters visiting Memphis are earnestly requested to call to show directed and investigate its merits. For further particulars address them

JEDIDIAH PEABODY,

Patentee.

PLANTERS!

Look well to Your Interests and Purchase only the Best Machines.

FELTON'S

SELF-SHARPENING

Portable Grist Mill,

EVERY PLANTER HIS OWN MILLER.

THIS is one of the most valuable inventions of the day, possessing all the qualities necessary to make it the greatest service to every planter, and is destined soon to supersede every other mill and to supply a great want long felt in every part of the country. It occupies only 2 feet by 3, and weighs 250 pounds.

The great distinguishing characteristics are, its SIMPLICITY, DURABILITY, UTILITY and SMALL COST, requiring no skill to keep it in order.

IT IS THE ONLY MILL IN THE UNION THAT WILL GRIND CORN AND COB IN THE EAR, WHICH MAKES THE BEST FEED FOR STOCK.

It is adapted to steam, water or horse power, grinding to perfection wheat, corn, rye, buckwheat, chops and spices; grinds with two horse power five to eight bushels per hour of the finest quality of meal for family use, and half a bushel of coarse feed for stock, and never heats the meal—a valuable feature.

It contains more good qualities than all other mills combined, and only requires a little attention to convince every intelligent mind of its great use and practicability. We invite the public to make a trial before competent judges, or any other mill over tested. Hundreds of the mills are in use in different parts of the United States and all give entire satisfaction.
