ON SPRING.

Sweet Spring again has come to dell
Our earth with life and bloom,
And has with sweeter flowers, rare
Fish out its lovely tomb.

Birds Winter, which so lately fled
Our fields and forests have,
And wrapped all nature in the plaid,
With shrub and shady all.

Roused by the genial breath of Spring,
Resume to give her plain,
And vocal beauty everywhere
Burst forth her magic to pray.

"Say Tommy, run to the house, son, and get a piece of bread, and then run home and tell that lazy Pd come to town, when I get plenty.

With that he left for Missouri.

Bonny and wealthy Tommy remount his horse, and with his face homeward, musing on the indignity which had been imposed upon the State of Arkansas in his person, determined to seek revenge the first opportunity.

I am informed that immediately on his return home he was seriously ill for many days. A visitor calling to see him observed a pillow in the chamber which he was seated, inquired the cause he received for an answer—"bites."

INDIANS LIVING ON THE SAP OF PINE.—During mid-winter, in northern California, the miserable Indians are frequently driven to the most terrible straits for food, and in order to keep from starving, they sometimes partake of unsavory dishes. Late in the winter, or rather early in the spring, the chief articles of subsistence is the sap of the white pine (the sugar pine). In obtaining this, they strip the bark from the body of the tree, scrape the inner surface with sharp stones, and in this way gather a sort of mucilage, or sap (pine sugar), which they devour with great relish. By this means thousands of splendid trees are annually destroyed in the dense forests of Siskiyou and Shasta. The bark is usually stripped entirely off, to the height of twenty or thirty feet. Upon the naked surface of the trunk immense quantities of pitch will exude, and wherever the woods are set on fire, which is not an unfrequent occurrence, these pitch-covered trees make the grandest bonfires ever witnessed.—Placerville Observer.

WM. POOLEY,
WOULD respectfully inform his friends and patrons of Memphis and the public at large, that he has moved from his old stand, 207, to the home lately occupied by the Bank of Memphis,
No. 260 Main Street,
Between Court and Madison streets, one door south of Bonner's Mood Store, which he has fitted up at great expense, to equip his Ready-Made Clothing.
MERCHANT TAILORING,
IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.
Having enlarged upon the fifth year of his success in this city, he would respectfully renew his diminished thanks to his many friends for the very liberal encouragement received, hoping that a continuance of faithful attention to business, and cutting down every effort to please, to merit receive a fair share and liberal patronage. Remember the store door of the Bank Impressions on hand, he believes himself that he will be able to serve the wants of the most fastidious.
Those in want of the best articles of Ready-Made Clothing, or of Gent's Furnishing Goods, would do well to give him a call.
Having enlarged many hours from the credit system, he would offer the Cash principle of doing business—he goods purchased will pay for.
Persons leaving orders who are strangers, it will be expected that the money accompany the order, or the goods will be sent C. O. D., or a satisfactory endorsement.
