THE APPEAL.

The City of Hamburg.

In a recent letter from Germany, the Rev. Mr. Field, editor of the New York Evangelist, thus speaks of the free city of Hanover:

Why has no traveler celebrated the beauty of this city? I have read books of travel almost by the bushel, but I do not remember ever to have seen Hamburg named, except as one of the free towns of Germany, and as a very important commercial city. Yet we find it one of the most beautiful cities we have seen in Europe. The first impression of a stranger is directly the opposite of this. We landed in the lower town, which is built along the river, and directly found ourselves in a maze of narrow streets, overhung by old, dilapidated houses, that looked as if they had been standing ever since the flood, and that as if now their last hour had come. Surely, we thought, this is a city of desolation. Ruined, rotten, rickety, worm-eaten, plague smitten—such were the constituent elements which we were prepared to bestow upon the miserable place, when, after riding half an hour, we began to ascend to the upper town, and presently emerged upon what seemed to us glorious as a Mount of Vision, shining bright and resplendent over the darkness of the lower regions. Here we found all that can make a city beautiful—broad streets and squares lined with splendid buildings, and in the centre of all, as the gem in the crown, the clear and sparkling eye of the picture—a crystal lake.

Hamburg, indeed, owes its great prosperity to commerce, and is to be considered, first of all, as a commercial city. It is a free town, having an independent political existence, and managing its own affairs. It has no king, and gets along quite as well without one as its neighbor Hanover with its royal race—to judge from the appearance of the two cities, I should say, much better. Hamburg is a free city in another sense. It enjoys almost entire free trade. The duties levied upon imports, are very light, compared with those of most States. Thus, few restrictions are placed upon commerce, and it is left free to expand according to the natural laws of trade. The city is admirably situated for commerce with all parts of the world. Standing near the mouth of the Elbe, it is easily accessible from the sea, while its position makes it the natural place of import and export for the North of Germany. Its prosperity will be greatly advanced by the railroads which radiate from it into the interior, and steamships which connect it with foreign countries.

The peculiar beauty of Hamburg it owes to the small river Alster, which flows through the town to empty itself into the Elbe. By placing a dam across this stream, the waters have been inclosed in a large basin, which is walled in by quays of stone, and is overlooked by a long range of stately edifices, so that the Alster-dam designates the most beautiful part of Hamburg. Beyond the basin thus inclosed, the waters flow back into a broad sheet of lake, extending several miles, and on its borders are the country seats of the merchant princes of Hamburg. We have just returned from a ride along the shore. It was the hour when men of business were returned from the city, and at every house we passed, the family were sitting on the green lawn before their door, taking their tea in the open air, enjoying the long twilight and the delicious coolness which came from the water, and which tempered the heat of the warm summer day.

After ascending the lake for several miles, we crossed it in a boat, to come back to the city on the other bank. The sun was setting, and the golden clouds were reflected in the polished mirror beneath. As we approached the shore, we heard the sound of music from a garden where happy groups were sitting under the trees. We have come back to our hotel, which is situated on the Alster-dam, and from our windows we looked down on a scene of enchantment. Below us the water reflects a thousand stars, and boats filled with gay parties are shooting across it in every direction. I hear the dip of their oars mingling with shouts of laughter and music. At such an hour as this all the world seems happy.

☞ The family of Wm P. Molett, Esq., of Dallas county, Ala., consisting of the father, mother, brother-in-law, and seven grand-children, it is said, have given fifty dollars each, or five hundred and fifty dollars in all, to the Mount Vernon fund.

A VALUABLE TRACT OF Land for Sale!

IN DESOTO COUNTY, MISS.

HAVING purchased a farm in Arkansas river bottom, and being desirous to migrate thither this Fall, I now offer my plantation containing 320 acres, on which I now reside, on the Pigeon road 7 miles from Hall, Springs in Helena, Ark., and two miles east of the Mississippi and Mississippi rivers, and 3 miles from Commerce. Twenty miles from Memphis. The farm has about 300 acres cleared on it, nearly 200 of which are fresh, all in a state of cultivation, and as fine a farm as any in this section or neighborhood. Tolerably good dwelling, good outhouses, all new and substantial. Also, there is on it a good cistern holding 450 bbls. of water, and three or four good springs.

The country in the neighborhood is as good as any in North Mississippi. Several Churches and Schools in the neighborhood. It is a healthy and pleasant place to live in. Other, also, is healthier than any in North Mississippi. The tract could be divided so as to make two settlements, if it is desired.

As I am waiting the money to make a payment on my Arkansas purchase, I will take $2000 cash for the whole tract, pro and said provided, or I will take $3000 in three equal instalments. It is the cheapest place in this country. As lands are better greatly in the neighborhood are sold at from $25 to $40 per acre, but I am determined to sell, and there are only three instalments to procure owning to losses in North Mississippi, to call and examine for themselves before purchasing elsewhere. I also have a tract of 80 acres on the same road, five miles east of this, for sale at $10 per acre, tolerably well improved. The whole, if not previously sold, I will sell to the highest bidder, on accommodating terms, at auction, on MONDAY, the 15th day of next November, on the premises. Any farming utensils, Corn, Fodder, Household and Kitchen Furniture, and a Negro Man, also the shares of stock each in the Mississippi and Tennessee Railroad. For further particulars, address the undersigned at Big Grove, Miss.

I OFFER my plantation for sale, lying three miles northwest of LaGrange, Tenn., containing Eight Hundred and Nineteen Acres, (819,) of this place was formerly owned by Capt. Thos. Polk, and at present is rented by Mr. N. H. Collard. It is now in a high state of cultivation, well adapted to the production of cotton and all kind of grain usually grown, and could easily be converted into one of the most valuable cotton farms in the west, being divided into four large fields. The improvements are comfortable; the dwelling house is of log, and has four large rooms; cabins (negro) sufficient to accommodate forty hands; cribs, stables, and all other necessary buildings; a good well of water, and one of the best orchards in all the country. This is one of the most commanding and beautiful sites to build a fine house in the county, being nearly 100 feet above the surrounding country. The purchaser will be convenient to both the male and female colleges in LaGrange, and can save the expense of boarding his children as well as having the pleasure of their company at home. I have more land than I can cultivate which is the only inducement to sell. Any one wishing a farm in land can and do better in West Tennessee. Call and examine the land as I am determined to sell. I can be found at my residence three miles north of LaGrange, and will take pleasure in showing it to any one wishing to purchase.

SALE OF LAND AND NEGROES, IN SOUTH ARKANSAS.

BY virtue of authority given in a deed of trust executed to me by G. M. Nelson, on the day of , 1856, and recorded in Columbia county, Arkansas, I offer for sale about

2500 Acres of Land,

Lying in Columbia county, on the waters of the Smackover Creek, about thirty miles from Camden. One body of this land contains nine two thousand acres—three or four hundred of which are cleared. The other, of some five hundred acres. Its, perhaps, a hundred opened. On the latter is a Water-mill, and other buildings for the accommodation of a small force; but the overseer and negroes living upon the larger tract, have heretofore cultivated both plantations.

Forty-Five or Fifty Slaves,

About twenty of them field hands. None are very old. They have been well treated, are more likely than common, and are increasing rapidly.

I will also sell the Crops (except Cotton) made this year, the Stock, Plantation Tools and all other perishable property on the plantation.

I would prefer selling Land and Negroes to one purchaser; and if arrangements satisfactory to me are made, such a purchaser can get a reasonable credit on a portion of the money. But having determined to sell, I offer the Negroes—in families—for cash; and the Land on terms cash, the balance in two equal instalments on a credit of two and three years, bearing eight per cent. interest—the interest on the deferred payments to be paid annually.

A portion of the land and slaves are under mortgage to secure a debt of about one-third the amount, to the Bank of Mont. of New Orleans.

J. H. Appersonn is authority upon the place, and to him, and to C. L. McKee, of Mount Holly, Union county, I refer persons who wish to examine the property. I expect to be on the place or in that neighborhood, by the middle of December next.

My post office is Trentham's Depot, Louisa, Va. When in Arkansas my post office is Camden, Ark., Columbia County, Ark.

Trustee.
