TO sell a book entitled, "SCENES BEYOND THE GRAVE." The favorable reception this book has met with wherever it has been introduced, and the approbation of multitudes of many persons of various denominations of Christians, it should induce any person of ability of the book, the publisher is induced to take this method to put it before the world. The book is a simple narrative of a young lady's experience in the Spirit World, New York, and twenty-five years, who fell into a sleep or trance, in the city of Boston, Massachusetts. Affidavits on the part of her friends and physicians testimony to arouse her from this state, and while in the state she was in full possession of her mental faculties with an added opportunity to acquire a proportion superadded. She awoke from which her body lay, as it were, in death, but her spirit had visited Spirit World, for her mouth was filled with subject to God, and with an experience new to humanity, things which she had never heard of before. The spirit of the dead in earlier and better life, and it rest in the world to which it was given, it would be a great blessing to the world, if it could be so that the thoughts of the man of the world beyond his grave, and the spirit of the dead in their state of existence, of celestial thoughts and visions. Revealing the other world, we fancy that the heavens are spread to our view, and we are taught to see the glorious beyond, and spread by her entering story to the spirit, we seem to enter celestial scenes, and become familiar with the inhabitants of the celestial heavens, and are taught to realize the glorious spirit of heaven, we learn that glorious where, amidst the vision, within we rest with delight of seat the recognition of the heavenly spirits.
