DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR,

ISHAM G. HARRIS.

RE-NOMINATION OF GEN. ATKINS.

From the proceeding of the convention which assembled at Trenton on the 3rd inst., it will be seen that Hon. J. D. C. ATKINS has been renominated for Representative in Congress from the 9th Congressional District.

Gen. ATKINS has taken a high position in Congress, as a high-toned, talented and faithful Representative from the South, and his renomination was made unanimously and by acclamation, as it should have been. We cannot entertain a doubt that the people will ratify the nomination, by a large majority, of one who has represented their interests with an eye single to their welfare and the glory of our common country. To suppose otherwise would be to impugn the intelligence or patriotism of his constituents.

ORIGIN OF "OPPOSITION."

A veteran Democrat, at the meeting of the Madison county Democracy, held at Jackson, on Monday last, alluded very felicitously to the designation which the party opposed to the Democracy have chosen to distinguish themselves. He said that the first recorded opposition, was to be found in the sacred history, when Satan defied the powers of heaven and essayed, from the mere spirit of opposition, and the desire to reign himself, to overturn the existing order of right and usurp a place that he was totally unfitted to fill. For his pride and presumption he was

"—— hurled headlong flaming
From the ethereal sky, with indescribable wrath and anguish
Driven headlong down to the bottomless perdition, there to dwell in adamantine chains."

The fate of this primeval oppositionist ought to be a warning to all those who have it in their hearts to undertake a similar crusade. They may be animated by a similar

"Unconquerable will,
To determination never to yield."

And yet that does not bring to them the placid joys of a righteous cause, or the laurel crown of victory. Hate, revenge, opposition, are their watchwords. They are conscious of no power to do good, or to accomplish great deeds themselves. They are consolidated and inspirited by no common principle. Victory itself would be only the signal for fresh discord, anarchy and confusion among themselves. It is opposition and nothing else—opposition to whatever is, however right that may be in itself—opposition to the dominant party, because they are not of that party—in brief, an opposition that must cease to be such, and change its very nature and name, as soon as it shall have attained the object for which it is contending, if, unhappily, it ever does.

AFFAIRS IN MEXICO.

The New York Herald of the 5th, from its voluminous Mexican correspondence, makes up the following resume of the state of affairs in that distracted republic:

The church party, with its center and soul in the city of Mexico, has been able, with the aid of the remains of the old army, to hold a large portion of the control of the most populous and wealthy districts of the republic. Among the military, a new leader, in the person of the young, active and energetic soldier, TRAMAUD, has appeared, and having suddenly risen to the Presidency, he now centers in himself all the hopes of the clerical and the military classes. While he conducted the campaign in the North and North-west, he was everywhere successful, and having taken San Luis Potosi, on one side and Guadalajara on the other, he sent Gen. PEREZ GOMEZ to extend his rule to the shores of the Pacific. The revolution of RONDAS suddenly called him to the capital, and finally resulted in giving him the supreme power. He at once set about preparing an expedition against Vera Cruz, the strongest and most important point held by the constitutionalists, and he is now engaged in carrying it out. Our latest advices show that on the southern routes, from the table lands to Vera Cruz, he had driven the constitutionalists from the passes of Omealca and Chiquihuite, which are the points where the two principal roads from Orizaba debouch upon the plains along the coast; and on the northern route the constitutional forces had been withdrawn from Tampico to the National Bridge. The favorable season, however, is at hand, and if he does not strike his blow at Vera Cruz soon, he will not dare take his army down from the high and temperate regions to the hot and arid plains of the coast.

In all the States lying near the circumference of the republic the constitutionalists are in the ascendant. President JUAREZ has his seat of government at Vera Cruz, which is strongly fortified against an assault. Yucatan and Tehuantepec acknowledge him. ALVAREZ holds the Pacific shore at Acapulco, as far as to the mountain passes to the central table lands, and is said to be preparing to take the field himself during the coming summer. GARZA holds Tamaulipas, on the Texas frontier, as a constitutionalist, as also does VIDAURRI the States of Nuevo, Leon and Coahuila. These two Governors are preparing a joint expedition against San Luis Potosi. PESQUIERA holds Sonora for himself, under constitutional colors, and has succeeded in driving PEREZ GOMEZ, the General of Miranda, out of Sinaloa. In Michoacan, Governor DEGOLLADO has a body of undisciplined and uncontrollable irregular troops, which have on every occasion run away from MIRAMON and pillaged every place they have entered. These now threaten to attack Mexico while MIRAMON is attacking Vera Cruz. There is little reason to suppose they will do so. FOR the merits of the contending parties little can be said. The church party, sustaining MIRAMON, is a most bigoted and intolerant set of the Catholic church in Mexico, for even all the clergy are not with it. They have violated every sacred principle of domestic policy, and every admitted one of international comity. France, England and Spain support this government actively, because they believe its triumph will erect a barrier to American progressandismard. The constitutionalists, with the exception of GARZA, have exhibited more regard for the obligations of international comity; but they have carried their zeal against the conservative and retrograde views of the clergy so far as to employ every of anarchy and social destruction. The constitution they are now fighting for not only proclaims, in a measure, the principles of French socialism, but was expressly framed by the popular leaders of the distant States, in such a way as to prevent the Federal Government from exercising any control over them. The power of the Federal Executive is so completely emasculated in that constitution, that were its partisans to triumph they would never constitute a government under it that could recognize the country or preserve the public peace. Both Governor of a State would find it necessary to keep a standing army to protect society, and to appropriate for its support the Custom House revenues of his district. This is what they are now doing, have been doing, and probably mean to do in the future. One significant fact, however, is plain in the letters of our correspondents. On the western coast of Mexico the coming of our Pacific empire is abundantly evident.

ACQUITTED.

We were shown a dispatch, yesterday, from Mr. MIRAN OWEN, from Pittsburg, stating that Mr. JONES, who has been under arrest in that place for years, for assisting in the apprehension of a fugitive slave of Mr. RICHARD, of Tuscumbia, has been acquitted. This will be good news to the friends of Mr. SHAW, and it is just to say that Mr. OWEN is deserving of great praise for the interest he has manifested, and the unflinching efforts used to procure his acquittal. We shall probably be in possession of further particulars in a few days.

MR. SETHERLAND'S LETTER OF ACCEPTANCE.

The following is the brief response made by Mr. SETHERLAND accepting the nomination of the Opposition as their candidate for Governor of Tennessee. It will be seen that he is a bona fide Opposition candidate, that is to say, that he simply desires the good people of Tennessee to turn out an able and faithful public officer, in order that he may be honored and accompodated:

ROCKSVILLE, March 31, 1859.

Messrs. J. W. Richardson, A. M. Lancaster, J. E. Cooper and E. L. Gardenhire, Committee:

GENTLEMEN: Your letter of the 29th inst., was received to-day, with the proceedings of the Convention, appraising me of my nomination as a candidate for Governor, at the approaching election, and containing an earnest request from you that I accept the position assigned me.

Believing, as I do, in the correctness of the principles declared in the resolutions of the Convention, and opposed, as I am, to the present party in power, to their extravagance and waste of the public treasure, I accept the nomination tendered me by the Convention, and will cheerfully whatever ability I possess to a full discussion of the principles involved in the canvass. Very respectfully,

J. NETHERLAND.

MISSISSIPPI NEWS.

DESOTO DEMOCRACY.—The Hernando Press announces that the Democrats of DeSoto county will assemble at that place on the 9th of June, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the Legislature, and also to appoint delegates to the State and District conventions.

SCHLEY COUNTY.

THE SICKLES TRIAL.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—According to the present indications, the Sickles trial will occupy at least two weeks.

The following are the names of the witnesses who have been summoned for the United States: Thos. Woodward, Hon. John B. Haskin, William Beebe, Hon. Hiram Walbridge, Robert J. Dillon, Daniel Dougherty, Eugene Pendleton Stone, Francis Doyle, Joseph N. Reed, Joseph Dudron, Abel Upshur, Hon. Richard Brodhead, Cyrus McCormick, Ambrose C. Kingsland, E. E. Albertine, W. Cone, Edward C. West, Barney Hayes, Josiah D. Hoover, D. Coolidge, Richard W. Downer, Thomas E. Murfin, Phillips V. R. Van Dyke, Edward Delafield, Edward M. Tidball, Hon. George Eustis, John M. Seely, jr.

For the defense the following is the full list: Jas. Gunning Alex. T. Burchard, Thomas Langley, Wm. Preston, Charles Allen, Sarah Ann Seely, John M. Seely, Matilda Seely, John Cuyler, G. W. Emerson, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Rassby, Mr. McGuffey, Mrs. Nancy Brown, John A. Linton, Frederick Wilson, J. Miller, David Welsch, Joseph Edwards, Frederick B. Wright, Thomas Morrison, Z. M. P. King, Mrs. Brown, John Gray, S. S. Parker, John Thompson, A. W. Harrison, Mr. Forster, Charles Mason, Chas. Williams, Mr. McDonald, and J. H. McBride.

Others may be called on both sides, but so far the above named witnesses are the only ones summoned.

It is said the defense have subpoenaed their witnesses to support the theory of justification. Neither Butterworth nor Wolfredge are among them. It is further stated that the prisoner has summoned ex-Marshal Hoover, of Washington, ex-Mayor Kingsland and others, as rebutting witnesses.

It is confidently expected that the jury will be completed to-day. Talismen have been summoned from the rural portion of the city and District. The proceedings of yesterday are indicative of the public sentiment of this city. Seventy-one out of seventy-four persons had opinions so fixed and decided that they were not trust themselves to act impartially.

Where questions were asked, it appears that these opinions were not as to the killing, but as to the justification. The defense would not have challenged any of these jurors. The prisoner's father, father-in-law, and many New York friends are in court evincing sympathy, among them Mr. McClay, M. C.

Samuel Duvall, Robert M. Sutton, C. C. Whittlesey, William Dowling, Richard H. Downs and John G. Dewey, had formed opinions, and could not act as impartial jurors. Some of them spoke of their opinions as being fixed, and some as being doubtful.

Robert W. Hoe had formed an opinion. He would not say that he could not render an impartial verdict, but from his present impressions he would rather be excused.

Mr. Stanton submitted that if a juror's impressions would not prevent him from rendering a verdict according to the weight of the evidence, he would be competent.

Judge. If he says he can render an impartial verdict, he is competent.

Mr. Stanton. The juror has not come to that point. I propose to ask him whether he could not render a verdict according to the evidence, irrespective of his prejudices.

Mr. Carlisle spoke against the competence of the juror.

Mr. Phillips contended that he was competent. The only test of the qualification of jurors as Representative to Congress from this Congressional district.

The above resolution was adopted by acclamation.

The meeting was ably addressed by E. B. McMillan, Esq., Democratic candidate for the Legislature, Col. A. R. Reid and Col. Robt. I. Chester, and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed.

The Democrats of this county recommend that the Somerville convention meet on the third Tuesday in this month.

On motion of Col. Chester, it was

Resolved, That the Memphis Appeal, Avalanche and West Tennessee Whig be requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting.

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

A. R. REID, Chairman.

M. D. WELCH, Secretary.

Fugitive Slave Case.

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—This afternoon the counsel for the defense moved that Commissioner Longstreth hand the case over to another Judge, for the reason that the Commissioner had prejudiced the case, and acted as advocate for the claimants, in having been shown in the evidence that the Commissioner propounded the first power of attorney of the claimants as incomplete, and informed them he would be obliged to release the slave if he entertained under it, and that by his advice a new power of attorney was obtained.

Hepburn Bonsteel for the claimant, argued that it was pre-eminently the duty of the Commissioner to give this information before he issued a warrant. The Commissioner overruled the motion.

The evidence for the defense is mostly that of negroes. It was endeavored to prove that the alleged slave captured in Harrisburg in March or April, 1853, while the claimant alleges that he escaped in July of the same year.

One witness swore that he met him in Baltimore a few days after the rescue, and in Philadelphia in 1849, and met in Harrisburg in June, 1853. His evidence was straightforward, and not shaken by rigid cross-examination. At ten o'clock, there seer prospects of a late sitting.

Rebutting testimony to show that Daniel confessed to the officer who conveyed him to the city and to others, that this was his first visit to Philadelphia, was admitted after a long argument by counsel. This rebutting testimony completed the case for the most important testimony of the defense.

At midnight the evidence closed, and counsel summed up the case occupying six hours. The Commissioner received his decision till this afternoon.

PHILADELPHIA, April 6.—The court house was crowded this afternoon to hear the decision of Commissioner Longstreth on the fugitive slave case. Crowds of whites and blacks stood along the avenue for a mile. The Commissioner said the duty of an officer is a plain and simple one laid down by law. He discountenanced all attempts of counsel to appeal to private sympathies at an early stage of the case.

After explaining his connection with the case before the arrest of the fugitive, which was merely in accordance with the law, he said there were three things to be proven by the claimants: To debt of labor, escape of slave, and identity. He review ed the testimony on both sides, and concluded that the first two points satisfactorily proven. He disagreed with the counsel of the claimant on the matter of the time of escape. It was material in the case, and was proven. The claimant's power-of-attorney was made in November, 1854, while it was proven that Daniel was in Harrisburg at least in the winter of 1853, or the spring of 1854. The power of attorney was also defective. In point of the light of the negro there is a difference of three inches. He contended he was not afraid of his duties as a fair juror. He put his left open and the prisoner discharged. The decision was greeted with immense applause, and the crowd dispersed, taking their arms and equipments, men and horses, protecting the entire city would not cost $20,000. The entire idea is, that nothing but iron carriages are needed, and that the engines should be stationary and all fire compartments abolished.

DEATH OF BILLY BOWLEGS.—We learn from Mr. Geo. M. Alird, who arrived yesterday from the Seminole country, that Billy Bowlegs died in September, at the house of John Jumper, on Friday, the 11th inst. There was great lamentations and loud wailings among his people, the Seminoles. The Indians had not arrived in the country at the time of Bowlegs' death. Mr. Aird met Col. Rutherford with them about forty miles this side of the Seminole country. They will, therefore, be deprived of the privilege of meeting their old leader and chief. Thus has passed away one who has been a terror to the settlers of Florida, and one of the greatest chiefs and finest warriors of the present day.—Fort Smith Times, March 31.

WASHINGTON, April 4, 1859.—Ran Runnells, the newly appointed Consul at San Juan del Sud, Nicaragua, left here today with dispatches for Gen. Lamar, and also dispatches to Commodore McClinsy of the Home Squadron, and Commodore Long of the Pacific Squadron, which go out in to-morrow's steamer from New York.

These dispatches are understood to be, as stated yesterday, of a peremptory character, and will assume the Government of Nicaragua that the United States will no longer submit to their double dealing policy.

Mr. Rudler, Minister to Guatemala, has been weak enough, as it is feared, to yield to the influence of Mr. Manning, the British Consul in Nicaragua, and exceed his instructions, he will prove a weak and feeble instrument to execute the task he undertook, and ought to be immediately recalled by his government.

LECTURES ON GEOLOGY.

DR. W. J. BARBEE,

A the request of many citizens of Memphis, will deliver a course of Lectures on Geology, at

ODD FELLOWS' HALL,

beginning on

MONDAY, 11th inst.

These Lectures will be illustrated by the use of Oil Paintings, Maps, Charts, Diagrams and the Black Board, in addition to these facilities of instruction a collection of

will be exhibited, which of itself will be attractive to all who love the beauties of nature.

Among the specimens of this collection are some four or five hundred specimens of Fossil Coral gathered from one of the best ancient coral reefs in the world, and the remains of a great number of Mastodons Alleghanii that lived and died on the Mississippi River. Among the fossils are the Mastodon teeth we have become familiar with in the United States.

Introductory Lecture Free.

Field Lectures will be delivered after the introductory. Tickets to the course $2.00. Single Lectures 50 cents. Tickets can be had at the book stores and at the door. Lectures will commence promptly at 8 o'clock.

WINSHIP'S

SELF-VENTILLATING

REFRIGERATORS.

IT is now conceded by physicians that provisions are rendered very unwholesome by being cooked in a Refrigerator in which the air is not constantly and effectually cleansed, and the health of many families has suffered from the use of the article in question. The moisture and sour smell common to most Refrigerators is a sure indication of this poisonous and offensive tendency.

This Refrigerator is the only one ever offered that is perfectly ventilated, while the circulation is so simple in a manner that Prof. Silliman has introduced a description of it in his new work on Natural Philosophy as the best illustration ever practically treated of perfect ventilation.

The temperature is always uniform, the air never becomes stagnant. There is no waste of ice. The warm air cannot enter upon opening the door. Access to the ice is had without disturbing the provisions contained. Articles of different flavors cannot impregnate each other. Milk, delicate fruits and meats cannot be spoiled in this Refrigerator as they are in other Refrigerators.

All who value health and economy should be advised to give this article a trial. The cost is about the same as the common ice chests, and they are made with patent zinc and tops, and lasting by system.

The Refrigerator, now extensively used by the best families throughout our entire country, can be seen at the store of the subscriber, (who is the sole agent for the State of Tennessee,) where a descriptive pamphlet, setting forth its many advantages, with recommendations of the highest character, can be obtained.
