PASSPORTS.

Doubts having been, says the Washington Constitution, entertained in regard to the proper construction of that part of the act of Congress of the 18th of August, 1856, which relates to passports, the Secretary of State, as we understand, requested the opinion of the Attorney General upon the subject, which has been given in the letter which we subjoin:

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE, June 22, 1859.

SIR: I have considered your communication on the subject of passports, submitting certain questions upon the construction of the twenty-third section of the act of August 18, 1856.

The first question presented is, whether certificates, similar to the one accompanying your letter of May 20, are within the meaning of the law? The paper referred to purports to have been issued by the Mayor of Philadelphia to a citizen of the "United States, describing the personal appearance of the man whose behalf it is given, attesting the fact of his citizenship, and requesting all whom it may concern to permit safely and freely to pass wheresoever lawful pursuits may call, and, in case of need, to give him all lawful aid and protection. This is now understood to be the form in the nature of a passport." It is substantially in the form used by the State Department, and is clearly within the letter of the act.

The second question is, whether the prohibition contained in the 23d section of the act of August 18, 1856, is confined to the issuing and verifying of such passports or certificates in foreign countries, or applies equally to State and federal functionaries residing here? The act expressly includes "any person acting, or claiming to act, in any office or capacity under the United States, or any of the States of the United States, who shall not be lawfully authorized." This embraces State officers. They do not generally either reside or act officially abroad. It is, therefore, unreasonable to suppose that Congress intended merely to prohibit them from giving certificates in foreign countries. Besides, the language or the act is not doubtful. In its natural import it applies as well to acts done here as elsewhere.

I presume the provision that the offender may be tried in the district where he is arrested, or in custody, has given some encouragement to the idea that the act does not contemplate offenses committed within a State. There is nothing else in the law to raise a doubt upon the point, and this is not enough to require a construction which would render the whole legislation on the subject useless.

Another question proposed is, whether a passport may be issued to any other person than a citizen of the United States? The act says, in so many words, that it cannot, and I am unable to make the prohibition either stronger or plainer.

It appears that you have been requested to state whether there is any form of certificate which State officers may lawfully issue; and this question is also proposed to me. I have not made any effort to devise a plan by which the law may be evaded and simple people defrauded. The impositions practised upon the illiterate portion of society by the forging of useless passports, led to the passage of the law which is now under consideration. If there be any form by which it can be rendered shortive, it is neither your duty nor mine to find it out.

Your letter of to-day, inclosing a dispatch from the minister at Hamburg, shows how frightfully innocent men have been robbed by the sale of these spurious passports. I advise that the notary who signed the paper which accompanied the dispatch be prosecuted, under the act of 1856. He is clearly within its penal provisions.

Yours, very respectfully,

J. S. BLACK.

Hon. LEWIS CASS, Secretary of State.

A Strange Disease and Severe Operation.

Many of our readers will smile when we say that there is a disease called in common parlance "the matchless disease." Very few, among the thousands or millions who light their lamps, their pipe or their cigar with a lucifer match, are aware of the fact those who manufacture, and those who use these matches are liable to contract one of the most dreadful of diseases. We quote from the New York Sun:

Quite recently a young woman, who worked in a match manufactory, was sent to the Bellevue hospital to have an under jaw removed, which had been diseased by inhaling the phosphoric acid used in the factory. The operation was skillfully performed, and the young woman, after some time, went from the hospital perfectly cured. The perfection, however, of decayed teeth in one of her upper jaws, and returning to her old business of match making, she soon contracted anew the disease, and finally died of it.

Another instance of this "match disease" came under our observation yesterday at the Bellevue hospital. A young girl who has worked in a match factory, had her left upper jaw, which had become diseased, removed by the surgeons of the establishment, in the presence of some of our most eminent physicians, Dr. Mott, jr., and Dr. Church performed the operation, in the presence of a large number of the faculty—Dr. Mott, sr., and Dr. Francis being present and assisting in the Mott address.

The young woman was brought into the operating room, or theatre, and placed under the influence of ether, when she had become perfectly insensible, the flesh was laid open from the chin to the ear, and the diseased jaw cut out. The roots of the disease were followed and cut out, and the blood vessels carefully tied up. After the operation was completed, she returned to consciousness, and her cries, while the cheek was being sewed up, were agonizing. She soon left the room, but the doctors continued their work with the utmost passiveness. The portion of the jaw removed was, as one of the spectators remarked, "perfectly rotten."

We learned from the physicians that the disease is quite common among those who work in match factories, and that it is dangerous for any one who has diseased teeth to be employed in the manufacture of lucifer matches. They also state that the disease may be contracted by those who have diseased teeth by lighting cigars or a pipe with lucifers, and inhaling the phosphoric which is liberated by their ignition. It is well for people to understand this fact, and, as the Doctors say, if a person has a diseased tooth, he or she should have it removed at once, and thus escape all danger of the "match disease."

Nullification in New Hampshire.

We observe with infinite pleasure that the Black-Republican traitors of the legislature of New Hampshire, who had marched up with great apparent courage to the overthrow of the Federal Constitution, have retired from the field, and suspended, at least for the present, their intended assault. They appeared at certain times to have carried by a strict party vote, in their house of representatives, a bill punishing with imprisonment for life the executing of the fugitive slave law of Congress. In view of the fact that at the last session of the Supreme Court of the United States that tribunal by a unanimous decision of the whole nine judges, composed of this very law, even Judge McLean concurring. This treasonable attack on the Constitution and the Union seems almost incredible. That the Supreme Court of the United States is the tribunal designated in the federal compact for the decision of constitutional questions is conceded by jurists and statesmen of all parties; that this very question, the constitutionality of the fugitive slave law—has been unanimously and solemnly decided by that court is also admitted; yet, in defiance of these facts, the Black-Republican legislature of New Hampshire, each and all of whom had taken a previous oath to support the Constitution of the United States, now, in violation of their oaths and duty, propose to nullify one of its most important provisions and guaranties. This their purpose, if carried into effect, is treason.

We have been a small foretaste of what would be done by this party should they ever unfortunately succeed in obtaining the control of the Federal Government. They would at once commence to carry into execution that "irrepressible conflict" between the slave and the free States portrayed by their great leader, Mr. Seward, and which, if carried, they must know, can only result in a dissolution of the American Union. These men, then, whatever hypocritical avowals they may make, are disunionists of the deepest dye. Their object is, in the name of liberty, to overthrow its fast and greatest bulwark—the confederated Union of these States. May we not here well exclaim, O liberty, in what deeds of death and desolation have been accomplished in thy name future pursuit of African freedom and elevation, they are conspiring for the destruction of their country and of mankind. Let there be no mistake on this fearful and momentous question. It is now quite clear that if the black-Republicans succeed in the coming contest they will overthrow the Constitution, and the Union which rests upon it will tumble into ruin.—Washington Constitution.

Seventh Congressional District.

CENTERVILLE, June 29, 1859.

EDITORS UNION AND AMERICAN: We have to-day listened to the Hon. John V. Wright, speak the leading issues of the day, and so far as I know, and I believe I speak the sentiments of every unprejudiced man, when I assert that the position assumed by Mr. Wright "was one rather than what every man was willing to concede was based upon the constitutional rights of the country. The question which has to some extent excited the minds of the people here for some time has to-day been settled beyond the shadow of a doubt. I allude to the enormous expenditures of the public money.—The Opposition may harp upon the expenditures of the Government, the currency question, and such like, but it will prove of no avail, as the time for humbuggery has done passed away, and we are now too much enlightened to be gagged by a party whose name is scarcely known throughout the country, before it assumed a new name.

The Democracy are in high spirits in old Hickman, and ready to march in solid phalanx to the ballot-box in August next, where it is to be determined who is right, and who is wrong.

A DEMOCRAT.

HOW THEY CONDUCT AN ELECTION IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—There is some style about the way in which they get up an election in New Hampshire. A gentleman named Warren, at Gilford, N. H., thinks that he had an affinity to the wife of Wm. Nute, and finding that Mrs. N. reciprocated it, he had a talk with the husband about it, in which he told him that Mr. Nute reasoned sarcastically, to Warren, that if he had any better right to his wife than he himself had, he had better take her. Warren replied that he had thought of doing so, and a few minutes after said to Mr. Nute; "Come, sis, make haste—we have a long ways to go;" and they prepared to start. Finding them determined to go, Mr. Nute gave his wife some wholesome advice, presented her with seventy-five cents to buy a fan to cool her off, and Warren, with Nute's wife, started off on foot, with no baggage or clothing, except what they had on, for Manchester.

JACK SCREW COTTON PRESS!

THE Scientific American, which is the best mechanical authority in the world, says of this Press, that it is to be preferred at simplicity and utility. We claim for it more power, greater speed and more durability, than any other now used or known among planters. Here are the opinions of some of our planters in Texas:

Testimonials.

The public attention is invited to the following testimonials, from those who have witnessed the operations of the Jack Screw Cotton Press:

PINE BLUFF, April 26th, 1858.

Hon. J. M. BOCAGE—DEAR SIR: I have one of your Jack Screws in use on my plantation. It performs well. It presses more than double the amount of cotton that I have been in the habit of packing on other presses.

Its great flexibility should recommend it to every planter, and it is so simple that I would not hesitate to give it to other. It occupies but little room in the house—is more expeditious and less laborious than any Screw Press I believe as safe as it becomes known there will be no other press used.

I recommend every planter to get one. Any ordinary press builder can get it.

THOS. N. ISBELL. ISRAEL EMBREE.

The undersigned, having utilized the operations of Bocage's Jack Screw Cotton Press, take pleasure in testifying to the entire correctness of the above statements.

The following gentlemen are using the mechanics of well known intelligence and capacity:

PINE BLUFF, April 23, 1858.

We, the undersigned, cheerfully bear witness to the general opinion that Bocage's Press is the most simple, cheapest, durable and economical press with which we are acquainted.

AYER'S

Ague Cure,

FOR THE SPEEDY CURE OF

Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache, or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fever; and for the whole class of diseases originating in bilious derangement, caused by the Malaria of miasmatic countries.

No one remedy is loader called for by the necessities of the American people than a safe and sure cure for Fever and Ague. Such we are now enabled to offer, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no harm can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure, for the patient runs the risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "Cure" expels the miasmatic poison of Fever and Ague from the system, and prevents its further development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. It is not only the best remedy ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but is the cheapest. The large quantity we supply for a dollar brings it within the reach of every body, and in bilious districts, where Fever and Ague prevails, every family should have it, and use it freely both for cure and protection. It is hoped this price will place it within the reach of all—the poor as well as the rich. A great opportunity of this kind does not offer every day, and should be improved when offered. The speedy and certain cure of intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral, consequently is produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Deafness, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysteria, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "Cure" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all also. It is an invaluable protection to emigrants and persons travelling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. It takes occasionally so fatally while exposed to the infection, that with the assurance from the cure, and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to ripen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure, and we will not suffer from intermittents, if they avail themselves of the protection the remedy affords.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A FAMILY PHYSIC,

are so compounded that disease within the power of their action can easily withstand or resist them. Their mildness, combined with the power and length of every purpose of the human organism, correcting its disordered action, and restoring its healthy vibration, are a recommendation of these properties, the utility of which is proved down with pains or physical debility is attributed to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once simple and lasting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis to any applicant, pamphlets containing certificates of their cures and directions for their use in the following complaints: Costiveness, Heartburn, Headache, Indigestion, Dysentery, Disordered Stomach, Nausea, Loss of Appetite, Pain in and Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions. They are an excellent alterative for the management of the system, and restoration of tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every neighborhood abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. Where such facts are of frequent occurrence, every member of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what medicine to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies have gone by the community have failed and been discarded, this has passed through every trial, emerged brightly on the public view, and established itself upon undeniable evidence and its remarkable virtues be forgotten.

CASH SYSTEM.

TO my old friends and customers: Having purchased the old establishment of GEO. PHILLER & CO., on M. S. MILLER, No. 78 Front Row, I am now receiving, direct from the manufacturers, a fresh stock of Hats and Bonnets, bought for Cash, which I intend selling for the same. An experience of fifteen years in the Hat business in Memphis has convinced me that the credit system will not do; that it is better to sell at a small profit for cash, than at a large profit on time, and pay for the credit system. I therefore respectfully solicit a continuance of my old friends and customers, and as many more as feel disposed to buy for cash, and save from 25 to 50 per cent. by so doing.

Respectfully, GEO. PHILLER.

Stop the Thief.

STOLEN from my stable, on Saturday week—and of Pulaski, Miss., on the night of the 19th inst., a large SORREL HORSE, full seventeen hands high, newly shod—one shoe very nearly on the hind; star in his forehead; his mane worn near his head from the use of a halter; the sixth knot left of one of his hind hobs, near his hock. I will give a reward of $150 for the recovery of said horse, and apprehension of the thief, with sufficient proof to convict. W. L. MILLER.
