THE APPEAL.

MISSISSIPPI NEWS.

SENATOR BROWN FOR PRESIDENT.—The Pontotoc Examiner has hoisted at its mast-head the name of the Hon. A. G. BROWN for the Presidency in 1860.

UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI.—The exercises of this institution suspended by sickness among the students, will be regularly resumed on the first Monday in January next, being the 3rd.

UNION FEMALE COLLEGE.—This institution under the immediate superintendence of the Rev. Dr. S. G. BUNNY is in the full tide of success. Already about 100 pupils have connected themselves with the College, and before the session expires it is confidently believed the number will reach 150. All the chairs are filled by Southern gentlemen and ladies who enjoy in a high degree the confidence of the public.

FOR SECRETARY OF STATE.—Our friend C. A. BAUGHER, Esq., of Tippah county, is extensively spoken of as a candidate for Secretary of State to succeed the Hon. A. B. DILWORTH, who declines a re-nomination. He is every way qualified for and suited to the station, and if nominated will roll up large majorities in nearly all the counties of North Mississippi.

THE FEDERAL COURT AT PONTOTOC.—We find the following notice in the Pontotoc Examiner of the 10th inst. Jurors, Witnesses, &c., should bear the intelligence in mind, and act accordingly:

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, NORTHERN DISTRICT OF MISSISSIPPI.—The December Term, 1858 of said court having been adjourned to the second Monday in January, 1859, the jurors and witnesses who have been summoned to attend said court at the first named period are required to attend at the latter named period, without further notice.

W. H. H. TISON,
United States Marshal.

LIFE AND CHARACTER OF GEN. QUITMAN.—We learn from the Oxford Mercury, that the address of Capt. WM. M. ESTELLE, of Jackson, on the life and character of JOHN A. QUITMAN, will be delivered before the two literary societies of the Mississippi University, on the 8th day of January next.

RELIGIOUS REVIVAL.—Our city, for the last three weeks, has been enjoying the privilege of a religious revival, which has already accomplished much good, and we hope and believe is destined to be further useful in the work of regeneration. It is a Baptist meeting, and under the temporal conduct of the Rev. Messrs Caperton and Hamberlin, who have given all their energies and no small talent to their ministerial. Their piety and efficient labor will be long remembered by this community. The revival has been blessed by numerous conversions, and many have been added to the Church. Yazoo Democrat.

ROMANTIC ELOPEMENT.—The Fayette (Miss.) Journal chronicles the following romantic elopement:

"We announced in our paper some two weeks ago the marriage by Hon. J. M. Ellis—'David Dunn, Esq., to Miss Mary Harris, both of Franklin.' Facts have since come to light, that reveal quite a funny, and, perhaps, agreeable sequel, to all parties concerned. Miss Harris is a Mrs. Rundle, and the mother of seven children, whose father, James Rundle, Esq., a very respectable man in Amite county, and doubtless a worthy liege lord and master, she left behind with the wife of David Dunn, who is the mother of only five children. Mr and Mrs Dunn were paying a visit at the house of Mr. Rundle, from which place Mr. Dunn and Mrs. Rundle eloped about midnight."

DEAD.—The Mississippian says:

"We have heard with sincere regret of the death of Hon. D. C. Quinn, member of the Legislature from Pike county. He died of pneumonia, on the 10th, after a brief and severe illness. He was a young man who gave rare promise of a long life of usefulness. His excellent qualities had won for him many devoted friends, and the announcement of his death will carry sorrow to the hearts of all who knew him."

The Indian States.

From the Pennsylvanian.]

We find in a late number of the New Orleans Picayune an article with reference to the Indian Territories west of the states, which we confess opens a new question for the consideration of the people of this country. While public attention has been directed to the growth, development and increase of such of our Territories as are populated with settlers from the States or emigrants from the Old World, these Indian reservations have been filling up with their peculiar inhabitants, forming and adopting constitutions, organizing territorial governments, establishing courts of law and thus assuming all the attributes of legally and lawfully constituted Territories. But the Indian inhabitants are not citizens of the United States under the Constitution. What is to be done with these Indian Territories? We shall have more to say upon this subject. In the meantime, the interesting article from the Picayune will afford a wide field for thought and investigation. It deserves the attention of every man in the Republic who wishes to remove from the path of our progress all impediments of an exciting and irritating character. These Indian Territories lie south of Kansas, west of Missouri and Arkansas, and north of Texas, and therefore in the direct track of our emigrants, and in a position to work incalculable injury upon the population of the States specified, if these semi-savages be once aroused to armed action, by what they may consider an attack upon their rights, by the authority of the United States. But read the article from the Picayune:

The progress in civilization of several of the Indian tribes occupying Territories west of the States will soon bring up a new question for the decision of Congress. What shall be done with the Indian Governments or States that are now fully organized? Are they to be finally admitted into the Union? In a new removal, at some future time, to be made of the tribes civilized and christianized to make room for the Caucasian wave rolling west? Or are foreign governments to grow up in the very heart of the territory of the United States?

The Cherokees organized a regular government as early as 1839, copying the peculiar features of the Constitution of the United States. The forms of legislation and the arrangement of the courts of justice so nearly resemble those of the States that, but for the tawny skins around him, the traveller into the Cherokees territory would scarcely find any indication of having passed its boundaries.

This tribe has improved in all the arts of civilization to such a degree that many of its principal men would grace the refined society of any nation. In respect for the law, regard for popular education and public morality, and the adoption of all the elegancies and advantages of civilization, the Cherokees have taken a position which forbids any forcible interference with their rights to the territory they occupy, to suit the convenience or obviate the difficulty which the existence of their state now presents.

The Choctaws formed their government, taking the institutions of the United States for their model, in 1834. Imitating their more progressive white neighbors, last year they revised their Constitution and adopted even the more minute forms of government and names of officers which prevail in each of the States of our confederacy.

The Chickasaws lately separated from the Choctaws, have also followed the example of the two tribes mentioned, and it is the third government, with institutions identical with their own, exist on the borders of the Southwestern States, occupying territory ceded to them by the General Government.

The Creeks are taking steps to create the fourth independent organization of a State form of government, and will soon present an example of the influence of civilization, in subverting the customs and traditions of the race indigenous to the continent.

These Indian States are a strange anomaly. They are not a part of the Union, nor are they known in law to exist. The white man cannot pass through their territory without a permit, nor can he take with him, when he is allowed to enter the Indian domain, certain articles of merchandise, even though the packages are unbroken and are simply designed for the New Mexican market. This singular state of things cannot exist for many years without forcing itself upon the attention of Congress.

The tide of population is steadily rolling West. In less than ten years it will beat against the barriers now thrown up against its invasion of the retreat of these civilized aborigines. Even now the emigration must cross these territories. These Indian States cannot exist when the Caucasian race presses upon them as independent governments. The people civilized, and attached to the soil they have improved, cannot be removed to greater wilds, nor without serious discontents, is it likely the United States can subject them to the condition of other territorial organizations, by an abrogation of the constitution they have established for them. Wishes for the future is to be done with these Indian States? It cannot fail to give greater interest to this question that each of these Indian States have adopted the social institutions of the South. The Indians are slaveholders.

☞ The St. Louis Republican, of Monday, says:

"About the most ridiculous report which has gone out from Washington since the meeting of Congress, is one published in the New York Tribune, that Mr. Douglas has written a letter declining to be a candidate for President in 1860, and that it will soon be published. The Tribune shows itself about as weak in publishing as the correspondent is foolish in giving currency to such a story. Judge Douglas, in all probability, has never thought of writing such a letter—no contingency has arisen to demand it—and he would hardly volunteer a declaration of this kind until some pretext was offered for it. The report is a very poor invention of a hard run correspondent, and does not deserve serious consideration."
