BY M'CLANAHAN, TROUSDALE & DILL. MEMPHIS, TUESDAY, MARCH 8, 1859. VOLUME X.—NUMBER 55.

Daily Appeal.

AN ACT, TO PROVIDE FOR MAKING AND REPAIRING LEVEES IN DESHA AND PHILLIPS COUNTIES.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas, That for the purpose of establishing a just and equitable system of making and repairing levees in the counties of Desha and Phillips, it shall be the duty of the county courts of the counties of Desha and Phillips, at the term next ensuing, to be holden after the passage of this act, to divide all that portion of overflowed lands in each of said counties, into not less than four nor more than seven districts; Provided, That in laying out said districts, not one district shall include lands on both sides of either the Arkansas or White rivers.

SEC. 2. Be it further enacted, That said county courts of Desha and Phillips, shall each for their respective counties appoint three freeholders, who shall reside respectively in the district for which they are appointed, whose duty it shall be to make a report of all lands situate in their respective districts, which are subject to overflow, and that upon such report being made, they shall immediately report a list of such lands to the clerk of the county court, who shall enter the same of record, to be by him kept; Provided, That no lands shall be embraced in such report that are not subject to reclamation by a general system of levees in said districts.

SEC. 5. Be it further enacted, That in case of death, removal, or refusal to qualify, or any other disability of any person appointed or elected inspector to perform and discharge the duties of his office, then, and in that event, the county court of said county shall appoint some person to fill the vacancy or unexpired term of such deceased, removed or disqualified inspector; and such inspector so appointed shall fail or refuse to serve as levee inspector, when duly elected or appointed as herein prescribed, (unless for good and sufficient cause the court judge shall deem the same a legal refusal or failure in the sum of fifty dollars, to be applied to levee purposes in the district which he was so appointed or elected to serve,) and that in all cases of the imposed inspector, for such refusal or failure, then any party may be collected from him by the sheriff of said county, on executor [illegible] in other cases of a judgment at law.

SEC. 6. Be it further enacted, That before any such levee inspector shall act as such, he shall enter into bond to the State of Arkansas, for the use of said levee district for which he was appointed or elected, in the sum of three thousand dollars, which bond shall be conditioned, that he will faithfully do and perform all the duties incumbent upon him by law, or the order of said county court, levee inspector, and shall also make and subscribe and file in the office of the clerk of said court, an affidavit that he will faithfully perform all the duties required of him by law, and the order of said county court, as such levee inspector, which said bond is to be approved by the presiding judge of said county court, either in term time or in vacation.

Said treasurer shall make out and report at each regular term of the county court, a statement of all moneys in his hands, and to what district it belongs; and as a compensation, shall be allowed one and one-half per centum upon all the money that comes into his hands.

SEC. 17. Be it further enacted, That the levee inspector of any district shall be authorized, whenever the authorities of the State shall deem proper, to let out a contract for the construction and repair of said levees in said district, to enter into contract for the construction or repair of any such levee, and the said inspector shall be authorized to use any of the funds of each levee district to perform such work, and shall be fully authorized as such inspector, to receive from the proper officer of the State therefor, which shall be for the benefit of the levee fund of said district.

Said county court shall make a list of all such corrections and deductions, and deliver the same to the clerk, who shall certify and attach a copy thereof to each tax list made out by him, whether the same shall have been previously delivered to the collector of the State and county taxes, or otherwise, so reform such lists as to make them conform thereto, and the collector of taxes shall collect and account for the same, in the time and manner prescribed by this act or order of said county court.

In case of a failure, by said sheriff or collector, to collect or perform any duty required by this act, he shall be liable for the whole amount by him failed or neglected to be collected, and twenty-five per cent. thereon, to be collected from him, by action of debt, in any court of competent jurisdiction, which action may be brought and prosecuted to final judgment, either against him alone, or against him and his securities upon his official bond; and in case, when so collected from him, (or him and his securities,) shall be applied to such levee fund of such district, to be used in the construction or repair of levees.

SEC. 20. Be it further enacted, That for the faithful performance of the duties of the sheriff, prescribed in this act, he shall give bond, to the satisfaction of the county court of said county, conditioned that he will faithfully perform the duties prescribed to him by this act, and that the money received by said sheriff shall receive two and one-half per centum for collecting said taxes. Said sheriff shall be responsible for all levee taxes by him collected, to the levee treasurer of said county; and, on failure to do so, may be proceeded against in the name of the State of Arkansas, for the use of the proper district, by motion, as in cases of a failure to pay over money collected on State taxes.

SEC. 21. Be it further enacted, That if any person or persons feel themselves aggrieved by the running of the levee through his or their lands, such person shall, within ten days after the location of such levee, give notice to the levee inspector of the district in which such levee is laid out, who shall immediately give notice to the sheriff of the county to summon, six freeholders or householders of the county, who have no interest in the land through which the levee is to run, and who are not related to or connected by marriage to the owner thereof, who shall, after being duly sworn, proceed to examine the premises of complainant, and after taking into consideration all the advantages and disadvantages of said levee to said proprietor, shall award to him such damages, if any, as they may deem just and right, all of which shall be reduced to writing, signed by the jury, and returned by the sheriff to the county court of said county, and there entered on record, which shall be a final adjudication of the matter of damages, said inspector shall proceed with said work without further delay, but should said jury account damages to said complainant, it shall not be lawful for said inspector to place said levee inspector shall have paid or tendered to said complainant the amount so assessed, and, if said complainant shall refuse to be paid, it shall be lawful for said work to proceed without further delay, and the sheriff, for summoning said jury, shall be allowed and paid the usual fee now allowed for summoning a jury in other cases, to be paid by complainant, if he is allowed no damages, and if damages are allowed, then to be paid out of the levee fund of the proper district, and that each of the jurors shall be allowed one dollar for each day he is actually engaged in such service, to be paid as provided for in other cases; the sheriff, if any juror shall fail or refuse to obey the summons of the sheriff, and act as such, unless for good cause shown, shall forfeit and pay to the levee fund of said district, the sum of ten dollars for each and every day they may be engaged in selecting lands; to be paid out of the levee fund of their district, by order of the county court to be made for that that purpose.

FEBRUARY 18, 1859.

William Smith O'Brien.

This distinguished gentleman reached here last evening by the 7 o'clock train. Although it was not certain that he would arrive last night, yet hundreds of persons collected at the depot, and as soon as the cars arrived, and it was found that Mr. O'Brien was on board, the greatest enthusiasm was displayed, and the people cheered most heartily.

Mr. O'Brien was received by Mr. Mitchel and other friends, a telegraphic dispatch having reached that gentleman at a late hour, announcing that Mr. O'Brien was coming on.

The greetings between Mr. Mitchel and Mr. O'Brien were exceedingly cordial, and their meeting was quite affecting. The last time they met was in the wilds of Australia, where they were treated as branded felons and outlaws.

Mr. O'Brien proceeded to Mr. Mitchel's house. In the meantime news reached the capitol of Mr. O'Brien's arrival, and about 8 o'clock Senators and members of the House of Representatives began to crowd into Mr. Mitchel's parlor to greet Mr. O'Brien.

It was really a delightful scene to witness. The Senators and members, and other gentlemen, were introduced, each by his name, and there was a cordial shaking of hands, and words of kindly welcome and honest greetings. There was no studied formality, but a spontaneous outburst of generous feeling and most warm welcome; and it was really gratifying to see how speedily Mr. O'Brien and his new friends became on terms of kind familiarity. We noticed in the room, among a crowd of other, Senators Douglas, Toombs, Seward, Crittenden, Wilson, Clay, Shields, and Messrs. Alexander H. Stephens, Vallandigham, Grow, Reilly, Scott, McQueen, Maynard, Dowdell, and many others of the House. There were also present several officers of military companies, and many of our citizens, including Mr. Pryor, Dr. Antisell and Mayor Berrell. Gen. Denver, ex-Governor of Kansas, was also present.

For two hours and more, members continued to come down from the Capitol to see Mr. O'Brien, and between 10 and 11 o'clock, accompanied by General Shields, Mr. Mitchel, Wm. L. Cole, Esq., of the Irish American, who accompanied him from New York, he proceeded to the Capitol, and was introduced to the Senate chamber by General Shields.

Mr. O'Brien took a seat on one of the sofas opposite the President's chair, and many Senators gathered around him, and were introduced by General Shields. Mr. O'Brien seemed, as soon as he got a little leisure from the round of introductions, to pay much attention to the debate then going on.

The President of the Senate, a short time after Mr. O'Brien appeared on the floor, left his seat and came over to him, and on being introduced by General Shields, he took his seat beside Mr. O'Brien, and entered into conversation with him for several minutes.

Mr. O'Brien did not leave the chamber until 12 o'clock, and while there he became the observed of all observers from the gallery.

Mr. O'Brien is in fine health and looks robust; but his hair is now quite gray, and on his brow time and suffering have wrought deep lines, but the light of his eye is as clear as ever.

Mr. O'Brien is staying at Willard's. He dines to-day with the Hon. A. H. Stephens and a party of friends.

At Mr. Mitchell's we noticed a very cordial recognition between Mr. Pryor and Mr. O'Brien; for when Mr. Pryor was in Europe he met Mr. O'Brien in Brussels.—Washington States.

CURIOUS ANECDOTE.—The following remarkable anecdote is extracted from "An Essay on the Science of Acting:"

"In the town of North Waltham, Norfolk, 1788, the Fair Penitent was performed. In the last act, where Calista lays her hand on the skull, a Mrs. Berry, who played the part, was seized with an involuntary shuddering and fell on the stage; during the night her illness continued, but the following day, when sufficiently recovered to converse, she sent to the stage-keeper, and anxiously inquired whence he procured the skull. He replied, from the sexton, who informed him 'it was the skull of one Norris, a player, who, twelve years before, was buried in the churchyard.' That same Norris was her first husband. She died in six weeks."
