THE DAILY APPEAL.

WEDNESDAY.....OCTOBER 13, 1858

☞ Full and accurate daily reports of the progress of the Fair will be found in the APPEAL. To supply the increased demand, an extra number of our paper will be worked off each day. Price five cents per copy.

CRIMINAL COURT.—This court was in session yesterday. The misdemeanor docket is now undergoing investigation.

☞ Ex-Governor FOOTE returned to the city last evening on the Eclipse. We understand the Eclipse had on board six hundred passengers.

PERSONAL.—The Worsham House is doing a fine business at the present time. Among the guests there yesterday was ROBERT JOSELYN, Esq., of Holly Springs, author of "Faded Flowers;" also, U. S. Marshal W. H. TYSON.

THE PETS.—We had the pleasure of meeting at the Fair Grounds, yesterday, with Col. J. J. WILLIAMS, of the Jackson (Miss.) Pioneer and Mechanic, and E. B. HUTCHISON, Esq., of the Somerville Star.

THE WEATHER.—After a couple of days' gloom, and cloud, and damp, the sun shone brightly upon us yesterday, giving to nature new tints of beauty. The rain had laid the dust, and the fine weather was most welcome and enjoyable.

THE COMET.—The clouds have hid the comet from us for a night or two, but last night he was again visible, much to the west of his previous position. He is rapidly moving in the direction of the planet Venus, and will, before long, pass out of the field of human observation.

FOUND DEAD.—A man, of some forty years of age, who recently came out of the hospital in a debilitated condition, was kindly allowed by Dr. IRWIN to sleep on his premises. Every assistance was given him and medicine supplied by the Doctor, but yesterday morning he was found lying dead. Capt. THOMAS, of the police, was called in and had him buried.

☞ Among the arrivals by the Eclipse, last evening, was Col. W. F. HARPER, of Kentucky, with his stable of horses, including the Yorkshire colt "Hempland." From Col. H. we learn there are other stables on the river, which may be expected soon, unless delayed by low water in the Ohio. The prospect is excellent for a brilliant meeting over the new course.

☞ By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that G. B. LOCKE & Co., will sell to-day at 9 o'clock A. M., at their auction store, 262 Main street, two very desirable lots, situated on Adams street, and being lots No. 1 and 2 in the Arsenal Grounds. The sale will be positive, and without reserve.

HACK ORDINANCE.—The drivers of vehicles will do well to attend to an ordinance, published among our advertisements this morning, which makes it necessary for all carriages, hacks, cabs, buggies and omnibuses running under a city license, to have their numbers painted upon their lamps and conspicuously in the interior of their vehicles.

STEAMBOAT AGENCY.—W. W. HODGE, Esq., resumes his steamboat agency with the season, and his old patrons, and many new ones, will doubtless avail themselves of his attention and business knowledge. He will be found at No. 53 Front Row, where all business committed to his charge will be attended to with his usual punctuality.

NEW MARKET HOUSE.—The project of building a new market house, we are glad to observe, is not abandoned. The Mayor, this morning, advertises for proposals for putting up the building. The location, it will be remembered, is near the depot of the Charleston Railroad. We hope the work will soon be in progress, for a market house is one of the most pressing wants of Memphis.

THE MATHEMATICAL MONTHLY.—We have received the first number of this publication, which is edited by J. D. RUNKLE and published by BARTLETT, of Cambridge. The work is splendidly printed, and the names of its contributors include the very highest talent of the United States. A mathematical serial was wanted, and the excellence of this number gives evidence that the vacuum which has existed in our periodical literature will be well filled.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC., AT AUCTION.—The public will take notice that Messrs G. B. LOCKE & Co., have commenced their annual sales of books, etc. The collection comprises most of the best works of the principal publishers in this country, together with many valuable London books; fine works of art, valuable scientific and mechanical books, and choice works for libraries. Ladies and gentlemen, who are fond of literature, will find it a desirable opportunity.

CAPPED THE CLIMAX.—FRANK REDMAN is one of those civilized pariahs that usually receive more buffets than beef from a hard-hearted world. Yesterday his spirits were down and his pockets were empty—in short, things with him had reached a climax, and he felt that to cap the climax would be a bold act. No sooner thought on then done; a hat store was near, and from the articles hanging at the door, FRANK seized the cap he wanted to top off his climax with. This brought on another climax, and the unfortunate soon found himself lying in jail, with a trial for larceny before him as his next climax.

THE CAMPBELL MINSTRELS—The lovers of music and mirth must bear in mind that this favorite troupe remain in our city but three nights longer, and that this will be the last opportunity, this season, of hearing the exquisite musical entertainment, and witnessing the exceedingly funny performances of this unequaled troupe. This troupe give not only a highly comic and amusing entertainment, but combine with it the higher and more refined order of music. The Italian Opera Burlesque will be repeated to night, together with a variety of new songs, dances and comicalities. Let the Campbells have good houses at parting.

YELLOW FEVER AT CANTON, MISSISSIPPI.—The Commonwealth of the 9th inst., published at Canton, says that there is some alarm in that town, created by the report of a case of yellow fever. The fever was not, however, contracted in Canton. The case was that of a Mr. GIDDINGS, who has been employed on the New Orleans and Jackson Railroad. He had been performing the duties of engineer on the railroad between Canton and New Orleans, for the two weeks preceding his sickness. The Commonwealth thinks there is not the slightest ground for fear that the disease will spread in Canton. The place is clean and healthy, and the season too far advanced.

CANNELTON COTTON MILLS.—Among the up river customers of Memphis for cotton, is the Cannelton, Ind., Mill. We copy the following respecting its progress, from the Cannelton Reporter: We learn that the stockholders of our cotton mill are to enlarge and improve their property by the addition of forty or fifty thousand dollars worth of machinery, and we confidently look forward to their erection of a new mill as soon as they have perfected the old, and wherever the cotton manufacturing business in the country shall take a fresh start. For the last year it has been attended with the most disastrous results, and it is most encouraging to know that our mill can live when Eastern mills are closed or running at a loss.

A CARD.—I was put in jail in February last, charged with defrauding John Whitehead, of Arkansas, by means of a game they call "dropping the pigeon," by which means, it is stated, Mr. Whitehead lost forty dollars. I am not only innocent of the act, but entirely ignorant of it also; and I am persuaded that there must be some person or persons, who were present at the time the act was committed, that can testify that I not only had nothing to do with it, but that I was not present. My object in making this publication, is to call upon such person or persons to come forward and state what they know of the whole or any part of the transaction. By calling to see me at the City Jail, or sending word through any of the city officers, they will confer a lasting favor on

Very respectfully, JAS. JOHNSON.

CHIEF'S GAIETY.—This establishment continues to be fairly attended every evening, notwithstanding our city is crowded with amusements of all kinds. Mr. DREW is certainly one of the most popular actors that has ever visited Memphis. To night he appears as "Rory O'More," in the splendid drama of that name, the performance concluding with the laughable farce of the Omnibus, with JOHN DREW as "Pat Rooney." This is an excellent entertainment, and calculated to please our citizens and visitors to the Fair, who should not miss the opportunity of seeing our beautiful theatre and the dramatic company attached to it. We understand a number of Mr. DREW's friends in this city, are about to tender him a complimentary benefit. The affair is in the right hands, and we have no doubt will be a brilliant one.

Port of Memphis.

River News.

TUESDAY, October 12, 1858

The river is still declining; the landing yesterday was tolerably lively. The Garvin, Comet and Nebraska, were the only transit boats lying here last evening.

The Ingomar is the boat advertised for New Orleans at 6 o'clock this evening. There will be a large amount of cotton for this boat, as the last packet that left could not take all that was offered, and transactions in cotton have been large since it left.

This is the regular day for the Cincinnati packets, but the Ohio continues so low that the boats running on that river continually get aground, making their time of landing uncertain.

The fine boat, Lucas, Capt. Silver, is the St. Louis packet boat to-morrow.

At the Louisville falls, men are now engaged blasting the rocks so as to deepen and widen the channel, by blowing off the left hand reef of the pass. A great improvement will be made.

STEALING.—HENRY, who rejoices in the extensive cognomen of SMITH, applied the other day at a house in the city, the head of which had formerly had him in his employ, for a night's lodging. His request was granted, and HENRY slept soundly until a little before the usual hour of rising, when he left. He returned no thanks for the hospitality of which he had been the object, but manifested his sense of the favor he had received, by carrying off with him the coverlet of the bed, as a keepsake. The owner of the coverlet did not appreciate the grateful spirit manifested by the sleepy and sentimental HENRY, whose surname is SMITH, but induced Capt. THOMAS yesterday to arrest him and put him in jail for trial before the Criminal Court.

ABDUCTION.—A man named PATRICK CONNOLLY, of New York, with three accomplices, has been committed to our jail for trial at the present term of the Criminal Court, on a charge of abducting a young girl of fourteen or fifteen years of age, the daughter of MICHAEL BARNETT, a resident of the same city. Mr. BARNETT is a gentleman of some means, and it is stated that CONNOLLY's object in enticing, or forcibly detaining—whichever it may be—the girl from her father, is to marry her, and thus secure the fortune that will one day be hers. Other persons are implicated, and other arrests are expected to be made. The proceedings, when they come before the Court, will doubtless be of unusual interest.

THE BUCKLEYS.—This celebrated troupe have put Ash's Theater into trim for receiving company, and to-night will give one of their negro burlesque entertainments, after the style of their famous opera house in New York. The piece to-night is the famous burlesque of Lucrezia Borgia. This opera has never been produced here with so fine a cast. With the mingled pathos and humor so characteristic of the BUCKLEYS, the piece will probably be more a favorite for its comedy than even its harmony. The opera will be preceded by a medley, after the style of "common niggers," in which will be introduced Ethiopian quirks and conceits, mostly of the troupe's own composing. The theatre has been thoroughly cleansed and renovated, and a delightful evening may be expected.

WHAT IT IS DOING FOR THE SICK.—Francis Fellis, only manufacturer of the original "Extract of Coffee," writes us "Know that your Holland BITTERS is one of the best medicines in the world for disordered stomach or liver."

Dr. Ludwig, editor of the Foekel, Baltimore, pronounces it a medicine deserving the confidence of the public.

Dr. Eurhart, the leading German physician of Pennsylvania, has prescribed it frequently during the last three years, with marked success, in debilitated states of digestive organs, or of the system generally.

The manager of Ballou's Vinegar Factory, says: "I used it myself, and was therefore induced to try its effect upon my wife, (troubled with the debility common to all of a consumptive habit,) and really it is doing her more good than anything she has ever taken."

OBITUARY.

Died, on Sunday morning, 8th instant, of yellow fever, H. H. HITCHCOCK, aged 27 years, a native of New York, a consumer the Delta of Miss.

Poor Harry! so young, so full of life and hope, so true to the best feelings and conditions of the human heart, had, after a few short days' contact with that foul destroyer, now so have in our midst, to give up to his Creator that life which He, the All-wise, had given him. The subject of these remarks, although a comparatively stranger in our city, (having been here but two years,) lived but to be loved by all who came in contact with him. His generous, open heart, was always alive to the neediest conditions, when aware of suffering or distress that could be relieved. His trust in human nature was large, and he was therefore, perhaps, more easily made to feel the dupe of others more mercenary than he. Nevertheless his parents and friends at a distance may rest assured that during his last illness, there were those around him who cared for and attended him with all the assiduity and unwearied care that could have attended his nearest and dearest relatives. The pathway to death was smooth to him, and Harry himself knew this fact, so grateful to us all when lying on the couch of pain.

Young Whitcomb was born in Produnia, Chenango county, N. Y., where he leaves a father and mother to mourn his early death. He will also be mourned by numerous old acquaintances in all sections of the Union, by whom he was widely and universally known and respected having been for several years the Secretary of the "National Typographical Union." But his parents must not mourn as those "without hope," for his death was as tranquil as his life had been innocent, and the glorious sun is extinguished here for a time, but he is to be lighted up with a halo of glory there in a coming eternity. His earthly remains were followed to the tomb in Greenwood Cemetery, by a large number of his fellow-laborers of the Typographical Union. No more need be said of poor Harry. Peace to his ashes and may the cry not yet reach to his dear distant relatives. D.

MEMPHIS DAILY APPEAL OFFICE, WEDNESDAY, October 13, 1858.

NEW ORLEANS.—From the Picayune, Oct. 10: The week closes on a very good show of business, though some of the staple branches, as before marked, are depressed by the continuance of the epidemic, which prevents many traders and others from coming to town. The weather continues perfect, and the majority of operations constituted the universal complaint among buyers. Some spirits appear wearied with the moving of a month's profitless business
