THE APPEAL.

Heavy Earthquake.

An earthquake of unusual violence was felt in California on the morning of the 29th ult. The San Francisco Herald thus describes it:

At twenty-seven minutes before one o'clock yesterday morning, our city was visited by one of the most violent shocks of earthquake that has been experienced since California came into American possession. It was preceded by a deep rumbling noise crying from the northeast, which sounded as if heavily loaded teams of wagons were being driven furiously through our streets. This was immediately succeeded by a premonitory shock, instantly followed by a still heavier one, which lasted about ten or twelve seconds. An intermission of some five or six seconds ensued, when a third shock, much heavier and more prolonged than the second, succeeded, raising the fears of our citizens to a painful degree. The motion was oscillatory, and from northeast to southwest, and the solid earth moved as if suddenly converted into ocean waves. The alarm was universal, and anxiety was depicted on every face to know whether Nature would continue in convulsion, or sink back to her usual rest.

The effect on the tenants of our large hotels and tall brick buildings was electrical, and those establishments discorged their contents as rapidly as the stomach of a sea-sick man. Ladies and gentlemen hurriedly rushed from their beds, and without waiting for inexpressibles or crinoline, ran frantically into the entries and passage ways, crowding the different modes of egress. Dogs barked with fear, and even the horses in the stables exhibited unmistakable symptoms of dread.

In most residences the bells were violently rung, while the crockery and glassware kept up a lively clattering; clocks suddenly stood still, the regular motion of their pendulums being rudely interfered with, and articles of furniture seemed as if inspired by Terpsichore. After a careful inquiry we have been unable to learn of any serious damage, except that occasioned through excessive fear, although quite a number of little incidents occurred indicating to some extent the strength of the shock. A considerable portion of the cornice and plaster in the United States District Court room was thrown down, and many other buildings suffered in the same way. The City Hall was violently shaken, and some of the plaster knocked down. Cracks and rents of considerable size have made their appearance in a number of our large brick buildings, but, beyond these incidents, we learn of no serious disaster. The repeated visitations of this kind to which we are subject, would seem to indicate a more positive foundation for them than that which has been pursued. Brick houses should not exceed two stories in height, and should have broad foundations and thick, well cemented walls. The Sacramento Union of yesterday says:

About one o'clock this morning, a slight shock of an earthquake was felt in this city. The vibrations were very distinctly felt for a few seconds, but were not sufficiently powerful to disturb the course of human events."

The Marysville papers do not state that any shock was felt there. The newspapers published in Placerville, Auburn and Jackson, do not mention the earthquake.

STOCKTON.—On the morning of the 26th November, at seventeen minutes before 1 o'clock, an earthquake visited Stockton, more severe than ever before experienced by the citizens. The windows of the houses first rattled as if caused by a rising wind, when a shock was felt like that of a ship awfully sailing, striking against a heavy wave that checked its speed for a moment, then the shaking of the windows continued several moments. The shock came from the direction of northwest, and was preceded by a noise and violent trembling, which was continued for a few seconds after the principal shock had subsided.—Stockton Db. Journal

PETALUMA.—Two shocks of earthquake were experienced in this vicinity at fifteen minutes before one o'clock, on Friday morning, the 26th instant. Combined, they were of about five seconds duration, and were much more powerful than common.—Petaluma Journal.

ROW IN A CHURCH.—A RICH SCENE.—The New-Orleans Crescent relates the following account of a German Church trouble in the city a few days since:

"The obnoxious minister, Rev. Mr. Presler, (whose friends are in the minority,) went to the church yesterday forenoon at the usual hour, to preach as usual. At the door he was confronted by a phalanx of resolute-looking German ladies, (wives of the Trustee party, who are in the majority,) and informed that he had no business there, and couldn't enter. Disregarding this information, he pushed into the church, gently forcing the ladies aside, when a scene followed which defies description. The ladies, it seems, were fixed for contingencies, and no sooner had his reverence forced his way into the church than they descended upon him like an avalanche, with cowhides and pepper and salt, and flour and gypsum, lathering him mercilessly with the former articles, and powdering him all over with the latter. Thus beset, the preacher had but one alternative, and that was to fly the church as a cooperation which he performed to the satisfaction of all. A policeman hearing of the affair, went to see Mr. Presler, and asked him if he wished to have anybody arrested; but he declined making complaint against anybody. The excitement was, that when the Dutch ladies were cowhiding and flouring the preacher, their husbands and friends were standing around as quiet and unconcerned as a lot of Egyptian mummies. The probabilities are, that if the preacher had responded to his fair indignant assailants with cowhides more than that of Sight, he would have fared badly at the hand of the aforesaid mummies. Nice affair, this, isn't it?"

LATE ARRIVALS FROM THE RED RIVER OF THE NORTH.—The long expected party of English tourists concerning whose safety considerable anxiety has been widely entertained and expressed, reached this city yesterday from Milwaukee, not the worse, apparently, for their experience in the region of the Red River of the North.

The party consisted of Prof. Hind, Messrs. Dickinson, Fleming and Hind, Commissioners sent by the Canadian Government a year since to explore the Red River Valley, Lord Cavendish and Messrs. Seymour and Ashley, of England, who went out in the spring on a hunting excursion, together with Mr. Richardson, of Toronto, who has been roughing it in that section for the past two years.

The party left Selkirk, a settlement of some eight hundred inhabitants, on the Red and Assiniboine rivers, on the 29th of November, with a train of seventy dogs, for Crow Wing, which point they reached after fifteen days travel. At the time of the St. Paul excursion, the hunting party were supposed to have been killed by the Indians, but it seems such was not the case. They had no trophies of the chase, a large lot of buffalo and other fare, the hide and horns of a magnificent buffalo bull that came near killing Lord Cavendish, several Indian curiosities, and one of the dogs used for drawing sledges, one of the Esquimaux breed, of hearty appetite, and the rugged health of a grizzly bear.

They describe the life they have been living as rather romantic, one day hunting, the next fishing, one day chasing Sioux Indians, and the next being chased in return, and, in all very pleasant. They came to Milwaukee over the La Crosse route, and during their stay in this city are guests at the Richmond House. They leave this morning for St. Louis via the Illinois Central Railroad.—Chicago Tribune, 29d inst.

MORE INCENDIARIES IN RAYSIND.—We learn that another attempt has been made to fire this town, by some miscreant, who selected the old "Oak Tree Hotel," for his vile and atrocious work. Fortunately the density of the smoke awoke a lodger in the house, who succeeded in extinguishing the flames, before much damage had been done. We sincerely trust that the diabolical villians engaged in this nefarious scheme of plunder and ruin, may be discovered, and meet their deserts, if Earth has tenements sufficient for their crimes.—Vicksburg Southron, Dec. 25.
