

BOTH HOUSES IN SESSION

REPRESENTATIVES WHO WANTED TO TAKE ANOTHER HOLIDAY.

The Motion Promptly Voted Down—The Appropriation Bill Referred to the Senate—Idaho's New Senator, McConnell, Sworn In—An Executive Session.

The public business was not advanced a whit by the burlesque sessions of the past two weeks. Nothing was accomplished save profanity, weariness of the flesh and vexation of spirit.

The fruitlessness of the attempt to hold sessions when everybody professedly wanted to do something else was so glaring that, so long as the recollection of this fiasco remains with Congressmen, there will hardly be another attempt.

There was a good attendance of Senators when the Senate was called to order at noon today. A number of petitions for and against the Oregon Land Bill and the Oregon Bankruptcy Bill were presented.

Mr. Hale reported the Appropriation bill, and stated that the majority and the minority reports were presented in a few days.

The credentials of Frederick P. Dulais as Senator-elect from Idaho for the term of six years, beginning March 4 next, were reported back, with a statement that it is the usage of the Senate to consider any testimony for about a week.

THE CRIMINAL COURT ADJOURNS AS A MARK OF RESPECT.

An interesting legal career was brought suddenly to an end yesterday morning when Assistant United States District Attorney Randolph Coyle died at his home in Georgetown.

Mr. Coyle was born in Washington forty-seven years ago last September. When quite a young man he was appointed assistant clerk of the Supreme court.

He was a very thorough and careful lawyer. He framed the indictment in the Coyle case, which was always regarded as a wonderfully complete one, leaving no loophole for escape.

Mr. Coyle leaves a widow and four children. This afternoon at 5 o'clock the Bar Association met at the City Hall and passed resolutions expressing regret for the death of their colleague, and condolence to his bereaved family.

Out of respect for the memory of Mr. Coyle the Criminal Court adjourned this morning on the motion of Mr. Claggett.

In moving that adjournment Mr. Claggett spoke briefly and slowly and displayed considerable emotion. "My feelings do not permit me to enter into an eulogy of Randolph Coyle," he said.

He was beloved and honored by his associates and respected by the community. He has gone to his reward and has left behind him a name of which anybody might be proud.

Silence prevailed when Mr. Claggett took his seat, and for a few moments Chief Justice Bingham did not speak.

Finally, in a very low voice, he said: "I had the pleasure of appointing Mr. Coyle, and all that has been said by Mr. Claggett I fully appreciate. As I was not directly acquainted with him I do not realize the full extent that he does the death of Mr. Coyle. He was always esteemed very highly as a lawyer. His character was certainly of the very highest and most excellent. The court is adjourned until the first of next month."

District Attorney Moloney announced the death of Assistant District Attorney Coyle in the Police Court at the time of adjournment. He said that a man had been lost to the community of whom all were proud and whose legal knowledge and ability were well known.

Judge Miller, in reply, said that all would sincerely regret the death, not only because of the great ability to be lost, but also because of the many traits of character.

The grand jury returned the following indictments this afternoon: James Byrnes, for the murder of Robert Eeles on September 9, W. W. Gault, for selling counterfeit tickets, and George Ray for keeping a policy shop.
